GOP HEADQUARTERS BRICKED

A shattered window and the brick that shattered it testify to the nighttime passage of a vandal bent on destruction at Marin County Republican headquarters in San Rafael. GOP secretary Joan Irwin (in background) found the damage done when she arrived shortly before 10 a.m. today at the office at 915 Lootens Place. She estimated replacement of the window at $150. Another Resignation In Widening Bugging Scandal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Another administration official linked to the widening Watergate scandal quit today and Attorney General-designate Elliot L. Richardson promised to let the Senate have the final say on his choice for a special prosecutor.

While Richardson was assuring senators that he would not choose a prosecutor they might not find acceptable, Transportation Undersecretary Egil (Bud) Krogh submitted his resignation to President Nixon.

Krogh —a presidential appointee —said he probably was wrong to have agreed to a plan for a burglary of the office of a psychiatrist treating Pentagon Papers defendant Daniel Ellsberg in September 1971.

Krogh, a White House assistant at the time, said in a letter to Nixon that the mission was carried out without knowledge or permission of any of his superiors. He said he "may well have been in error" to think it "was dictated inescapably by the vital national security interests of the United States,"

Richardson, testifying before the Senate Judiciary Committee at confirmation hearings on his nomination to be attorney general, indicated that it would be some time yet before he selected a special prosecutor for the Watergate investigation.

Marin Woman To Guide Raft Full Of Strangers

LAS PALMAS, Spain (UPI) — A 36-year-old Marin woman, Mary Gidley, will serve as navigator on a transatlantic voyage aboard a raft that will throw 12 strangers from 11 countries together for three months.

Mrs. Gidley lived for some years in the Sausalito Yacht Harbor with her former husband, Cass Gidley, and two children. More recently she lived in San Rafael.

The voyage aboard the 56-ton raft Alcali is being organized by Santiago Genoves, a Mexican anthropologist who said he planned the trip as a social behavior experiment.

Six months of planning and $250,000 expense have gone into the experiment, which critics have called a "sex raft."

Genoves denies this, saying he hopes to confirm his theory that human conflicts are motivated by basic instincts such as sexual drives and greed but are not inherent.

The raft, due to leave today or tomorrow, is to drift across the Atlantic carrying two Jews, an Arab, an African, a black American, a Swede, a Greek, a French woman, a Japanese and a Uruguayan, in addition to Genoves and Mrs. Gidley.

Boxes of predetermined menus have been stored aboard as well as a supply of water to be used at the rate of one-half gallon a day. There will be no books aboard and the only radio is only for transmitting.

The crew, headed by a Swedish woman skipper, will "be very close together both physically and mentally for the next three months," Genoves said.

County Board Merges Trio Of Departments

Betty Presley Will Direct Superagency

By ERIK M. INGRAM

Three of Marin County's largest departments — health, welfare and probation — were merged yesterday by county supervisors in what was described as a move "to improve the delivery of services."

The board's action, on a 3-to-2 vote, named Welfare Director Betty L. Presley to head the new "superagency" which will become operational July 1 as the Department of Health and Human Services. (Other supervisors stories, pages 44 and 45.)

Supervisors Michael Wornum and Gary T. Giacomini sided with the majority of the large audience in calling for further study of the consolidation, which will create one department with 600 employees and a $20 million annual budget.

They were outvoted, however, by fellow supervisors Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Robert A. Roumiguiere who agreed with Chairman Arnold M. Baptiste's comments that the consolidation had been under study, in one form or another, for five years and that it was time to act.

The consolidation plan was submitted last month by County Administrator John F. Barrows, who has said that while little or no money will be saved, services and efficiency will be improved.

Miss Presley and a special staff are to spend one year studying how to implement the reorganization during fiscal 1974-75. She will have authority over the three departments during that one-year period, even though they will be operating much as they are now.

Her special staff will have a budget next year of about $75,000, which supervisors said they will appropriate during June budget sessions.

The consolidation was approved despite the pleas of Chief Probation Officer John W. Brewer, backed by many in the audience, that his department not be included.

Brewer reasoned that the probation department is more closely aligned with the criminal-justice field than with social services.

Supported by members of the Probation Workers Union, he asked supervisors to delay a decision until after next week's hearing on a proposed department of corrections, into which, he said, his department would more properly fit.

Others in the audience voiced similar opinions, some calling for a committee or task force to study the consolidation and present "hard figures" which they said are lacking in Barrows' proposal.

Winifred S. Frederick of the Irate Taxpayers of Marin acknowledged that more efficiency and better services are needed but said the county administrator hadn't considered other methods of achieving the goal. Nothing except "to create new and larger conglomerate departments," she said.

While opposing inclusion of the probation department, she said "the real problem" with the proposal is the massive health department, which was consolidated from 10 agencies two years ago.

"Not only has that consolidation not produced any notable improvement in service but the budget has risen while employee morale has dropped," she

Novato Girl, 11, Killed On Bicycle

An 11-year-old Novato girl, on her way home from swimming practice, was fatally injured in a car and bicycle collision at San Marin and San Andreas drives last night.

The victim was Michelle Kuhn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Kuhn of 363 San Luis Way.

Michelle's southbound bicycle and a westbound car driven by Joseph Charles Lucken Jr., 41, of 1721 Weaverly Drive, Petaluma, collided on San Marin Drive at 6:24 p.m. Novato police reported.

Lucken told officers he didn't see Michelle until the collision because the sun was blinding his vision, which also was hindered by shrubbery in a turning bay to his right.

Officers said Lucken was unable to say whether Michelle was riding or walking her bicycle at the time and said he saw only a shadow on impact.

According to a police diagram, Michelle was in the crosswalk just beyond the turning bay when the collision occurred and officers said it appeared she failed to yield the right of way to oncoming traffic when entering San Marin Drive.

Officers said she was knocked about 36 feet by the impact and was lying unconscious with serious head injuries when they arrived. She was taken to Novato General Hospital, where she died at 7:50 p.m.

Police have issued an urgent request for anyone who witnessed the accident to notify them, since the investigation is continuing.

Kuhn, an attorney and past president of the San Marin Improvement Association, said his daughter was returning home from swimming practice. She was a member of the San Marin Club swimming team and a girl scout. She was a pupil at San Ramon School.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at the Redwood Chapel Funeral Home in Novato.

Officer Albert J. Mendoza, bicycle safety officer, said he believes it the first time in the city's history a bicyclist has been killed in an accident.

The fatality was the seventh in Marin this year, compared to 11 at the same time last year.

Tiburon School May Shut

Time may be running out for tiny Tiburon School.

Reed School District trustees last night were told by Supt. Ralph D. Giovanniello that enrollment has dropped to the point that it isn't economical to run it any more.

The school, with a present enrollment of 77 with three teachers, was slated to be closed in the fall of 1970, but a strong showing of support by parents persuaded the board to keep it open.

No such showing was made last night, when Giovanniello presented four choices to the board, three of them involving closing Tiburon School.

The choices are closing Tiburon School, moving kindergarten and first grade class to Belvedere School and second graders to Reed School; closing Tiburon School, moving its students to Reed School and adding a third grade to the existing kindergarten through second grades at Belvedere School; closing Tiburon and moving all classes to Reed School, and leaving the schools the way they are.

The makeup of Tiburon School has changed over the years as the number of children living in its attendance area has declined, said Giovanniello.

"Belvedere School is a real neighborhood school, but we've been bringing in other children to Tiburon School recently and it's no longer a neighborhood school," said Giovanniello.

He said the board will discuss the choices at its next meeting at 8 p.m. next Tuesday at Del Mar School.

In an unrelated action, the board accepted the resignation of Mike B. Meagher, principal of Reed, Belvedere and Tiburon schools. He will become a principal in Bozeman, Mont., Giovanniello said, adding that the move has nothing to do with the possibility of closing Tiburon School.

The board also agreed to pay $7.97 per employee per month for a dental plan starting July 1, an increase over the current rate of $7.12 per month.

Trustees also heard a request from nonteaching employees that they get the same seven per cent salary increase being asked by teachers.

The Skylab Countdowns Under Way

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Dual countdowns began today for the launching next Monday and Tuesday of the Skylab space station and its first three-man crew on an ambitious eight-month project to put men to work in orbit.

While ground crewmen started final preparations for the twin launchings, negotiators for 130 tracking station workers and the Bendix Field Engineering Corp., reached a tentative agreement to end a two-week strike. The walkout was the only potential obstacle to the marathon mission.

The long chain of countdown operations leading to the launching of America's first base in space began at 2 a.m. EDT at firing pad 39A, last used to send men to the moon in December.

Six hours later, another crew started the countdown on the modified Apollo moonship that is to ferry Charles (Pete) Conrad, Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz to the orbiting laboratory Tuesday a day after the lab is launched.

The Apollo and its Saturn 1B rocket are mounted on Launch Pad 39B, 8,700 feet from the Skylab and its larger Saturn 5 rocket.

'BUILDING WITH LEAKS'

Kids Confused By Watergate

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — The Charlotte Observer asked a group of fourth graders to write what they know about the Watergate bugging scandal.

The answers, published Tuesday, included:

—"A big building with leaks."

—"A democratic building trying to stop water pollution."

—"A few weeks ago I thought it was where boats got threw a gate. But now I know what it is. The Democrats bugged the Republican headquarters but I don't know why."

—"President Nixon was talking about it. I think it is China with the Great Wall with water in it."

—"I think Watergate is a gate with some kind of rusty water in it that a lot of people don't like."

—"I think it is plain dumb. Republicans should not interrupt the phone service. If they had a complaint, why couldn't they call President Nixon?"

—"Watergate is the Democrats headquarters. Some people put bugs in and got caught. In court their trying to find out if ther guilty or not. President Nixon said some of his assoshets are caught up in it. He said he is being very fare about it too. Some people think he is being unfare."

Hub Threat On Annexation Bid

By PAUL LIBERATORE

The San Anselmo City Council last night threatened that if the county board of supervisors approves construction of more than 16 units in a controversial housing development plan, the city will refuse to annex the area. (Another San Anselmo City Council story, page 3.)

The council voted 3-to-1 to strengthen a recommendation made to the county April 10 that the proposed Max D. Schenk development be limited to 16 dwelling units. Councilman Woodrow V. Capurro opposed the measure. Councilman Warren R. Perry was absent.

The county planning commission on Monday approved the building of "not more than 20 units" on the site located at the end of San Francisco Boulevard in county jurisdiction but within the city's sphere of influence. The commission's recommendation is expected to go before the board of supervisors within two weeks.

Building, Schenk has said, would be limited to a two-acre area, the remaining 13 acres to be designated as open space.

The council also agreed to request that the open space be given to the city as part of its Sorich Ranch Park, currently an open space preserve.

The action came after two representatives of organizations opposing the development — Nancy Willner of the Concerned Citizens' Lobby and Nancy Bennett of the Sorich Park Area Residents group — pleaded with the council to take a tougher stand.

"I'll do better than that," declared Councilman Martin G. Blinder in voting to refuse annexation. "I will go out there with a sign when Schenck is trying to sell the houses, saying that the city does not provide services to the area. Then we'll see how many houses he sells."

Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson also was adamant in opposing any future consideration of annexation of Schenk's proposed Oak Hill Park development.

"Let them (the planned homes) sit out there until doomsday," he said.

Capurro agreed that the city should reemphasize its suggested 16 unit limit, but balked at threatening to deny annexation, saying "I don't want any part of that."

River To Recede

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Mississippi River, flooding its banks for the 59th straight day yesterday, is expected to begin slowly receding this week but remain overflowed at least until June 1.

The river broke previous flood records set in 1844 when it was at flood levels for 58 days. The Army Corps of Engineers said the river had been over the flood stage at St. Louis since March 10.

The corps noted the river was not expected to go below flood levels until June. A spokesman noted this would exceed an 80-day flood recorded in a 432-year- old journal kept by the explorer DeSoto.

Team Fired Upon

SAIGON (UPI) — Spurts of small arms fire were directed at an international truce team Jeep carrying a Canadian warrant officer and a Vietnames driver yesterday, but neither man was injured, a Canadian truce spokesman said today.

Saigon reported a slight increase in Communist truce violations over the past 24 hours and denied as "groundless" charges that government warplanes sprayed toxic chemicals in Viet Cong-controlled territory.

A government spokesman said "only the Communists" are still using chemical warfare in South Vietnam.

An Apology

BELFAST (UPI) — A British government minister has apologized for an attempt by the army to force a 16-year-old Roman Catholic youth to spy, but the case touched off a House of Commons move to probe any other such army actions.

"I will see it does not happen again," said Defense Secretary Lord Carrington. "Appropriate disciplinary action has been taken."

The case and its background was related yesterday by Gerry Fitt, a leader of the Catholic-led Social Democratic and Labor party and a member of parliament in Londaon.

He said the youth, a Belfast porter, told him the army was blackmailing him to pass on information about activities of suspected Irish Republican Army members using the hotel.

The youth, he said, was taken by troops to a police station, where he signed a statement confessing that he had an affair with the wife of a jailed IRA man.

Cong Peace Plan

PARIS (UPI) — The Viet Cong said today there can be no permanent peace in Vietnam unless the cease-fire there is enforced. The Communists submitted a three-point plan to end all hostilites.

Viet Cong Minister of State Nguyen Van Hieu presented the Communist proposal at the 10th meeting between Viet Cong and Saigon negotiators aimed at charting the political future of South Vietnam.

The proposal calls for immediate withdrawal by troops of both sides to the lines they held Jan. 28 when the cease-fire went into effect.

A Concession

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Indian officials said today that the king of Sikkim agreed last night to surrender some of his powers, but not his status, to make way for a more democratic government in his tiny but strategic Himalayan state.

The agreement followed a revolt by some political leaders in April for more democratic powers and a decision by India to take over the administration of the kingdom.

New Offensive

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Communist troops have shifted the thrust of their offensive away from Phnom Penh, launching attacks along two major highways and infiltrating a string of villages north of the capital, military sources said today.

Torture Charge

SAIGON (UPI) — North Vietnam today broadcast its first post-truce charge that Americans tortured Communist POWs, alleging atrocities that ranged from "brutal beatings" to "surgical experiments."

It said up to 40 per cent of the returned Communist prisoners of war suffered mental disorders.

Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency VNA, in a broadcast heard in Saigon, said in one case, U.S. troops beat and mistreated a Communist war prisoner so badly that he is now a paraplegic.

Holy Year Set

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI today announced the first Holy Year of the space age, bringing Roman Catholic pilgrims from around the world to Rome in 1975.

The pontiff said the theme of the Holy Year would be "the interior renewal of man" to bring mankind back to a knowledge of God.

This will be first such event since 1950 and the 25th since the year 1300, when Pope Boniface VIII called on Catholics to make a penitential pilgrimage to the reputed tombs in Rome of the apostles Peter and Paul.

Attack Area

BEIRUT (UPI) — Lebanese army units in Beirut and in a large region of southern Lebanon were attacked today with heavy barrages of rockets and mortar fire, an army communique siad.

The fighting broke out last night, only minutes after a cease-fire was announced between the government and Palestinian guerrilla forces after a week of often heavy fighting.

WILLIAM WOOLDRIDGE
Sees a big coverup

Club Fraud Linked To Generals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A top Army enlisted man convicted of conspiring with others in a racketeering ring to defraud U.S. military clubs says there was a "big coverup" of wrongdoings that probably stretched into the ranks of the generals.

Former Sgt. Maj. William O. Wooldridge made the accusation in testimony he gave to investigators for the Senate Permanent Investigating subcommittee last March. The testimony was released Tuesday during a hearing at which he and three other coconspirators told of widespread corruption in the clubs and coverup efforts by their superiors.

Wooldridge, who was then with the 1st Infantry Division in Vietnam, said Army Chief of Staff William Westmoreland ordered an investigation of the scheme in 1968 after the Senate subcommittee began making inquiries. The division command also started its own inquiry, he said.

Wooldridge said it was a "very unusual procedure" for the Chief of Staff's office to interfere in such a situation.

"I believe there was a big coverup, yes, sir."

Press Given New Rap By Agnew

CHARLOTTESVILLE, V a. (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who last week called for an end to hostility between the administration and the news media, Tuesday compared reporting of the Watergate affair to McCarthyism, saying the media had "trespassed the bounds of propriety."

Agnew said reporting of the Watergate scandal was "based on hearsay, investigative reporting which has not been verified, and rumors."

In a speech and question and answer session at the University of Virginia, he singled out the Washington Post, which won a Pulitzer Prize Monday for its Watergate coverage, for particular criticism. He charged that a story it published last month about former Attorney General John N. Mitchell was based on "double hearsay, at the very least."

Agnew's comments echoed those of Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., often a major critic of the administration, who accused the press Monday of printing "sensational" stories that were "McCarthyism at its worst." The reference was to the tactics of the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy used to root out communism in the early 1950s.

Answering questions for more than an hour from many of the 4,000 persons in the audience, Agnew said he felt that the facts in the Watergate case would have emerged eventually without the recent massive concentration of the news media.

He said some reporters had "overblown" their importance in bringing out the truth.

"In their zealousness to be sure they get the maximum potential fact over to the public, they have trespassed the bounds of propriety," he said. "There is a very short jump from the McCarthy techniques to what is going on right now in the Watergate."

Pentagon Papers Case In Recess

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — There were strong indications today the judge in the Pentagon Papers trial may order the acquittal of Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo Jr.

Both sides rested their cases yesterday ending testimony after 18 weeks.

U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne told attorneys he would "like to hear some argument" on a defense motion for a directed acquittal.

The judge at one point asked attorneys "speaking hypothetically, what if, after I ruled, there was nothing left (for the defendants) to appeal?" The defendants would have nothing to appeal if they were declared innocent.

The defense has filed several motions for dismissal of charges based on several accusations.

The accusations include a charge that White House aides broke into the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist and rifled his files and that Byrne was called to the Western White House at San Clemente, during the course of the trial, and was offered the FBI directorship at a meeting that President Nixon himself attended briefly.

Defense attorneys said President Nixon himself should be subpoenaed to appear at a special hearing into government misconduct.

The trial has become deeply tangled with the Watergate incident, the White House and the CIA. In was a grand jury investigation into the involvement of White house aides into a break-in at Democratic National Headquarters at the Watergate office complex in Washington that the reports of the break-in at Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office first surfaced.

It was revealed at the trial yesterday that the CIA supplied, on orders from the White House, material to aid in the break-in at Ellsberg's psychiarist's office. E. Howard Hunt, who was convicted as a Watergate conspirator and has admitted the break-in at Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office, was provided by the CIA, on orders from the White House, with a disguise, false identity documents and camera for a mission to "case the psychiatrist's office for the break-in."

"I think there are some critical issues to consider on the acquittal motion, and I would not want either side to pass it over lightly," the judge said.

In asking for a dismissal, the defense argued that the case "should not go to the jury under a cloud which grows darker every day."

An Honor For Truman

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI) — A smiling Margaret Truman Daniel accepted two sheets of the commemorative stamps honoring the late Harry S Truman and said, "I think he'd be absolutely shocked to know he is on a stamp."

It marked the 89th anniversary of the birth of the nation's 33rd president yesterday.

Probe Into CIA Link Is Opened

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate begins an investigation today into charges that the Central Intelligence Agency helped in the burglary of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Marine Corps Commandant Gen. Robert E. Cushman Jr. cut short a European trip and was on his way home to answer charges he authorized use of CIA material and research in the burglary in 1971 when he was deputy director of the CIA.

CIA Director James R. Schlesinger and Dr. Bernard Melloy, chief of CIA's psychiatric division, were scheduled to testify in closed hearings this afternoon.

The chairman, Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said Cushman and Richard Helms, former CIA director and now U.S. ambassador to Iran, would testify at a later date.

It was not known just when Cushman would arrive. Pentagon spokesman Jerry Friedheim said Cushman had planned to return next Sunday

Friedheim said that at least three congressional committees, one grand jury and the federal court in Los Angeles trying Ellsberg on espionage charges in the Pentagon Papers case wanted to hear from Cushman, who flew to Europe Saturday.

Four Arrested In Lagunitas Drug Raid Enter Guilty Pleas

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Four of seven persons arrested in a drug raid last November at a Lagunitas residence have pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court to charges of attempting to distribute hashish.

Due to be sentenced June 11 are Candi Jill Nelson, 21, of San Rafael; Allan Norman Mayoff, 30, of Stinson Beach, and Danny Sheppard, 26, and George W. Pickell Jr., 26, both of Port Neches, Tex.

Two other defendants, Paul Schmale, 23, of San Rafael, and Thomas Harney, age and address unknown, are to return to court May 21 for setting of a jury trial. A seventh man, Robert Thomas Johnson, 26, of Forest Knolls, is being sought by authorities after he failed to appear in court in March.

The seven were arrested by federal drug abuse law enforcement agents after a planned buy of a large quantity of hashish at San Francisco International Airport did not materialize.

Agents said they found drugs in the Lagunitas residence where the defendants were picked up.

Hub Council Says No To Gas Station

The San Anselmo City Council last night rejected a request by Standard Oil Co. to replace its service station at 160 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard with a larger one. (Another San Anselmo City Council story, page 1.)

The city council objected that larger structure would intrude on the creek area and that the lot is too small for such use.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

NUISANCE — Declared an unoccupied house at 24 Timothy Avenue a public nuisance and ordered the owner, Thomas Siddle, either to shore up the slipping home or demolish and remove it within 30 days.

SUNNY HILLS — Continued a public hearing on rezoning property owned by Sunny Hills School for six months, when the city is expected to have a new zoning ordinance and general plan for the area.

LEGISLATION — Supported on request of Blinder three proposed bills in the state legislature and one constitutional amendment. ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Wednesday, May 9, the 129th day of 1973 with 236 to follow.

The moon is in its first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

Scottish novelist Sir James Barrie was born May 9, 1860.

On this day in history:

In 1502, Christopher Columbus set sail from Cadiz, Spain on his fourth and final voyage to America.

In 1926, Cmdr. Richard Byrd and Floyd Bennett became the first men to fly over the North Pole.

In 1946, King Victor Emmanuel III of Italy abdicated, leaving the throne to his son, Crown Prince Humberto.

In 1970, United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther was killed in a Michigan plane crash.

A thought for the day: American statesman Daniel Webster said, "There is nothing so powerful as truth. . .and often nothing so strange."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, light air pollution.
Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.
Other areas:
San Francisco, light air pollution.
San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Early Birds Get Space In School

To ensure their 5-year-olds getting into kindergarten at Kent Elementary School in September, four Kentfield mothers arrived at 4 a.m. today at the doors of the school office, spread sleeping bags on the concrete sidewalk and dozed under the stars.

By the time school officials arrived at 8 o'clock 24 mothers were waiting for the registration scheduled to begin at 9:30 a.m. They were allowed into the library, registered their children, and the entire quota of 24 kindergarteners for Kent School in September was complete.

Parents arriving after 8 a.m. learned that their children will probably have to be bussed to Bacich School in the fall. By 9:30 a.m., when parents were still arriving, 34 children had been registered.

At present the kindergarten arrangements for fall in the Kentfield District are one session at Kent School, one session at Greenbrae School, and two sessions at Bacich.

District Supt. Eugene Peters said there is no spare classroom at Kent to hold a second session.

The first mothers to arrive at the school today were Gail Hayne and Britt Thorner. They were soon joined by Susan Leipsic and Sandy Patterson.

"Our primary concern is that a number of young families moved into this area because the school is within walking distance," said Mrs. Leipsic. "The reason we moved from San Francisco was because our children were being sent to far away schools. Now it seems several 5-year-olds will be bussed anyway."

Traffic Flow To Be Altered

Projects in progress on Highway 101 which will alter traffic patterns or affect the flow of traffic tomorrow were announced today by the state Division of Highways.

Sections of freeway involved are:

1. Northbound traffic will be routed into two lanes north and south of Richardson Bay Bridge from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. during paving.

2. Northbound and Southbound traffic will be stopped for one-minute intervals every four to five minutes from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. from Ignacio Boulevard to Lamont Avenue during bridge construction.

Watergate File Is Assembled

The San Rafael Library has compiled a folder of material on the impeachment process due to citizen interest sparked by the Watergate scandal.

The folder, available in the library's research files, includes encyclopedia articles on the impeachment process, Constitutional provisions for impeachment and news clippings according to librarian Vivian Smith.

The file was compiled for easy reference after a number of inquiries from students, teachers and citizens, she said.

Lack Of Quorum

The Kentfield Fire Protection District board has postponed tonight's regular meeting for lack of a quorum to next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the firehouse.

said. "Burying it within a new and larger department will not make its troubles go away."

Grace Hughes, chairman of Marin Alternative, urged further study of the administrator's proposal. "We are concerned that a large consolidated department will result in worse, not better, delivery of services," she said. "Overly large departments, covering a wide range of diverse activities, tend to discourage decision making at the delivery level."

Others urging more study included spokesmen from the Comprehensive Health Planning Council, Child and Youth Mental Health Committee, Community Action Marin, Juvenile Justice Commission, the Superior Court and about 10 persons not representing organizations.

Among those supporting it was Dr. Donovan O. Cooke, head of the health department, who said the advantages outweighed the disadvantages.

Differing with Mrs. Frederick, he said his department's earlier consolidation had shown "there are benefits to be gained but it takes awhile for them to show up."

Barrows agreed, and presented figures showing the health department was operating at about the same cost as three years ago when it was many separate departments.

Marion Kelly of the Marin Volunteer Bureau appeared to sum up the position of those supporting the proposal when he said it "provides for a mechanism to do the planning that is asked for. . .and the authority to do it."

Chairman Baptiste agreed saying it was time to force consolidation on the departments to eliminate duplication and "provide better delivery of services." To leave it to the departments to eliminate duplication through a cooperative effort as some had proposed would fail, he said, because of "territorial barriers" which surround each department.

Supervisor Arrigoni agreed, adding that no speaker had disputed the need for improved services from the departments but only the way it was achieved.

"We need a vehicle with teeth in it to force better services," said Supervisor Roumiguiere. "I don't think we can afford the duplication caused by departmental provincialism," he said, moving approval of the consolidation plan.

It was seconded by Arrigoni.

The hearing on the proposal lasted nearly four hours and caused the board's meeting to run until 11 p.m.

Workshop For Ballet To Start

Ballet watchers will have a chance to observe dancers in classes and workshops when the Eighth Annual Pacific Regional Ballet Festival gets under way tomorrow through Saturday at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building in San Rafael.

More than 600 dancers, teachers and ballet directors began to converge on San Rafael today for the festival, which will be highlighted by the performance of the Gala Ballet at 8 p.m. Saturday at the veterans building. The Marin Civic Ballet has been selected to dance in the Gala performance.

Free public events on Friday include: a chamber concert featuring nine dance companies at 1:30 p.m.; a pas de deux class at 3:45 p.m. and a lecture on orthopaedics and ballet injury at 5 p.m. All these events will be at the veterans buiilding.

For $25, the public may buy an observer's pass for all classes during the three days. Daily passes are $8.

Tomorrow's highlights include a workshop performance at the veterans building at 6 p.m., an Afro-Haitian class at 11 a.m. and a jazz dancing class, also at 11 a.m.

Saturday there will be two workshops on organizing for the arts and funding the arts from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. in the Bay Rooms of the Holiday Inn in San Rafael.

The festival, considered the most important event in nonprofessional ballet on the West Coast, will draw dancers and ballet officials from 27 regional companies.

College Sets Chess Tourney

Sonoma State College will host a chess tournament Saturday and Sunday in the Commons.

Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. Saturday with play starting at 10 a.m. each day. The tournament will include a four-round Swiss-style match for members of the United States Chess Federation and a five-round swiss section for nonmembers.

All participants should bring their own chessboards, chessmen and clocks. Trophies, books and cash awards will be made.

School Closure Will Be Viewed

The San Anselmo School District board will discuss a proposal to phase out Isabel Cook School when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Red Hill School.

The closure may be necessary because of sagging enrollment in the district, according to Supt. Frank R. Elliott.

The board will also consider a reduction in staff for 1973-74, a school calendar for next year and a health plan for employees.

Backyard Burning Citations Issued

Citations for backyard burning violations by two Marin residents and a Cotati man were issued during April by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, according to John T. Donovan, director of enforcement.

Receiving the notices were J. E. McGee of Novato, Samuel A. Costanzo of San Rafael and E. Washington of Cotati.

BUGGING

This raised speculation that further expected indictments by a federal grand jury might be delayed.

Now defense secretary, Richardson said he had consulted more than 80 persons in his search for an independent prosecutor and that he had compiled a list with "a large number of names" for consideration. He said he would be asking advice from various legal organizations and individuals, including former Chief Justice Earl Warren.

He told the Senate Judiciary Committee, headed by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., that he would welcome Senate approval of his choice and "if the Senate did not concur, I would feel obliged to propose another selection."

A former presidential aide, Charles W. Colson, appeared at the federal courthouse this morning, presumably to testify before the Watergate grand jury. It was expected that he wanted to tell his version of E. Howard Hunt's preparation of fake State Department cables to implicate the Kennedy administration in the 1963 assassination of South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Hunt, who pleaded guilty in the January trial of the original Watergate Seven, has told the grand jury that he copied 240 secret diplomatic documents after Colson asked him to see if the Kennedy administration had a hand in Diem's murder.

An attorney with Colson said his client was appearing voluntarily.

Richardson, in his testimony, said he would arrange his choices for special prosecutor in order of priority and submit the names to the presidents of the American Bar Association, the American College of Trial Lawyers and "certain other individuals."

Eastland asked how Richardson felt about having his choice approved by the entire Senate.

"If the Senate did not concur," Richardson said, "I would feel obligated to propose another selection."

Richardson said he had sought recommendations for the special prosecutor post from the presidents of the bar and trial lawyers associations, judges, prosecuting attorneys, practicing lawyers, members of Congress and various other persons.

Richardson was given overall command of the government investigation of the Watergate scandal by President Nixon last week. Richardson, now defense secretary, announced Monday he would choose a special prosecutor, who would be answerable only to him.

There had been strong pressure from Republicans and Democrats alike for selection of a special prosecutor, and some criticism has continued since Richardson's Monday announcement because critics contended the prosecutor still would not be entirely independent.

Richardson said he had "a large number of names" of prospects. He said the next step would be to draw up a list in the order of priority to submit to Warren and the others.

Richardson had no formal statement as the hearing began in a crowded room. Eastland asked him whether he had a biography of himself. As Richardson shuffled some papers and indicated that he did, Eastland asked:

"Did you ever hear of the Watergate affair?"

The audience laughed and Richardson said, "Yes, Mr. Chairman." Eastland came right back with: "What are you going to do about it?" Then followed Richardson's remarks about choosing a special prosecutor.

Shortage Of Funds For Program

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors heard yesterday that lack of federal funds will reduce the number of Emergency Employment Act jobs for disadvantaged persons in 1973-74.

Kennon Gilbert, program director, said 32 of the 127 persons currently working under the program will be dropped and that new funds will provide for only 27 new positions.

The program was funded in 1972 to provide job training and opportunities for persons who lack skills or had recently returned from military service in Vietnam.

Gilbert said he doesn't know how many of the 32 employees scheduled for phase-out of the program could be absorbed into permanent jobs. The County of Sonoma has 64 employees from the program while another 63 work for cities or other agencies.

BART Sets Operation To Concord

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Bay Area Rapid Transit District got permission yesterday to extend passenger operations to Concord on May 21.

The Public Utilities Commission specified service to Concord will be a separate operation from the present line.

"There shall be no interface between trains during revenue operations on the Fremont to Richmond line and the Concord to MacArthur line," the PUC said.

The commission said BART operations will remain subject to conditions the PUC imposed when it allowed revenue service to begin last September, utilizing a manual block system to assure a two-station clearance between trains. After a review of the extended manual override procedures for BART's train controls, the PUC concluded, "These extended procedures will not adversely affect the safety of operations."

Ban Covers More Than One Area

A moratorium on residential development enacted by the Mill Valley City Council covers not only lands on and near Shelter Ridge, as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal, but parcels throughout the city.

Between 600 and 700 acres are included in the moratorium, passed Monday by the city council, including roughly 50 acres on Shelter Ridge but also including about 450 Northridge acres, 50 in the Alto Bowl and 50 in the Cascades, said Tom W. Newton, city director of community development.

He said developers still may apply to the planning commission for a use permit to build in the affected areas, but they would have to demonstrate that the projects would not conflict with the contemplated city general plan now being prepared.

The moratorium applies to all developments of five or more dwelling units, he said.

Tennis Courts Ceremony Set

A dedication ceremony for Corte Madera's two new tennis courts at Granada School will be held May 19 at 10 a.m.

Under an agreement with the Reed School District, the town has constructed the tennis courts on the school grounds with a driveway and parking.

Speeches will be made by Mayor Holmes S. (Pete) Norville and Reed Supt. Ralph Giovanniello, and Corte Madera Fire Chief Frank Nelson will play tennis with the winner of a match between Donna Hart and Edward Mosconi.

Pledge Of No Tax Boost Is Delayed In Sausalito

The Sausalito City Council was on the verge last night of promsing voters that taxes would not go up if they approve two bond issues June 12 to purchase sites for a new city hall and library.

But on the advice of City Atty. Leland H. Jordan, the council postponed the matter until May 15 while it consults its bond counsel. Jordan argued that the motion proposed by Councilman Evert Heynneman "negates the very purpose of the bonds."

Last month, when the council set the $566,000 bond election, it said the city would pay off the bonds by leasing other city property to private interests.

But a local attorney has recently pointed out that the City of Salinas has been challenged in court for trying to do something similar.

Mayor Robin Sweeny opened the discussion by noting that "it has always been the intent of this council to lease city property to avoid a tax increase." She urged making some kind of promise to voters.

Heynneman moved that the council express its intent to go back to voters for approval of any tax increase if the leasing arrangement proves impossible.

But Jordan complained that the bond counsel might object since an election grants authority for a tax increase to pay for the bonds.

Voters will be deciding on two bond issues, one for $306,000 to buy Central School for the new city hall and another for $250,000 to purchase the adjacent Northwestern Pacific Railroad property as a library site.

Annual payments to redeem the 30-year bonds were to come from revenue derived from renting the old city hall, continuing Sausalito's 5-cent library tax and leasing part of the railroad land for private commercial purposes.

Ex-Millionaire Target Of IRS

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — The Internal Revenue Service yesterday began its attempt to collect $1.31 million in back taxes from onetime uranium millionaire Charles Steen rather than the $434,154 a bankruptcy referee ruled he owed.

Steen said recently he considered the U.S. District Court hearing before Judge Bruce Thompson crucial in his fight to ward off bankruptcy. Steen was declared bankrupt by referee Robert Woodward in March, but Steen said he would appeal the ruling.

At one time Steen controlled more than 90 per cent of the U.S. uranium production and made millions of dollars from a Utah uranium mine in the mid 1950s.

He was called into bankruptcy court in 1963.

Procedures For Impact Reports Set

The Sausalito City Council — establishing procedures last night for picking firms to prepare environmental impact reports on development projects — decided, despite some objections from developers and property owners, that the city will have the final say on who does the work.

The council voted 4 to 1, with Councilman Sally Stanford dissenting, to adopt this three-step procedure proposed by Planning Director Herb Case:

1. The council and Case in closed session will select 10 consulting firms from among those applying.
2. Developers will pick three of those 10, who will furnish cost estimates for the work.
3. The city staff will make the final choice from among those three.

Several developers and property owners complained they ought to be allowed to save money by having their own building staff draw up the environmental impact studies since they bear the costs of the reports.

Roland Mays, resident and local architect, objected that the county allows developers to prepare their own environmental impact reports. "If an applicant thinks he is qualified to do it, he should have that option," he said. "You can always find the report unacceptable."

"No architect is going to come in and say, 'My project is lousy,' " answered Councilman Stephen A. Fraser.

Wolfback Ridge developer Edward R. Fitzsimmons said he would prefer to have Sausalito's planning staff "moonlight at an agreed on price" to do his report than hire an outside consultant.

Councilman Stanford said she opposed accepting Case's report because she also wanted to make it as easy as possible for developers to prepare the reports.

The Sauslaito City Council also:

RAILROAD — Referred to the planning commission an appeal from the Sausalito-Richardson Bay Railroad asking for changes in conditions attached to a use permit. The permit would allow the railroad to begin planning to run narrow gauge trains along the city's water front. The commission must review an environmental impact report for the proposal before the council can hear the appeal.

WATERFRONT — Set June 12 to consider changing the zoning ordinance to prohibit retail shops in the central waterfront area. The council asked the planning commission to study the changes in the meantime.

CONDOMINIUMS — Introduced an ordinance to give the city jurisdiction over small (five units or less) as well as large condominnium projects.

FERRY — Asked the Golden Gate Bridge District for an environmental impact report for a proposed city ferry terminal located downtown.

GASOLINE — Introduced an ordinance to prohibit self-service gas stations.

CLOSED MEETING — Held a closed meeting to consider pending litigation and a personnel matter.

MEETING — Set May 15 as the date of its next regular meeting.

Plea Made To Grass Smuggling

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — One man has pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court to a charge of importing marijuana into Marin County while a second arrested with him is being sought by authorities.

A woman companion has been charged with a less serious offense, which may be dismissed next month.

All were arrested Feb. 28 in San Rafael, when federal agents seized eight packing cartoons weighing 800 pounds and containing 80 pounds of hashish hidden in marble bric-a-brac.

Admitting the smuggling charge Monday was James Mellors, 34, of San Francisco. He is to be sentenced by Judge Robert H. Schnacke on June 19.

The judge ordered a bench warrant with bail set at $100,000 for Joel Anderson, 22, also of San Francisco, when he failed to show up in court.

A lesser charge of possessing hashish was filed Monday against Phyllis Sue Nuremburg, 22, and Judge Schnacke postponed decision on whether this will be dismissed until June 20.

The three were arrested at Miss Nuremburg's home with the heavy shipment which had come by air from Karachi, Pakistan.

Conservatives Win Palo Alto Council Seats

PALO ALTO (UPI) — Four of the six councilmen elected at Palo Alto's municipal election Tuesday were considered to have conservative leanings.

But top vote getter Byron Sher, 45, a Stanford University law professor and former councilman, is considered liberal. He got 8,877 ballots.

The other "liberal" elected was Mayor Kirke Comstock, 42, who got 8,191 votes.

Other incumbents elected were Vice Mayor Stanley Norton, 46, 8,035; John Berwald, 54, 7,952; and John Beahrs, 60, 7,436.

The other new face elected was Roy Clay, 43, a management consultant and board chairman of the Palo Alto Medical Research Foundation, who is considered conservative and got 8,305 votes. He thus became the first black ever elected to the Palo Alto Council.

New Era In Sea Knowledge

HOUSTON (UPI) — Capt. Jacques Cousteau says the old methods of gathering information on the seas have been replaced by satellites orbiting the Earth.

The underwater explorer said he has worked with the U.S. space agency during his latest eight-month voyage to Antarctica and off the coast of Chile, using experiments to confirm data gathered by satellites and airplanes.

"The age of the surface vessel is terminated," Cousteau said yesterday. "We have to have collaboration with spacecraft."

Long Autopsy

HANNIBAL, Mo. (UPI) — Results of an autopsy to determine whether former U.S. Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., died as a result of eating poisoned candy will be available late Thursday, it was learned today.

Computer Study Set In Petaluma

The Petaluma City Council approved a study yesterday to see if computers can smooth city operations and save money in the future.

On a 4-to-2 vote, with councilmen John W. Canavagh Jr. and Robert A. Brunner dissenting, the council employed the firm of Gottfried Consultants Inc. of Los Angeles to conduct the study at a cost of $11,890. Councilman Robert A. Daly was absent.

Councilman Fred V. Mattei, who chaired a study committee also made up of councilmen William A. Perry Jr. and Richard W. Clecak, recommended the study to find out if Petaluma really needs a computer and how much it would cost.

Mattei said that after the first phase of the study is completed at a cost of $6,000, the remaining part of the contract can be terminated

He said initial indications show the city could save as much as $25,000 per year after the first two or three years of computer operations since fewer additional employees would be needed.

Cavanagh and Brunner said they considered the study premature.

Charpentier Estate Subject Of Lawsuit

The surviving brother of a Black Point man who parlayed his dishwasher's earnings into more than half a million dollars on the stock market yesterday filed a Marin Superior Court suit to inherit the estate.

Louis Charpentier asked the court to order that Bank of America, as administrator of the estate, and heirs be required to hold in trust for him all the property left by the late George J. Charpentier.

The brother died last Dec. 9 at the age of 70. He willed $1,000 to Bessie Parker of Novato, a friend; his house in Black Point to two other friends, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Sanders; $10,000 each to Guide Dogs for the Blind and Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato, and the balance to the state of California.

During probate hearings, Louis Charpentier argued unsuccessfully that his brother was not sane and had not drawn the will legally.

In his civil complaint yesterday, Louis Charpentier claimed that in 1970 he agreed to give up his home of 30 years in San Francisco in order to live near George and Ferdinand, another brother who died in 1970.

Louis claimed the brothers had agreed that all their estates should go to the survivor. His suit states he went to the expense of commuting to and from San Francisco to be near the other brothers, gave up his home and deprived himself of long-time social contacts in San Francisco to keep his part of the bargain, but that he inherited only a valueless piece of land in return.

New Hotel For San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco's newest convention hotel, the Hyatt Regency, has opened at the Embarcadero near the waterfront.

One side of the exterior resembles giant steps jogging upward to the skyline, a design which provides an open balcony for each of the 840 rooms.

The interior features a lobby as long as a football field and includes sunken conversation pits and a huge geometric sphere sculpture titled Eclipse. Five glass cylinder elevators run up a central shaft from one end of the lobby to rooms and the revolving rooftop restaurant.

The hotel cost $40 million to build and guests will pay an average of $40 per night.

Suit Filed On Failure To Pay Up

A widowed Reed School District teacher sued 17 insurance companies yesterday for refusal to pay on policies insuring her late husband's life.

Joan A. Hamren of 13 Zephyr Court, Lucas Valley, said in the suit in Marin Superior Court that her husband held some 26 life insurance policies for amounts ranging from less than $10,000 to $120,000 at the time he died in a highway accident near Byron in eastern Contra Costa County last Dec. 14.

The husband, John Morgan Hamren, had a psychiatric practice in Vallejo, according to David D. Ring, Mrs. Hamren's attorney.

Ring said several companies have paid off on policies, but that the 17 firms sued apparently are basing their refusal to pay on the fact that Hamren's death certificate lists the cause as due to either accident or suicide.

Nine Killed

BANGKOK (UPI) — Police said today that nine persons died late Monday when a policeman exploded a hand grenade during an argument at a folksong recital. The policeman was one of the victims.

Several Views Are Heard On Budgets For Schools

Teachers, parents and taxpayers urged differing spending priorities last night as the San Rafael Board of Education reviewed the elementary and high school districts' prepared budgets for 1973-74.

The trustees made no changes and had few comments on the drafts submitted by Supt. John F. Plank.

The preliminary budgets call for spending $5,025,370 in the elementary district and $5,752,351 in the high school district, including 1.9 per cent annual step increases for staff, but not the 9.7 per cent raises asked by teachers, Plank explained.

The San Rafael Teachers Association salary committee asked for salary adjustments based on consumer price index increases of 5.5 per cent in the last year, plus a 4.2 per cent raise, as "reasonable" for the "survival" of teachers in one of the "most expensive" and highest-income counties of the nation.

Based on closing at least two elementary schools and trimming 16 teachers from the payroll due to declining enrollment, the elementary district will have a surplus of about $131,000 before the board acts on salary requests and other spending, Plank said. The cost of the teacher requests will be computed by Monday.

One of the economies, elimination of released time for department heads and teachers to work on new programs, drew fire from San Rafael and Terra Linda High School principals and teachers.

A citizens advisory committee report submitted by Richard Blank on budget priorities called for "sacrifices" by parents in the high school athletic programs, hiring young teachers to get new ideas, and caution on salary requests. It drew retorts from teachers and parents.

Donald R. Wellington, citizen committee chairman, defended Blank's report. He said that while the per-pupil cost of education has risen from $750 to $1,100 per year in recent years, "it's difficult to see any improvement in terms of the students." He called for a result-oriented approach to the district's budgets.

Board Chairman Herman L. Childress told the large audience the budget is "preliminary — we've made no decision yet." He said further hearings would be held including next Tuesday and May 22 plus sessions in June and later.

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

CLOSED SESSION — Adjourned to a closed session to hear Plank present the screening committee's report on an acting principal for San Rafael High School. Childress said public action on the appointment probably will be taken Tuesday.

RECRUITING — Heard Plank report that 151 candidates had applied for the superintendent's post from which Plank has resigned.

PERSONNEL — Added Alan Gratton and John Gregory to employment lists as substitute bus driver and substitute custodian respectively, each at $3.40 per hour. Hired Vicki Mooney as elementary district instructional aide at $2.72 per hour; accepted the retirement of Short School teachers Ruth Ownes and the resignations of Bahia Vista teacher Barbara Wilson, Nova Albion School aide Anita Glass and Bahia Vista School secretary Martha Anderson; and granted leaves of absence to bus driver Betty Griffith and Short School secretary Yolanda Traverso.

"TURNED OFF" — Heard and discussed a report from Joseph Youmans of the citizens advisory committee on the lack of district follow-up, on the committee's recommendations in 1972 to combat the phenomenon of the "turned off" pupil.

APPOINTEE — Named Richard Mayer of 100 Oakmont Avenue to a vacancy on the citizens advisory committee.

ADJOURNED — To 8 p.m. May 15 in Short School, for a public hearing on the controversial proposed closing of that school, as well as further budget work.

San Rafael Board Votes To Cut 16 Teachers From The Payroll

San Rafael Board of Education members reluctantly voted last night to notify 16 elementary district teachers that they will not be rehired for the fall semester due to shrinking enrollment.

The board promised to seek ways to rehire the teachers — all probationary employees with low seniority — at later meetings. Supt. John F. Plank explained that state law requires notification by May 15 of any teachers who won't be rehired, or they automatically keep their jobs.

Teachers, an attorney, parents and trustees discussed numerous ideas for keeping the young teachers, and debated at length whether some high school teachers with even less seniority should not lose their jobs instead.

Plank recommended and the board approved the recommendation by state hearing officer Jerome C. Herst that all the dismissals be from the elementary district staff.

The dismissal issue was complicated last night by a legal decision involving Santa Barbara schools (now on appeal before the California Supreme Court) which raises the possibility that San Rafael may have to establish separate governing boards for its two districts.

Board Chairman Herman L. Childress pointed out that San Rafael and Petaluma, like Santa Barbara are among five California cities where separate elementary and high school districts are governed by single boards. The Santa Barbara operation has been ruled illegal.

Robin Selfridge, who lost her job last night, argued that since the San Rafael city charter presently treats the school system as a single entity the trustees should trim staff from both the elementary and high schools.

Leonard A. Bjorklund Jr., attorney for the California Teachers Association, asked the trustees to reconsider its original staff cut made last month, on grounds that the board at that time "didn't realize all the cuts would come from the elementary level."

He noted that historically, San Rafael teachers have been able to switch from elementary to high schools without loss of seniority or tenure.

Bjorklund said Pauline Chinn, elementary district physical education instructor, has more seniority than one high school district physical education teacher, and urged that she be allowed to retain her job.

He also asked that any rehiring be on a basis of seniority. Childress and Plank demurred that the more senior ex-teachers "might not be suitable for any positions open."

Audience members offered several alternatives including an offer by several tenured teachers to go on half-time status to create job openings, and hiring some of the dismissed staff as permanent substitute teachers for next year.

The two high school students on the board of trustees argued that the district's preliminary budget for next year contains about $130,000 in reserves, and urged retaining the teachers to achieve a smaller student-teacher ratio. Childress said using the reserves for this would prohibit granting any salary raises.

The decision to trim staff and close two elementary schools in the district resulted from predictions that elementary enrollment would drop by at least 200 students in the fall.

Teachers to be notified they won't be rehired are Sheryl Rytkonen, Cynthia Hartell, Karen Mills, Joan Dooley, Euril Wilson, Christy Johnson, Robin Selfridge, Ralph Shanks, George Grist, Pauline Chin, Tony Houston, Michael Conley, Diane Pope, Richard Hammond, Frank Shippey and Shirley Voller.

MOSCOW (UPI) — New York Mayor John V. Lindsay met with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin yesterday and "had a friendly talk" about "specific opportunities for for expanding contacts between New York and Moscow," the Tass news agency said.

Open Space Concurrence In Sausalito

The Sausalito Planning Commission has concurred with a citizens' committee which recommends preservation of 43.5 acres of open space east of Highway 101.

Planning Director Herb Case said the commission, at a special meeting Monday, accepted the report of the open space committee, an 11-member citizens group which conducted a one-year study of greenbelts in Sausalito.

The parcels recommended for open space are the South Ridgelands, also called Hurricane Gulch, 29.29 acres; Cypress Ridge, 13.5 acres, and the Glen, a half-acre parcel off Cazneau Avenue.

Case said information in the report will be included in the city's open space element now under preparation by city staff. To be added to the element is a section dealing with the city waterfront, another detailing how open space might be acquired and a third dealing with conservation.

BE KIND TO ANIMALS

It's the week to be kind to animals. Chapin Selected As Met's Manager

NEW YORK (UPI) — Schuyler Chapin, acting general manager of the Metropolitan Opera, yesterday was named general manager under a three-year contract.

Chapin, 50, a native New Yorker, became acting manager last July following the death of Goeran Gentele in an automobile accident in Sardinia.

In-Service Training Requested

Teachers urged improvements in the in-service training program last night at the Old Adobe School District board meeting.

Schools Supt. Dean D. Magowan said a teachers survey showed most teachers believe they could benefit by more in-service training.

Teachers asked the board for more time and opportunities to attend classes at Sonoma State College. Some said classes developed within the district could also be very helpful.

Magowan said teachers also asked the board to consider enlarging the transitional first grade program for students who are not mature enough for a traditional first grade. Teachers said some students who could profit by the special class must instead be placed in regular classes because of lack of space.

Magowan said the board would consider the requests along with proposed additions to the psychological staff at the regular board meeting on May 17.

Horning Will Resign Bolinas-Stinson Post

Supt. Lester M. Horning, who changed his mind about resigning in the Bolinas-Stinson School District last year, said again last night he is quitting and that the decision is final.

The 56-year-old Horning told district trustees he would be leaving his $16,500-a-year post at the end of the school year.

Trustees greeted the news silently and without expression, as if they had been aware Horning's move was coming.

Horning, who also acts as principal of the district's lone school in Bolinas, announced in May of last year he was resigning because he didn't think he could lead the district into innovatve programs endorsed by some residents. But he changed his mind two months later amid a vote of confidence from trustees and other residents.

Last night, he said, "I can no longer give the district the kind of leadership it needs." Horning has been superintendent for two years, coming to Bolinas-Stinson from a job as personnel director in the Fulton Unified School District in San Bernardino County.

Trustees announced they intended to replace Horning with two persons, a teaching principal and an assistant who would have charge of business matters. They also assured residents they would not ignore the Bolinas-Stinson area in their search for candidates, and that the community would be given an opportunity to meet with finalists.

In other business, the board siad the district will withdraw its $25,000 offer to purchase property adjoining Bolinas School which suffered heavy flooding during the winter and which was found to have a clouded title.

Part of the funds, $11,000, will be used for an experimental classroom project.

The Bolinas-Stinson School District board also:

ACTING GROUP — Encouraged Pierrot Resta, producer of Theater, a children's acting group, to submit a budget for operating funds.

PLANNING — Set the next meeting of the board for May 22 for a hearing on the results of a parent survey and to hear the Bolinas Planning Group's community plan as it affects the school district.

FRINGE — Postponed action on a rise in the cost of dental benefits for employees and dependents, and deferred discussion of a summer program.

AIDES — Assured teacher aides that trustees will try to change current policy of the county board of educatin to enable the aides to receive teaching credit for their work in the achool.

CAMPING — Voted $40 in gas expense money to teacher Steve Aikenhead for an educational camping trip with 12 students to Los Padres Wilderness. Aikenhead said the students earned personal money for the trip later this month.

Dillon Beach Water Rate Hike Approved

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Public Utilities Commission yesterday authorized Coast Springs Water Co. a 13 per cent increase to 177 customers in the Dillon Beach area.

The increase will raise the typical monthly bill for the average Marin County customer from $7.90 to $8.90 effective June 1.

Year-Round School Plan Approved Over Protest

The Petaluma Board of Education last night approved an unstaggered, 45-15 plan for operating Penngrove Elementary School year round but not without protest from parents in the area.

Casting the only dissenting vote, Trustee Daniel B. Plumley called for more study on the plan already in effect at Cherry Valley School.

Plumley also questioned whether the retention rate is really higher among students in the 45-15 plan, a factor cited by proponents.

According to a survey presented by Penngrove School principal John R. Anderson, of the 165 families eligible to vote on the proposed plan, 54 per cent approved and 43 per cent were opposed.

Plumley, referring to the survey, said the vote was too close for the board to be guided by.

Anderson told the board that 100 per cent of the faculty and the members of the citizen's advisory board to the school favored the 45-15 plan for the 1973-74 school year.

When the year is broken up, he said, there is less retention loss. Staff members are able to plan more in "block systems of nine weeks" than in the traditional year, he said of the year-round plan with 45 school days followed by 15-day vacations.

He also said the plan would provide more curriculum flexibility and more vacation opportunities for the families in the district.

Opponent La Moyne Frank, a parent with three children in the district, said the plan has not been proven to be educationally sound. He also accused the faculty and Anderson of using a "sell job" on parents and questioned the impartiality of the survey taken at Penngrove.

Frank said those parents who could not attend the various talks at the school on the plan were sent a packet of information with 20 pages favoring and only one page against 45-15.

Frank asked the board to wait for research from other schools now on the plan before instituting it at Penngrove.

Robert Newman, with two children in the school, said it was a little early to put the plan in effect at Penngrove.

He also said if parents don't like the plan, it will be hard for them to shift their children to another school in the area.

The Petaluma Board of Education also:

GRANTS — Approved the affirmative action plan for the Petaluma elementary and high school districts needed to apply for federal grants.

PORTABLES — Authorized Lesly H. Meyer, superintendent of schools, to rent or purchase portable classroom buildings for San Antonio and Petaluma high schools.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignation of Naomi Anderson to return to school and Sandra Greenhut, leaving because of the transfer of her husband.

COURT — Approved the sending of a letter to the county counsel asking what it would involve to become a friend of the court in the upcoming suit involving the city of Petaluma and developers.

MEETING — Adjourned to Tuesday, May 22 at 7 p.m. in the administration building.

Nixon Is Asked To Halt Explosion

DENVER (UPI) — Eleven environmental groups have asked President Nixon to stop a scheduled underground nuclear explosion in Colorado. The groups said it could contaminate the water supply for 27 million people.

The project is designed to free natural gas trapped in rock formations deep underground.

HUNGER AT WOUNDED KNEE

A young Indian girl, trapped in Wounded Knee, S.D., when militant Indians seized the town in February, yesterday gulped down the first real meal she had had in weeks while sitting on the back of one of the many ruined cars in the area. The Red Cross served meals to the displaced villagers after the siege of 71 days ended Tuesday. (UPI Telephoto)

Tiburon Boots Out Algae Sewage Firm

Disappointed with the results of an algae sewage treatment scheme, Tiburon sanitary officials are looking elsewhere for a system which will turn sewage into almost pure water.

Directors of the Tiburon Sanitary District Monday told Bio-Kinetics Co. of San Rafael to remove an experimental treatment plant from the district's plant on Paradise Drive.

In place of the algae scheme, directors are considering a plan to attain tertiary treatment, which turns sewage into almost pure water, by a chemical process.

Director Robert A. Sterling reported Zempro Inc. of Wisconsin has said such equipment would cost the district roughly $1.5 million, though the cost could be spread out over a long period of time on a lease-purchase basis. Sterling said directors will study that proposal.

Bio-Kinetics contracted with the sanitary district to install by September equipment which would purify the district's entire sewage flow. Technical problems with suppliers, however, have delayed that timetable, according to the firm.

Sanitary district directors on April 19 gave Bio-Kinetics until Monday's meeting to come up with a plan assuring that the timetable would be met, but no representative of the firm showed up at the meeting.

Consequently, said Sterling, "Bio-Kinetics is out." Directors left it up to plant manager John Slovek when to tell the company to remove the pilot equipment.

Under terms of the contract, the district owes Bio-Kinetics nothing since the company has failed to perform. Had the equipment been installed and worked properly, the district would have paid the company $81,000 per year.

Directors also awarded a $39,321 contract to the Albay Construction Co. of San Francisco to upgrade the treatment plant and perform periodic maintenance.

Lot Split Will Allow Bus Base Expansion

The San Rafael Planning Commission last night approved a lot split on Jacoby Street, an action that allows the Golden Gate Bridge District to proceed with plans for purchase of the land for expansion of its adjacent bus base.

The commission, however, declared that the split did not constitute approval of any such use of the parcels according to J. Stanley Ott, senior planner.

Owner Barney Norwitt had proposed that his parcel adjacent to the transit facility be subdivided into parcels of 15 and 6.4 acres. The transit district has an option to buy the subdivided land from Norwitt.

The transit district has proposed that its 15-acre bus base be expanded to 25 acres to provide for a total fleet expected to grow from the present 188 coaches to about 500 by the mid-1980s.

Bridge district officials have assured the city council that city officials will be provided with an environmental impact report on the bus base expansion.

The San Rafael Planning Commission Also:

DUBOIS STREET — Approved a four-lot subdivision at 461-693 Du Bois Street.

KISSMAN — Approved an office and industrial complex proposed by Kurt Kissman for the Jacoby Street extension.

MOBILE HOME — Approved a mobile home sales office on a building materials storage yard for a period of six months, provided no alteration of the MacPhail's Inc. property is made.

DUPLEX — Approved a duplex at 41 Octavia Street.

COMMERCIAL USE — Approvec commercial and office use of a parcel at Simms and Jacoby Streets.

DESIGN REVIEW — Approved environmental and design review for the following proposals: a service station at 1833 Fourth Street; a warehouse at 1101 Francisco Boulevard; an office building at Simms and Jacoby Streets and four duplex structures at 1701-1729 Grand Avenue.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. May 22.

Seven Children Escape Death In Bridge Crash

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two children were killed in a traffic accident on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, but seven other children escaped major injury thanks to a quick-thinking woman.

The dead boy and girl, aged 12 and 10, were not identified.

A station wagon driven by Laura Castillo, 58, stalled on the upper deck Tuesday night. She saw a car coming up fast from behind and warned seven children in her auto to scoot down the floor.

Highway Patrolman Walter Lesnick said this saved their lives in the crash. The children and Mrs. Castillo received only cuts and bruises.

The dead children were in the car that hit the Castillo vehicle. The driver, Camille Riordon, 28, of San Francisco was in critical condition at San Francisco General Hospital, Lesnick said. Two other children in her car were hospitalized with major injuries.

Jury Convicts 'Hat Man' Rapist

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — After six hours of deliberation, a jury decided Tuesday that Ronald Clark, 24, was the rapist, robber and burglar known to police as the "Hat Man."

He was convicted of rape, three rape attempts, five robberies and a burglary in the Russian Hill and Pacific Heights districts.

Inspector James Higgins said Clark got his nickname because of the variety of headgear he wore during night time attacks in garages and driveways.

Judge Walter Calcagno set May 29 for sentencing.

Clark previously was sentenced four years ago, again for rape.

HORS D'OEUVRES

Special Type Of Cook Book

By BETTY FROST

Dozens of Sausalito hostesses have stepped fearlessly into the elite hors d'oeuvres field with the publication of Sausalito Hors d'Oeuvres Cook Book. The 154-page soft cover cookbook has been given a stylish treatment by Mrs. Richard F. Phillips, editor and her committee, Mmes. John C. Alexanler, Leonard E. Blakely, Josehh E. De Martini, and Charles W. Henderson.

Adding a note of whimsy are the drawings of A-nonny-mouse and his cohorts who romp through the pales nibbling delicacies and entertaining in every sense of the word. The illustrations and the cover are the work of George W. Quinn Jr., a Sausalito resident.

The recipes are from the personal files of members of the Sausalito Woman's Club, and the book was published by the club, with the proceeds to be used for club projects. Mrs. Blakely is orders chairman.

ALTOGETHER A Sausalito prject, the book was printed by Butterfly Bend Press, with Richard Phillips, whose hobby is printing, doing the job, his first book, in the workshop in the family home. Club members did the collating and rented a binder so they could do the binding themselves.

Assisting with the assembly of the volume were Mmes. W. L. C. Brown, Norma Christian, Roger L. Dinelli, Margaret Gear, George R. Kowski, Kenneth N. Logan, James Redmond McCarthy, Jackson S. Perry, George W. Quinn Jr., and Howard Sievers.

The comprehensive canape collection includes everything from bean dip to red and black caviar in aspic. There are sections for hors d'oeuvres made with cheese, fish , vegetables, mushrooms, nuts, fowl, meat and chicken livers. Hot and cold dips are included and variations on quiches, tortas, and pate are covered. The final section contains recipes for punches and other party drinks.

Since these aperitif accompaniments are made frequently by Sausalito women in their home-kitchens, the book should be a practical one for other hospitable Marinites.

Samples from the new book include this cold dip, submitted by Mrs.Frank V. Carillo:

AVOCADO CRAB DIP

1 large avocado, cubed
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon grated onion
¼ cup sour cream
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 8-ounce package cream cheese, softened
1 7½-ounce can crab meat

In blender or small bowl combine avocado, lemon juice, and seasonings, and blend until smooth. Add cream cheese, sour cream, salt and blend well. Stir in crab meat. Chill. Can be served with fresh French bread sliced thin.

Unusual is the hot cheese recipe submitted by Mrs. Leonard G. James, a native of Denmark.

DEEP FRIED CAMEMBERT

Cut cold fresh camembert cheese into wedges. Dip each wedge into slightly beaten egg white, and then in fine bread crumbs to coat lightly.

Fry cheese until golden in one and a half inches of salad oil heated to 370 degrees for about one and a half minutes. Drain on paper toweling.

Serve hot with toast and black currant jelly.

From the kitchen of Mrs. Joseph Fontana is a cheese ball which can be made well ahead of party time and also freezes well.

MAFIA CHEESE BALL

8 ounces shredded cheddar cheese
4 ounces crumbled bleu cheese
½ cup shredded provolone cheese
3 ounces cream cheese
1 tablespoon milk
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon celery salt
¼ cup toasted sesame seeds.

Beat all ingredients together in a large bowl. Shape into a ball, wrap in protective wrapping and chill for at least an hour. After chilling the ball can be rolled in chopped nuts, chopped parsley or finely chopped smoked sliced beef.

An attractive addition to center the serving table is this delicacy submitted by Mrs. D. Power Boothe.

CAVIAR MOLD

3 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
2 cups chicken broth
1 2-ounce jar black caviar
2 hard cooked eggs, sieved
1 2-ounce jar red caviar

Heat broth in a one-quart saucepan. Soften gelatin in broth and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Divide into three portions. Fold black caviar into one portion, egg into the second, and red caviar into the third. Pour red caviar portion into a three-cup ring mold and chill until set but not firm. Top with egg portion and again chill until set. Add black caviar portion and chill until firm.

Unmold. Slice and serve on very thin slices of toast. Top with chopped onions if desired.

Aphrodisiac Cooking Specialties Offered

Aphrodisiac cooking was discussed by Diane MacMillan on her show "Kitchen Time In Marin," yesterday on KTIM. The following recipes are from "Aphrodisiac Cookery" by Greg and Beverly Frazier, published by Troubador Press.

SAVORY MEAT BALLS

¾ lb. ground beef
¼ lb. ground veal
1 small onion, grated
1 small apple, grated
1 egg
½ cup dry crumbs
1 teaspoon horseradish
¼ cup water
1 teaspoon savory
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup consomme

Savory, from the Latin Satureja, "plant of the satyrs". Savory is a Roman aphrodisiac.

Mix all ingredients except consomme. When thoroughly blended, form into small balls and simmer in undiluted consomme for 30 minutes. Serves four. Serve with:

PROVOCATIVE PIMENTO-RICE

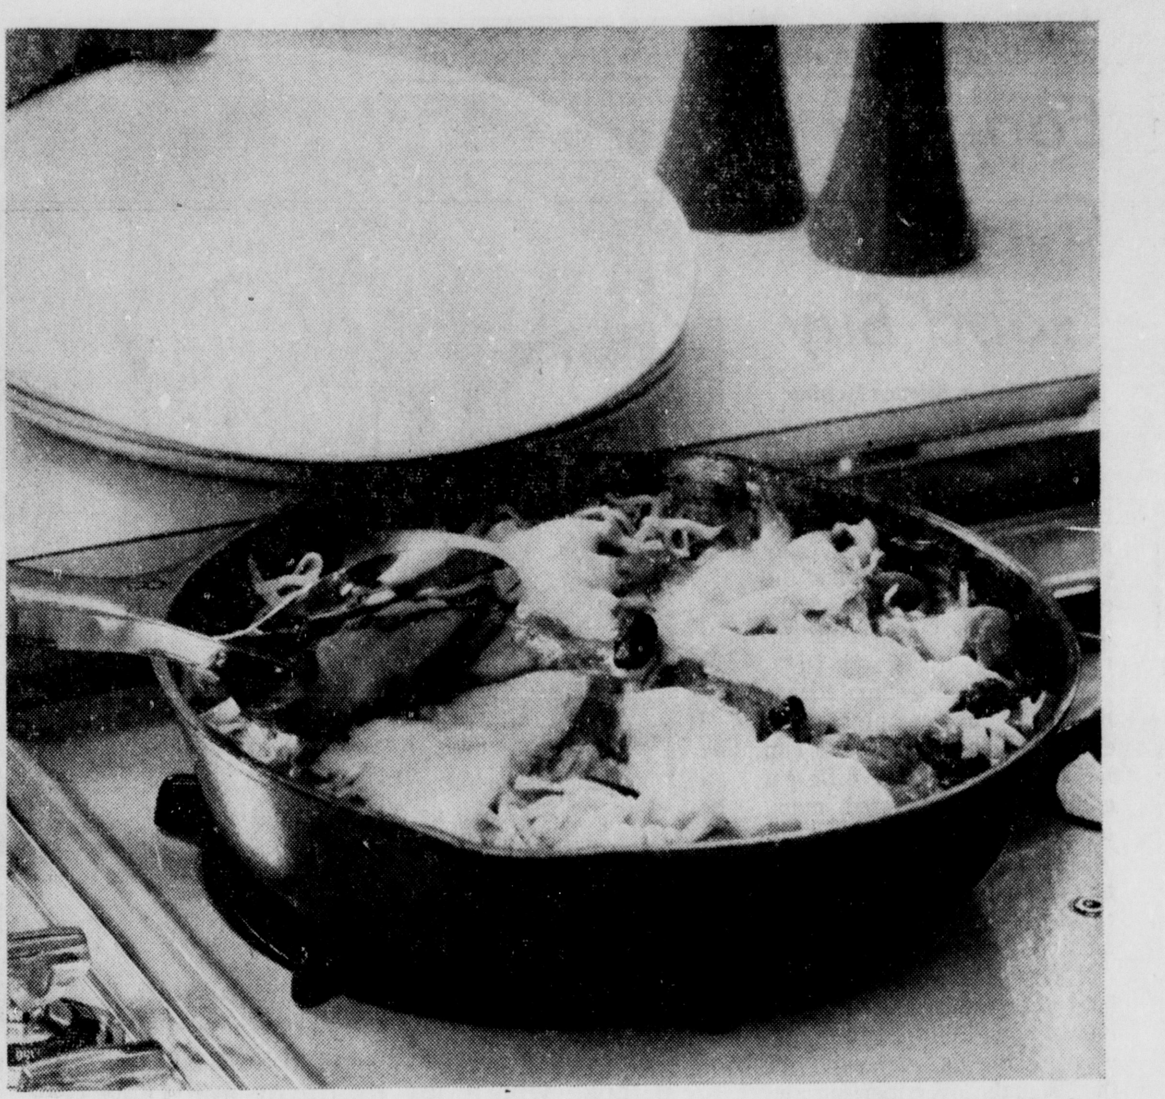
1 large onion, chopped
1 green pepper, chopped
½ cup oil
3 cups rice
2 cups chicken broth
4 cups water
1 4 ounce jar pimentos, drained and chopped
1 3½ ounce jar capers, drained
salt to taste

Saute onion and pepper in oil until soft. Add rice and brown lightly. Stir in broth, water, pimentos, capers and salt. Cover tightly and cook over low heat for 35 minutes. Do not remove cover while rice is cooking. Serves 10.

Hints On Stretching The Budget

Two more budget-stretching meals are suggested by Peggy Hopkins, home economist for the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in San Rafael.

She suggests that either meat ball vegetable soup or noodles con carne, both main dishes, be served with a tossed green salad and sourdough bread. She also provides recipes for two easy and favorite deserts, peach or apricot whip and the classic apple brown betty.



NOODLES CON carne is a quick favorite for family and teen-age groups to serve. It's all cooked in a large skillet using one pound of ground beef, and makes six generous servings.

MEAT BALL VEGETABLE SOUP

1 cup pinto, navy, pea or kidney beans
1 quart water
1½ cups chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 clove garlic, minced
1 can consomme
1 bay leaf
10 peppercorns
1 No. 2½ can whole tomatoes
2 cups chopped celery
2 cups chopped carrots
2 cups chopped zucchini
1 bunch mustard greens, washed and chopped
Salt
1 pound ground beef, chuck preferred
1½ teaspoons seasoned salt
Dash pepper
½ teaspoon garlic salt
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 tablespoon dried parsley
1 egg
1 slice bread
¼ cup boiling water

Wash beans; add water and cook slowly about an hour. Meanwhile, cook onion in butter; add to beans along with garlic. Continue cooking beans until tender. Add consomme, bay leaf, peppercorns and vegetables. Season with salt. Continue cooking until vegetables are tender. Meanwhile, make meat balls: Combine meat, seasoned salt, pepper, garlic salt, onion and parsley, mixing well. Add egg and bread which has been soaked in boiling water. Using a teaspoon, measure out meat mixture and shape into small balls. Drop into boiling soup. Cook 10 to 15 minutes longer. Serve piping hot. Makes eight generous servings.

(Note: Any combination of canned or leftover vegetables may be used in place of the ones suggested.)

IF THE SOUP is hearty enough, it is almost a whole meal. Add a tossed green salad and sourdough bread, and dessert if you like. This meat ball vegetable soup has nearly everything in it and leftover vegetables may be substituted, if desired.

NOODLES CON CARNE

1 pound lean ground beef
1 medium onion, chopped
1 1-pound can kidney beans, drained
4 ounces dry thin noodles, uncooked
1 1-pound, 13-ounce can whole tomatoes, chopped
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon chili powder
6 slices American cheese

Lightly brown meat in 10-inch skillet, breaking apart as it cooks. Add onion and saute until limp. Scatter beans over meat; sprinkle noodles evenly over beans. Combine tomatoes, salt, pepper and chili powder, mixing well. Pour over noodles.Cover and bring to boil, then turn heat to simmer and cook for 25 minutes. Lay cheese over top; cover and cook five minutes longer until cheese is melted. Makes six generous servings.

PEACH OR APRICOT WHIP

⅔ cup evaporated milk, chilled
⅔ cup peach or apricot pulp
¼ teaspoon almond extract or ½ teaspoon vanilla

Press canned peaches or apricots (or stewed fruit) through a sieve. Chill thoroughly. Whip well-chilled evaporated milk (you can whip this milk if it is chilled several hours or put in the freezer for quick chill. Chill the bowl and beaters too). Stir in flavoring. Fold the fruit pulp into the whipped mixture. Makes four servings.

APPLE BROWN BETTY

2 cups soft bread crumbs or cubed stale bread
3 cups pared, sliced apples (3 to 4 apples)
½ cup sugar — OR ⅔ cup brown sugar
¼ cup water
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg or mace
Grated rind of ½ lemon
1½ tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

Put one-third of the bread in the bottom of a buttered baking dish; cover with half the apples, sugar, water, spices, grated lemon rind and lemon juice. Cover with one-third of the crumbs, then the remainder of the fruit, water and flavorings. Mix the rest of the crumbs with the butter; sprinkle them over the top of the pudding. Cover. Bake in a 375 degree oven for one-half hour; remove the cover; continue baking until the apples are tender and the crumbs are brown or about ½ hour longer. Serve warm with vanilla ice cream.

Eggplant Currently Good Buy

By Christian Science Monitor News Service

Eggfruit, aubergine, and guinea squash are other names for eggplant. Originally a tropical perennial found by early explorers in South America, the eggplant now is widely grown in the United States and Europe.

Although at one time it was believed to be poisonous, eggplant is a delicacy and can be grown in several different climates and prepared many tempting ways.

Right now, eggplant is a good buy and can be used in a hearty casserole or as a vegetable for meatless days.

A clear, glossy color, plus heaviness and firmness of flesh indicate quality in eggplant. Beware of the dull-skinned fruit, this signals overripeness and toughness, and it's also dull on the palate. Wash and dry eggplant and store in crisper or in a plastic bag in the refrigerator.

EGGPLANT PARMIGIANA

1 large eggplant (about 1 lb.)
3 tablespoons flour
1 egg, beaten with 2 tablespoons water
½ cup dry bread crumbs
3 tablespoons olive oil
1 quart tomato sauce
½ pound mozzarella cheese, sliced
⅓ cup Parmesan cheese, grated

After washing eggplant, cut off and discard a thin slice from stem end, then cut into crosswise slices about quarter inch thick. Dredge eggplant slices in flour. Dip in egg, then coat with breadcrumbs. Refrigerate at least a half hour.

Heat oil in a large skillet. Add eggplant, a few slices at a time, and cook over moderate heat until browned on both sides Add more oil if necessary.

Pour about one cup tomato sauce into a 2½-to-3-quart shallow baking dish or casserole. Arrange a layer of eggplant on sauce. Cover with more sauce, then a layer of mozzarella slices and Parmesan cheese. Repeat with rest of eggplant, sauce and cheeses.

Bake uncovered, in a preheated 350-degree oven for one hour. Makes four to six servings.

LOVE IT or leave it — eggplant is a delicacy to those who enjoy its flavor and know how to cook it well. Eggplant Parmigiana is one popular method.

Butterfly Chops Are Available

No, you don't catch them in a net on a warm spring day. Butterfly chops, cut from the pork loin, are available in many meat markets. It's also easy to "butterfly" sections of the loin at home.

Purchase either boneless pork loin or the bone-in meat. (If the bone is present, remove it by running a sharp knife between the bone and meat.) Cut the loin into slices one-and-a-half to two-inches thick. Cut each slice almost in two from fat side, knife parallel to surface of meat.

Use care to cut only to opposite edge of chop so that the meat is hinged together. Separate and spread the two sides of pork so that the chop lies fairly flat.

Six Belvedere, Tiburon Homes On Display

By PAT BALMES

St. Stephen's Guild of Belvedere-Tiburon will present six Belvedere and Tiburon homes of different styles on its 23rd annual House Tour next Wednesday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Proceeds will benefit St. Stephen's Church in Belvedere.

On display will be a luxurious townhouse, a lagoon cottage, a waterside home, a French mansion, a hilltop modern house and an antique-filled Victorian residence.

Mrs. D. J. Linden of Belvedere will accept reservations or tour-goers may purchase tickets on the day of the tour at San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere, where cars will transport guests on the tour.

Tea will be served from 2 to 4 p.m. at the yacht club where color photographs of hummingbirds by Marie Antonucci of Kentfield will be displayed.

HUGO HERMANN'S new Tiburon townhouse, designed to glow at night with glossy wall colors, blends antiques with modern living.

The red lacquer walls and parquet floors of the living room are background for antiques and porcelain. It is furnished with a rosy brocade camelback sofa, mauve velvet open armchairs, needlepoint rugs, an 18th Century lowboy and matched turnlet gate tables.

An antique gilt mirror and 18th Century Indian glass paintings decorate the walls. Draperies are of antique crewel material. The screen is a French copy of a Chinese painting, "1000 Birds."

The Rev. and Mrs. John Thornton's cottage is one of the original Belvedere Lagoon homes.

The living room has a subtle blue and beige color scheme, an Indian rug, a collection of Japanese prints, a velvet topped antique French game table with Spanish rush bottomed chairs, a French desk and a leather Eames chair and ottoman. Its French doors open onto a magnolia shaded deck with a lagoon view.

The kitchen, set compactly against a brilliant yellow wall, has an antique Spanish meat rack. The dining room is furnished with an antique sleigh seat and girandoles by Baccaract.

The porch has been recently converted to a book lined study with glassed in beams overhead.

MR. AND MRS. DICK DeBerry's waterside home is on Belvedere Island. The entry hall's glass panels bring in the garden. In the entrance gallery is a Mexican chest flanked by wrought iron candelabra and an antique Austrian prayer table. The graphic in yellow and white is one of many throughout the home by Mrs. DeBerry.

Her uncluttered living and dining rooms are dominated by a large blue and gold painting by Mrs. DeBerry.

Her dining room has a colorful Oriental rug, an antique marble table and Victorian pull-up chairs covered in bright yellow.

MR. AND Mrs. Gene Baumgarten's French maison in Tiburon has a large, high ceiling living room, a handcarved mantel and room-wide windows opening to a San Francisco view. The color scheme is white and yellow.

Through massive carriage doors the gold and white dining room seems afloat on a parrot green rug and its walls are covered with handprinted wall canvas hung with cabbage plates.

A beamed ceiling, the parquet floor and traditional blue and white color scheme give a warm atmosphere to the convenience kitchen.

The master bedroom is blue and white toile de Jouy. The floral rug is Portuguese and the antique chest is Louis XIV.

MR. AND MRS. MARVIN Wood's hilltop home in Tiburon blends Chinese, French, English and Victorian styles against a modern setting with expansive ceiling-to-floor windows and flowing interior spaces.

In the skylit hall, paved with hand-molded blue glazed ceramic tiles, are a red lacquer wedding chest and an antique English marquetry console.

The living room has a coffered ceiling and a fireplace wall faced with Verde antique marble.

The dining room is furnished with a Sheraton sideboard with brass gallery flanked by matching wing chairs, an antique English hunt table and a curio cabinet with a jade collection.

The kitchen and breakfast area are bright with color accents taken from the Fleur de Lis wallpaper.

"The Crowsnest," the Belvedere Island Victorian residence of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Clark was built in the 1890s. Original architectural details have been preserved providing a background for fine old things. An antique dealer, Mrs. Clark has furnished the home throughout with 18th Century American and English country furniture and Oriental rugs.

IN THE LIVING room antique wing chairs flank the fireplace. Next to the roll top desk is a 15th Century Spanish coffer. At the bay window provocative mermaids from a ship's prow symbolize giving and taking from the sea.

The adjacent solarium is furnished in Bar Harbor wicker. The Victorian hatrack is of California redwood.

Dominating the dining room is a Welsh oak and satinwood cupboard. The narrow dining room table is French, the rush seated chairs are English and the Queen Anne corner cupboard is American. A collection of Imari dishes is displayed.

Mrs. Lauren Nowell, an antique authority, will be at "The Crowsnest" to explain the history of its furnishings.

THE COUNTRY style kitchen of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Clark's Belvedere Island home generates warmth through use of oak cupboards, an old butcher's block a meat rack and wooden floors. A French milk cupboard filled with Dutch Mastrick china and a table of chestnut is in the breakfast area.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Ex-Wife Is A Doper, But He Can't Get Custody Of Child

DEAR HELEN:

A new California law makes it easier for divorced fathers to get custody of their young children. That's what it says. Here are the facts, in my case — and I don't think I'm very unusual:

My ex-wife and one of her lovers were arrested twice on dope charges, but got off each time. She ODed last year on 50 reds. When she came to in the hospital she said next time she'd kill our child too. Later she was hospitalized for hepatitis. She has been going to a psychiatrist, but hasn't changed. Naturally, she is fired from every job she takes — she just doesn't show up for work.

Our 5-year-old daughter has seen her mother smoking pot, taking dope, and drunk in bed with two different guys. One of my ex-wife's lovers tried to molest the child, and she is aware of it. She has been with five guys in one year, and she spends her support money on them, not on our daughter. They live with relatives who take on most of the child care. Many times, however, my daughter is left alone when the family is out.

I know all these things, but proving them to a judge is something else. He spends about five minutes on the case, hears the mother and her relatives, and my lawyer doesn't have a chance. I've spent over three thousand dollars already trying to win my child (who wants to live with me).

I am a plumber, earning $230 a week take-home pay for 36 hours. I have a three-bedroom, two-bath home, all fenced in. My daughter would have a stable, happy life here. What chance has she got with her mother?

People say, "Wait till she ODs again and maybe you'll then get your daughter." But it may be too late. I know she is a doper — that is why we divorced.

Every word I've written is completely true. Is this justice? — R.L.

DEAR R.:

Justice this isn't! If these charges can be proved — and surely you have witnesses — I can't believe the court would rule against you again.

Here's a suggestion: Why don't you write to the State Assemblyman from your district. He is one of those who approved the "divorced father-equality" bill you mentioned, and maybe, just maybe, he'll go to bat for you. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I work for a company which sends out free recipe booklets. Here is a suggestion: people writing for free offers can save on postage and envelopes by using a post card or index card. (It saves us opening envelopes at the company.) If a box top or coupon is required, that can be taped to the card.

If money is to be enclosed, why not make your envelope from a page of an old magazine? It's easy, personally economical and socially ecological. — B.F.

READERS:

To make envelopes from magazine pages, select those with more pictures than printing, cut your pattern from a spread-out envelope, and use a white address sticker in the proper place. These provide unusual and decorative additions to your stationery boxes. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I think you were wrong in predicting that half (or even a few) of your readers would take the dog's side when his master fed him expensive steak bought with food stamps. (This because the grocer wouldn't give dog food for stamps.)

Now I love dogs, and no dog should go hungry, but steak? We don't even buy steak for our children, on food stamps. We're lucky if we can have hamburger and weiners — and we eat a lot of beans.

The dog would have been just as full on a pint of cottage cheese, or some canned beans. His owner was just taking a stab at the establishment instead of considering himself lucky to get food stamps. — MOTHER OF FIVE TEENS

DEAR MOTHER:.

You're right — I was wrong. So far no one has taken the dog's side. — H.

Got a problem? An adult subject for discussion? A fun idea? You can talk it over in her column if you write to Helen Bottel, care of the Independent-Journal.

Stripes On Ties Mean Something

Something you probably never knew about neckties before: Leon Tirsch of Superba Cravats, Rochester, N.Y., reports that the lines found on the lining of most neckties really mean something. Five stripes and it is a very heavy lining to be used with thin silk. One stripe and you have a lightweight lining for wear with heavy wool outershells.

The price of the tie is not determined by the stripes of the inner lining but by the quality and design of the outer fabrics.

ART REVIEW

The Visting Simon Collection

By ADA GARFINKEL

SAN FRANCISCO — How forunate for residents of the Bay Area that the combined wealth and aesthetic wisdom of industrialist-art collector Norton Simon — a modern-day Medici of the arts — has been brought to our midst at the California Palace of the Legion of Honor.

On a year-long loan, the exhibit of 63 French paintings and sculptures from the vast Simon collection represents the most important French art of the last three centuries.

According to collector Simon, a resident of Southern California, bringing the great art of other nations to this country may "improve communication at the individual, national and international level."

Simon's opinion is that "art... can take people and open them up in a unique way... to look at themselves, which is important, since one of the prime problems in society is the need for introspection... to see others with greater sensitivity and insight."

The paintings, some of them more than 300 years old, are in a remarkable state of preservation and freshness.

Whether glowing with opulence in the Baroque portraits by Largilliere and Rigaud, in the rococo insouciance of Fragonard, the naturalism of Daumier and Chardin, the romanticism of Delacroix or the neoclassic perfectionism of Ingres, these paintings reflect the changing political and social currents and spheres of influence of their period.

Too, the shift from studio painting to the study of nature in "plein-air" is represented by Corot, the originator of this procedure. It also is reflected by Courbet and Daubigny and by the great Impressionist painters Monet, Renoir, Pissarro, Sisley and Lepine, whose paintings reflect the influences of scientific developments and new concepts of time and motion.

And the greatest innovators of all are represented here — Manet, Cezanne, Gaugin — who changed the whole concept of seeing and painting, doing away with the duality of background-foreground and creating a single picture plane relating to our own immediacy of perception.

Many of these paintings have never been shown publicly before. Others have been previously exhibited at the Metropolitan Museum in New York and the National Gallery.

Resounding echoes of praise will linger long after this exhibit is over. No single visit can suffice to absorb the magnificent Rodin larger-than-life-size sculptures — they will remain at the Legion of Honor for three years — nor the sensuous miniature Maillol bronzes, the singular vision of Rousseau, the breath-taking paintings by Degas, and many, many others.

This exhibit is open to the public without charge daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The museum, the only all French-art museum in the U.S., is in Lincoln Park, Clement Street at 34th Avenue.

Corps Of Engineers Will Hold Hearing On Hahn Fill Permit

The Corps of Engineers will hold a hearing on Ernest W. Hahn Inc.'s application to fill 69 acres of Corte Madera land east of Highway 101 for a regional shopping center on June 5 at 7:30 p.m. in the town recreation center.

Announcing the hearing, Col. J. L. Lammie, district engineer, said a Department of the Army permit is required for the work because the area to be filled includes 29 acres of land below the mean high water level, which is within corp jurisdiction.

The town council voted April 24 to go ahead with a redevelopment project in support of Hahn's multimillion-dollar Marin Mall. The development cannot proceed until the fill permit is granted.

Hahn originally applied last September to place one million cubic yards of fill on the shopping center site, but the mall's siting was relocated to leave 32 acres of marshland as wildlife habitat north of the site, and the amount of fill has been reduced.

Lammie said Hahn has applied to place 330,000 cubic yards of imported and compacted fill, plus 300,000 to 400,000 cubic yards of imported fill material to be used as a temporary "surcharge." The surcharge would remain in place for approximately one year, then be removed and taken to "some other land disposal area."

The 69-acre site to be filled includes 24 acres of unfilled land, half of it grass, marsh plants, salt marsh and "degenerated" salt marsh.

Col. Lammie said verbal statements will be heard, but for accuracy of the record, statements should be submitted in writing, in quadruplicate. Written statements may be handed to the presiding officer at the meeting, or may be mailed beforehand to Col. Lammie at: U.S. Army Engineer District, San Francisco, Corps of Engineers, 100 McAllister Street, San Francisco 94102.

Copies of the environmental impact report on the redevelopment project are available for inspection at town hall. Documents, maps and other exhibits relating to Hahn's fill permit application are available for review in Room 533 of the corps offices at the McAllister Street address.

Cease-Fire Bombing Costs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. bombing in Indochina in the first two months after the Jan. 27 Vietnam cease-fire has cost taxpayers $250 million to $260 million, the Pentagon reports.

The figures cover February and March.

Spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim said yesterday that $100 million was spent on bombing of Laos from Jan. 27 until the Laotian cease-fire Feb. 22.

He said $150 million to $160 million was spent on bombing in Cambodia, which is still going on. The bombing there was light in February but built up beginning in March.

Novato Council Can't Reach Decision On One Subdivision

The Novato City Council last night could not decide whether a seven-lot subdivision at the end of Alice Street would increase possible flooding of nearby dwellings, so it sent the tentative map back to the Novato Planning Commission.

Developer John Novak had sumitted plans for the seven-lot subdivision on 2.62 acres. Residents of the area protested the proposed subdivision because the proposed fill would make it higher than their lots.

Frank Schuck of 722 Alice Street pointed out to the council that when the adjacent ponding area gets full of water, the drainage from their homes would have no place to go past the proposed subdivision, if it were two feet higher than their property.

"We must solve the legal problems of the drainage before the subdivision goes in," said Councilman Dorothy P. Young. She also said she favored six lots instead of seven.

Councilman George C. Quesada favored the six-lot subdivision, with one of them designated duplex.

The Novato City Council also:

REPORT — Voted to require an environmental impact report on a proposed 44-unit apartment complex at the end of Los Robles Drive from developer Joseph Wilner.

CENSUS — Heard a report from City Mgr. Charles A. Brown that Novato now officially has 35,300 population, approximately double the 17,800 when the city incorporated.

TAX — Passed an ordinance placing a 1 per cent tax on the gross receipts of all types of vending machines in the city.

SALARIES — Passed an ordinance increasing the council salaries from $150 to $200 per month, effective when the new council is seated.

FEES — Passed an ordinance requiring a $25 filing fee for a candidate running for city council. In the past there has been no filing fee. The vote was 3 to 2 with Mayor Fred F. Ruegg and Quesada against.

TELEGRAM — Voted to send a telegram of encouragement and congratulation to Lori Gieleghem, the California Junior Miss from Novato now competing in the National contest in Atlanta, Ga.

STREETS — Asked city staff for recommendations on remaining streets which change names when crossing another street, such as DeLong Avenue which becomes Diablo Avenue when it crosses Highway 101 and Seventh Street which becomes Tamalpais Avenue when it crosses Novato Boulevard.

MEETINGS — Approved meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow with the planning commission on the general plan; set 8 p.m. May 23 for the final council hearing on the general plan; set 8 p.m., May 29 to review the capital improvement program, and 7:30 p.m., June 2 to tour the projects proposed in the capital improvement program.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned in memory of Michele Kuhn, 10, daughter of the former president of the San Marin Improvement Association and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Kuhn of 363 San Luis Way. Michele was killed earlier in the evening in a bicycle-auto accident at San Marin and San Andreas drives.

Strawberry Rec Budget Is Presented

A proposed preliminary budget for the Strawberry Recreation District of $88,601, down slightly from this year's $89,595 budget, has been submitted to district directors.

Directors Monday adjourned to 8 p.m. tomorrow at the recreation building to discuss the proposed spending program, according to David E. Roberts, district recreation manager.

Under the terms of Senate Bill 90, the district is limited to its current tax rate of 57 cents per $100 assessed valuation. Property taxes are expected to contribute $68,792 to next year's budget, with the remainder coming from various fees, said Roberts.

Budget categories and the amounts proposed are loan repayment, $22,000; gardening service, $6,800; resurfacing of tennis courts, $5,250; legal fees, $5,100; utilities, $3,500; insurance, $2,500; maintenance, $1,500; capital outlay, $1,200, and athletic equipment, $1,000.

Roberts said the budget proposes raising his salary from $10,500 to $11,500, a 10 per cent increase. He said he got no raise last year.

Directors Monday also discussed two posble bond issues, one to buy open siace and the other to complete the community building and pay off the loan. Roberts said the board appropriated $100 to survey Strawberry residents on their attitudes toward such bond issues.

The Strawberry Recreation District board also:

MARINA — In response to a letter from the Richardson Bay Sanitary District, voted to support a proposed ordinance imposing strict controls on sewer service to marinas.

PARK — Heard that the Strawberry Town and Country Village Shopping Center has agreed to delete six parking spaces from plans for a professional building at Belvedere Drive and Reed Boulevard to allow room for a minipark.

COURTS — Awarded a $4,847 contract to Mallot and Peterson-Grundy Co. of San Francisco to resurface two tennis courts.

Bell Makes List Of Most Wanted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Herman Bell, a suspect in a bank robbery and the fatal shooting of two New York City policemen, has been added to the FBI's "10 Most Wanted Fugitives" list. The FBI described him as a flashy dresser with a long list of aliases.

A 25-year-old Negro, Bell has been indicted on two counts of first degree murder in connection with the shooting on May 21, 1971, of two police officers who had responded to a call for aide at a city housing project. He also has been charged in the robbery of a Bank of America branch office in San Francisco Sept. 20, 1971.

Knifing Blamed On Personal Squabble

A "personal squabble" which escalated into retaliation between Mexican and black inmates was behind three stabbings yesterday at San Quentin Prison, officials said today.

The trouble started at 12:10 p.m., according to Associate Warden James W. L. Park, when a black inmate, Willie Ray Smith, attempted to break up a fight between two men who had a "personal beef."

Smith, serving a 10-year-to-life term for robbery in Los Angeles County, received a minor puncture wound in the fracas, Park said. The 28-year-old convict was reported in good condition today.

Later in the afternoon, two mess hall workers were attacked, apparently by young blacks retaliating against Mexican inmates for Smith's stabbing, Park said.

He said a guard who was leaving the south hall turned and saw heavy metal trays flying through the air. The officer sounded the alarm, Park said, and a warning shot was fired into the air.

When the confusion was over, officers found that James Alcarez, 25, and John Natale, 28, had been injured and they confiscated an 11-inch long prison-made knife and a three-and-a-half-foot stanchion pipe.

Alcarez, serving time for second degree murder from Fresno, suffered a stab wound in his chest, and Natale, a robber from Los Angeles County, had a broken arm and a stab wound in his leg.

They also were reported in good condition today.

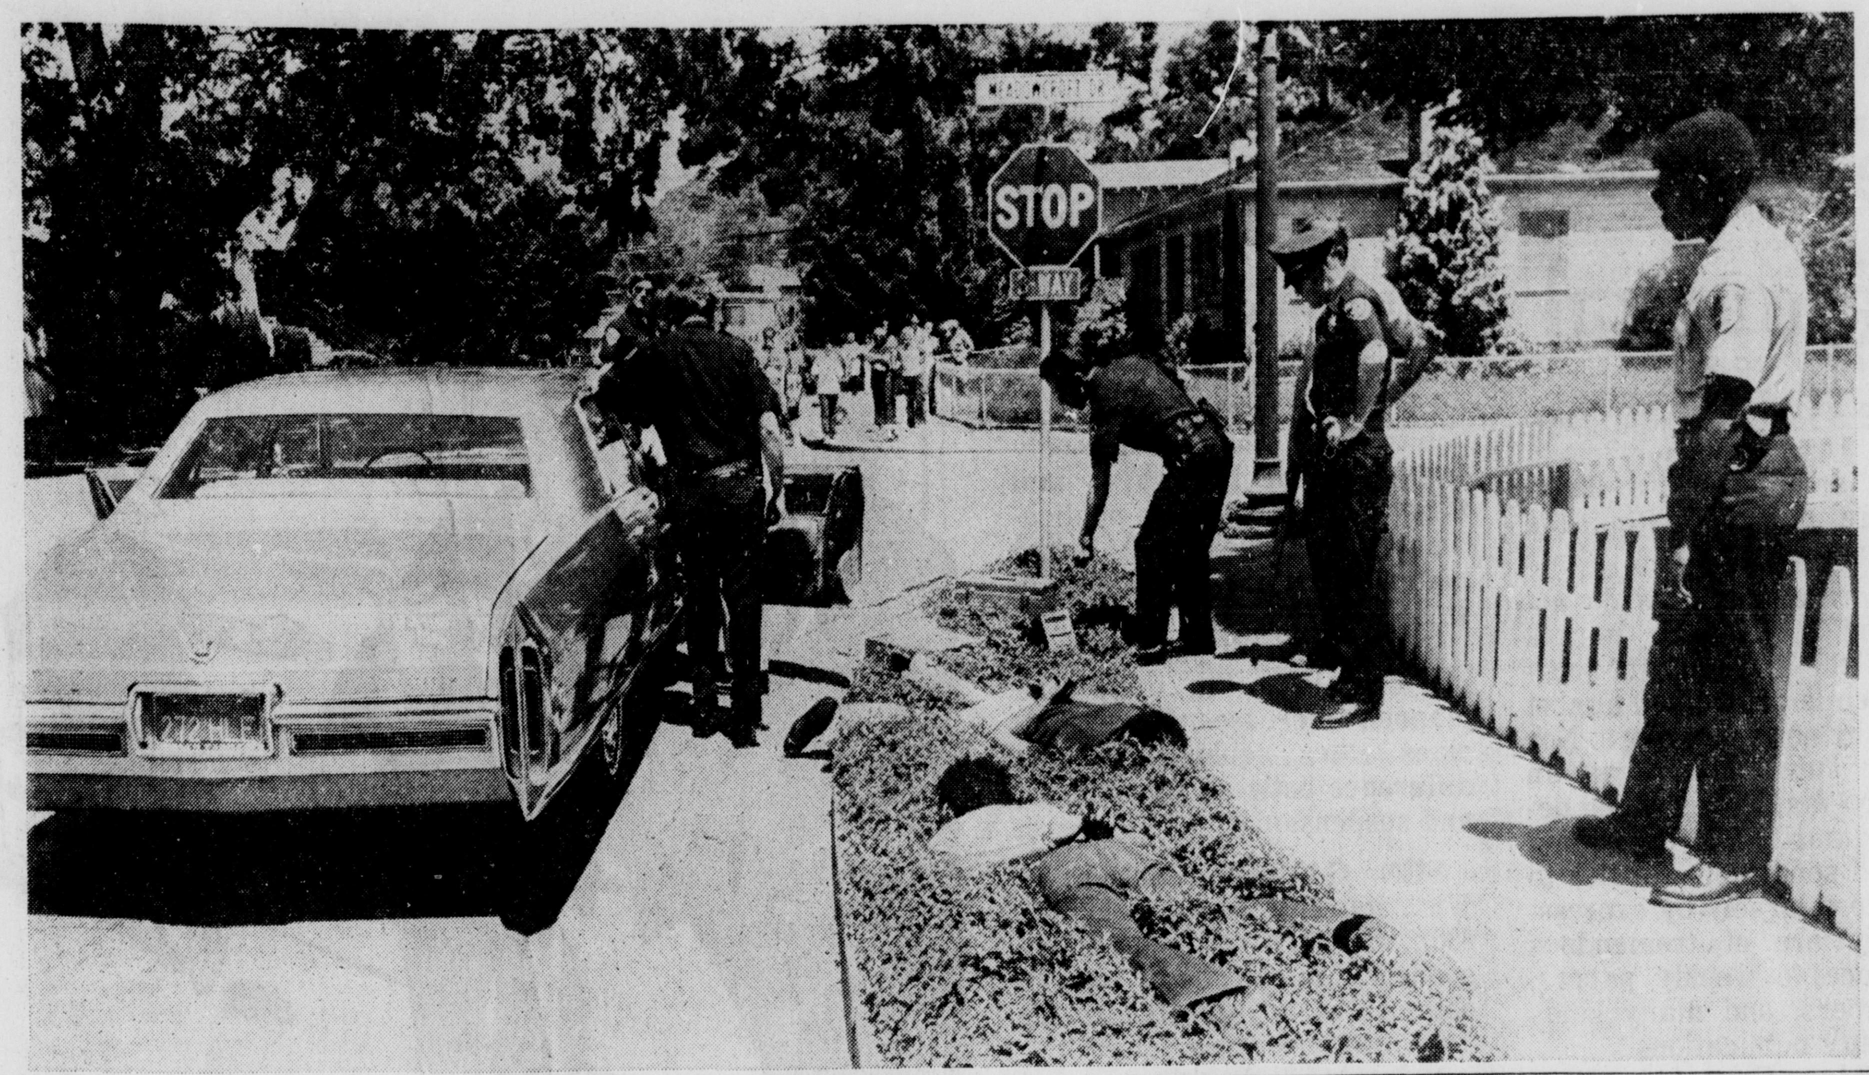
Park said one suspect was locked up in connection with the dining hall incident.

In addition, he said, because of the "tense situation between the black and the Mexicans," the huge east block and D section were locked up today.

Only about half of San Quentin's 2,200 inmates were allowed to go to prison jobs or assignments, and the men were fed in small groups.

"It's ridiculous when a person squabble leads to this serious trouble," Park said, but he said the lock-up situation will remain "until things cool off."

Yesterday's stabbings brought to 24 the number of such attacks on inmates at the prison this year.



LOOT RECOVERED BY POLICE

Captives Johnnie Earl Knight, 32, of 99 Cole Drive, Marin City, and Johnnie Earl Harris, 24, of 327 Drake Avenue, Marin City, lie sprawled in the ivy (above) at Broadmoor Avenue and Meadowcroft Drive in San Anselmo. A Marin County sheriff's deputy and San Anselmo police halted their Cadillac there after the armed robbery of the First Federal Savings Bank in Fairfax at 12:36 p.m. yesterday. Fairfax Police Chief Charles A. Grasso (below) holds aloft bags containing a chrome pistol said to have been used in the robbery and $2,601 in bills police said were taken from the firm. Most of the money was found in the front seat of the car, although $760 was found on one of the men during a search (bottom), according to police. The Marin City men were booked into Marin County Jail and held for federal agents to appear before a federal magistrate today or tomorrow.

Feud Said Cause Of Dance Stabbing

Two stabbings at Sonoma State College last weekend may have been the result of a simmering feud within the Mexican-American community of Sonoma County, according to the sheriff's department.

The men were stabbed during a fight at a dance at the college Saturday. Alfredo Valencia, 23, of 830 Beverly Drive, Rohnert Park, and Carlos Pasillas, 36, of Santa Rosa, were treated at Community Hospital of Sonoma County for superficial wounds of the arms and hands.

Sheriff's deputies detained four persons for questioning at the sheriff's department in Santa Rosa, but said charges have not been brought for lack of evidence.

Lt. John Hes said witnesses questioned at the scene told widely conflicting stories of what had occurred. He said the dispute seemed to stem from a lingering feud within the Chicano community in the northern part of Sonoma County and had no relation to the college or the dance. Neither wounded man was a student there.

Quick Thinker Foils Thieves

A Mill Valley man's quick thinking foiled an attempted armed robbery early today, the Marin City sheriff's substation reported.

Deputies said the man, whom they identified only as Joe Sherman, picked up two hitchhikers shortly after midnight at the southbound Highway 101 ramp in San Rafael.

He drove them to Marin City at their request, but as the pair was leaving the car, one of the men produced a gun and demanded Sherman's wallet.

Sherman quickly jammed the car into reverse and backed away, deputies said. They described the hitchhikers as black, wearing dark clothing and knit caps.

Open Space Land Pact Completed

The Marinwood Community Services District board last night announced it has completed negotiations with two landowners for the purchase of 82 acres of open space for $132,500.

The land, located in the western portion of the community, is the first major purchase to be made with funds from a $600,000 bond issue approved by voters last January, according to Genevieve T. Bolding, district manager.

The land consists of four parcels of about 20 acres each opposite Loganberry Drive and stretches west to the county farm, she said. Landowners Aubrey Holman, who owns three of the parcels, and Paul Scheiner, who owns the other parcel, agreed to sell their land as a package, she said.

The board offered $130,000 for the land, but accepted a counter offer of $132,500, according to Mrs. Bolding.

Postal Service Versus The Weekly Press

Independent-Journal
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
26 SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 9, 1973 EDITORIAL PAGE

The United States Postal Service is not part of the Nixon administration. It is an independent, autonomous government corporation, which replaced the Post Office Department a couple of years ago.

Therefore, it cannot be charged that the USPS is part of what many editors have seen as an administration "war on the press."

NEVERTHELESS, the U.S. Postal Service is out to make things tough for one section of the press — by rate increases.

For nearly a century and a half, periodicals have benefited from a subsidy in the form of cheap postage. As long ago as 1836, the U.S. postal rate structure was set up to carry newspapers and pamphlets for one-half cent while letters cost two cents. In a new rate structure in 1863, weekly newspapers were put on a weight basis, at five cents per quarter pound. In 1879, second-class postage was established for all periodicals, with a still greater advantage in rates.

The intention in these subsidies was to encourage dissemination of news and information through cheap postage. The United States was following a precedent set by Great Britain and other countries in so doing.

THE U.S. POSTAL Service, committed to the idea of making the mail service pay its own way and apparently uninterested in either dissemination of news or improvement of service, hiked second class rates by 33⅓ per cent last year. A second increase of 27 per cent is scheduled for July. More are planned within the next three years.

These rate increases do not mean much to daily papers such as the Independent-Journal, which is distributed almost entirely by newspaperboys. Nor do they have too great an impact on magazines which depend primarily on newsstand sales and send their bundles to distributers largely by express. But they are of tremendous importance to weekly papers, farm papers, and many kinds of specialty publications.

Sen. Alan Cranston, in a speech last week to the National Newspaper Association, declared the second-class rate increases threaten survival of many papers which uncover "the local Watergate scandals" in towns across the United States.

In many communities, he pointed out, "they are the only source of local news — and they are often the only publication devoted exclusively to the betterment of the community in which they publish."

For such small papers, mailing cost is a big item. The planned increases in second-class rates could mean the difference between continuance and suspension.

SEN. GAYLORD Nelson, D-Wis., has introduced a bill (S. 630), of which Cranston is co-sponsor, to roll back second-class rates to those before the July, 1972, one-third raise.

Nelson's bill deserves support from those who believe that preserving a free press is more important than having the postal service deficit-free.

Recall Election Cost Must Be Shared By All

We are determined to conduct the recall campaign in Corte Madera on the issues, but rumors have made it difficult to do so. For the record I would like to lay to rest two of the more distracting rumors.

First, persons signing the recall petitins for Councilmen Wagstaff, Norville and Colthurst are not liable for the costs of the special election or for any civil action.

Secondly, a special recall election will not cost $50,000.

When sufficient signatures have been collected, the State Election Code provides for the holding of a special election, which would be paid for by the Town of Corte Madera, or, indirectly, all taxpayers, not just those who signed the petitions. Town Clerk Betty Behel has estimated that the cost of a special election would be $3,000 to $3,500. The last municipal election in Corte Madera cost $1,050.

I invite anyone who is concerned with the truth of these statements to verify them by checking with the County Elections Office and Town Clerk Behel.

College Expands While Enrollment Declines

Dr. Martin Griffin is overwhelmingly elected to the Marin Municipal Water District board as a representative of conservation and limited growth forces in Marin.

Yet, paradoxically, three candidates who favor building a second college campus in Novato are elected to the College of Marin Board.

All predictions are for a dminishing number of school children in the county. Some schools have already been phased out; the closing of Hamilton Field will mean even fewer residents of school age. The county and cities are placing moratoriums on new residential building, are zoning to decrease densities, and have under consideration master plans specifically aimed at reducing population growth. However, despite this direction of basic countywide planning, and despite the overwhelming defeat of a bond issue to build the Novato campus, the College of Marin board of trustees are going ahead with their multi-million dollar building program for an ever dwindling number of local high school graduates.

Who, then, will benefit by the building of the Novato campus? Certain commercial interests in Novato, and more and more students from out of state, and even out of the United States, who are attracted by the surplus of classroom seats — not to mention food and housing subsidies — at our "free" (to the students, not to the property owners) community college. . .

Complacency About Watergate Disturbing

The current White House scandal has so many shocking and criminal implications which are, quite literally, world-shaking that all U.S. citizens still capable of moral indignation should by now be vocal with outrage.

Nothing about the "Watergate horror" distresses me so much as the number of my fellow Americans who, although annoyed at the mess, still dismiss it as "just politics" or believe the story was blown-up out of all proportion by the media.

According to one national poll, at least 50 per cent of the Americans who have heard about Watergate believes that the president of our country had guilty knowledge of some of the criminal activities committed in his name: burglary, bugging, obstruction of justice, perjury — to name only four.

If we, as privileged citizens of an almost 200-year-old working republic, became cynically complacent about "those crooks in politics," we deserve to be governed by crooks.

Another Bouquet For Jeremy Dwyer

May we suggest a bouquet for one of our San Rafael citizens, Mr. R. Jeremy Dwyer, the noted poet, artist, and philosopher, who has just been honored by the City of San Rafael for his many years of voluntary service to young people and to his community.

Mr. Dwyer was named Big Brother of the year for 1973 (although he is not a member) and has also received numerous honors and commendations from other groups and organizations.

Mr. Dwyer has retired from his work with young people in order to return to writing poetry and painting. However, we now find Mr. Dwyer tutoring an eager group of young people who want to reach other young people via radio. Mr. Dwyer was asked by KTIM to tutor these young people in a method of gleaning the truth and to give young people the right and chance to speak their minds on various topics of their choosing, in the hope of involving other young people.

We would like to give Mr. Dwyer a bouquet for taking the time (once again) from his creative career in order to give young people a chance to be heard; and we think this would be a pleasant addition to the honors and awards he has received after all the work he has already done.

Ad For Pornographic Movies Protested

I urgently recommend that you devote one of your upcoming editorials to a clarification of your policy regarding the acceptance of motion-picture advertising. The explanation for this somewhat unusual request is my feeling of indignation and revulsion everytime I see the ad for "Deep Throat" and its "co-hit", "Spread for Action" that you are currently running.

Is it possible that you are unaware of the fact that "Deep Throat" has been repeatedly categorized as to steeped in filth and sexual perversion as to be socially degrading and completely irredemable artistically — or that this is one of the very few parts of the country in which legal authorities have not moved in to prevent its showing? I would like to give you the benefit of the doubt — but the working of the ad you are running essentially implies that legal action still remains a good possibility that could curtail its continance.

I can't help wondering if you aren't, therefore, the pecuniary "captive" of the "well-heeled" entrepreneurs that are using advertising media like yours to continue "lining their pockets". Or is it rather that you fail to see that there is any valid distinction between the right to freedom of expression and the abuse thereof? If so, you may find it enlightening to learn that the most profitable pornographic movies shown in the Bay Area last year were those that dealt with child molestation, gang rape, torture and bestiality! Does that tell you anything?. . .

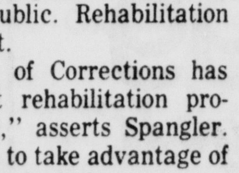
Adult Authority Turns To Tougher Parole Rules



By RUS WALTON

After several years of messing around on the fringes of sociology, the California Adult Authority is becoming tougher and more conservative about paroling prisoners.

Joseph Spangler, the authority's executive director, puts it this way: "We are taking a closer, more careful look at those prison inmates who are legally eligible for parole. If it's a case of reservation — not being certain or convinced — then the decision goes to the safety of the citizen on the street, and not so much to the prisoner, as has been the case in the past."

Spangler confirms that the board is tightening conditions of parole that had been broadened in recent years.

"Some who might have been paroled a few years ago, the board — based on experience and looking at such cases — now find just not safe to let out."

IN THE PAST, he admits, the parole board adopted a less severe posture based on pressures from the Department of Corrections and others to experiment with new programs. Some of these programs have not worked. They are being dropped.

The authority gets pressures from every direction —left, right, soft, hard. Spangler acknowledges, however, that the concerns of such tough law men as Los Angeles Police Chief Ed Davis and Sacramento Sheriff Duane Lowe influenced the board's harder posture.

Some legislators — namely Sen. Bill Richardson, R-Arcadia, and Assemblyman John Briggs, R-Fullerton, have also persistently pressed for tighter parole procedures.

ARE THERE SOME legislators not so concerned about public safety? Even to the point of taking chances when releasing prisoners?

Spangler replies that there are some who do not believe anyone belongs in prison. Some legislators who feel that being locked in prison is damaging and not helpful; that prisons do not rehabilitate.

The first purpose of prison, of course, is to protect the public. Rehabilitation comes second to that.

"The Department of Corrections has some of the finest rehabilitation programs in the world," asserts Spangler. "But the inmate has to take advantage of them. Some do, some don't."

THE PAROLE BOARD is also requiring more precise and stringent reports on prisoners already on parole.

"We had eliminated 'association' as a condition of parole. So, when a parolee associated with another individual for illicit or illegal purposes, that was not a reportable item. Now it is," said Spangler.

One problem the parole board faces is that state prisons now contain a tougher population.

"Ten years ago," recounts Spangler, "16 per cent of the prison population was for armed robbery. Now that's between 35 and 40 per cent. You add to that the homicides and the assaults with a deadly weapon and rape by force and violence and burglary in the first degree —and that gets you up to 60-70 per cent of the total prison population."

AS A RESULT of the Authority's tougher stance, there are between 1,000 and 1,200 more prison inmates than the Department of Corrections had anticipated. Recently, a budget augmentation of $6.5 million was requested.

Several prisons that were being closed or phased back will probably be revitalized. The Conservation Center in Susanville will be used as a special vocational training institution. San Quentin's south block will be reopened and the planned 1975 closure of that facility probably delayed.

So much for one experiment in sociology.

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

To combat the energy crisis you'll have to take your foot off the gas, put your nose to the grindstone, and burn the candle at both ends.

What we lazy Americans need to encourage our use of candlepower is an electric gadget to light the candles and a battery-powered fan to help us blow 'em out.

Some folks will have to learn how to operate hand-power toothbrushes. With the brush held firmly against the teeth, shake your head in a "no no" manner while jumping up and down.

One sure way for a householder to cut off the consumption of gas and electricity is to forget about paying his utility bill.

Clearing Of Air On Watergate Can't Be Accomplished In A Day

WASHINGTON — It is evident that for some time the political weather around 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue will be: cloudy with intermittent storms.

This means that what President Nixon most hoped for will not come about. He had hoped that his "no-whitewash-at-the-White-House" speech would produce an early clearing of the skies and that the long shadow cast by Watergate would soon be lifted.

Restoration of trust cannot be accomplished so rapidly. One reason is that more crimes keep coming to light. It now develops that G. Gordon Liddy and E. Howard Hunt apparently had a practice run at break-in and burglary before the Watergate break-in and burglary. They allegedly stole private papers to see if they could strengthen the government's case against Daniel Ellsberg for stealing private papers.

Thus there is complicity on the part of the White House staff in two crimes, not just one, and there is complicity in impeding justice since presidential aides, after learning that Liddy and Hunt had illegally entered the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist, did not take the initiative to report it.

OBVIOUSLY IT IS going to take the prosecutors, the grand jury and the Senate Watergate committee many months before the whole story unfolds.

Although Mr. Nixon has made substantial progress in showing that he is dealing surgically with the Watergate infection, it is inescapable that the administration must continue to work under a cloud until all is out — and all is cleaned out.

The beginning is encouraging.

The President took the hard and painful decision to make a clean sweep of staff. It had to be done.

There are early signs of a more open and co-operative White House, and both the President and Vice President Agnew are admitting that for too long they have been unwisely feuding with the press.

THERE ARE SOME horrifying ironies in how the top White House staff reacted after Liddy and Hunt disclosed that they had entered and stolen property from the offices of Ellsberg's psychiatrist. They were not fired for committing a crime; they were told "not to do it again."

It is on the record that Liddy and Hunt were assigned by the White House to make a "psychiatric profile" of Ellsberg "to determine his habits, mental attitudes, motives and so forth."

After learning that they had committed burglary, which to them seemed a normal thing to do in behalf of the White House, it almost seems the minimum thing to do would have been to order a "psychiatric profile" of Liddy and Hunt "to determine their habits, mental attitudes, motives and so forth." Instead, as self-confessed burglars, they were assigned to the Committee for the Re-Election of the President to carry on.

Probably then-Atty. Gen. John Mitchell was not informed that he was working with criminals when Liddy et al proposed the Watergate break-in to him on three different occasions. But even after the attorney general had rejected it twice and they came back to urge it a third time, he said later that he believed at the time that his third oral rejection of the proposed crime would be enough to prevent it.

Mighty strange!

Very Thin Cats Contribute Many Millions Unwillingly

WASHINGTON — The disclosure that Mr. Nixon's re-election crew destroyed the records on millions of dollars of contributions from very fat cats has produced outcries and indictments from the general public and the Justice Department. But not from the fat cats themselves.

They were paying in advance for something — perhaps something unstated and nebulous, something the rest of us may never learn about, but nevertheless they had ample precedent to assume that when payoff time came, they would make a handsome return on a sound investment. It did not matter exactly where their cash was laundered and how eventually spent. Like so many people in the news lately, they would rather not know the details.

YET THERE IS another class of Americans that makes contributions that dwarf even the President's re-election fund, and do it not voluntarily but because they have to if they want to live under a roof, stay warm, buy the necessities of life and carry on routine personal business.

Individually, these are very skinny cats indeed — the entire buying, renting, telephone-talking, check-writing population of the United States.

Unlike the anonymous big contributors to the President's campaign, these citizens would like very much to know what happens to the money they must post as "security deposits" and pay into escrow accounts, and the billions they maintain in checking accounts.

They provide the banks and other firms with the principal to earn vast amounts in dividends and interest. The institutions collect those earnings while the individual owners of the money never see a cent of profit on it.

THE VENERABLE Wright Patman, D-Texas, chairman of the House Banking Committee and a man most bankers wish had never left Texarkana, is urging banks to start paying interest not only on checking accounts but also on the escrow accounts they build from monthly payments accompanying mortgage installments. Lending institutions accumulate that money monthly, but pay it out for property taxes and insurance only annually or semiannually.

Nonexperts are more familiar with so-called security deposits required by telephone and utility companies and by landlords. These may not seem important amounts considered individually — from a few dollars here to a month's rent on an expensive apartment there. But multiplied by the number of depositors they become a major, little-discussed investment fund for the firms holding them.

On the early evidence, your radical friends might say "The System" is working to preserve this system. In Washington, a federal district judge just said that three public-interest lawyers could not bring a class-action suit to require local savings and loan associations to pay interest on mortgage escrow accounts.

BUT "THE SYSTEM" also is working in the other direction. Here and there, a competitive bank has decided that it will attract more depositors if it advertises that it pays interest on checking accounts. And while the U.S. Savings and Loan League has completed a study predictably showing the administrative handling of escrow accounts costs lenders more than those accounts earn, some banks, nevertheless, have decided it is good business to start paying interest on them.

In Syracuse, for example, one bank has discovered a "moral obligation to the consumer" to pay its mortgagees 4.5 per cent on their tax and insurance escrow accounts. Its discovery may relate to the fact that the Rockefeller administration was backing a bill to require escrow interest payments.

Up to now, the average borrower whose taxes are collected by the bank as part of his payments, has not realized that by Wright Patman's figures, he loses $800 in unpaid interest over the life of his mortgage. That information comes under the heading of a little learning, and as we were told long ago, a little learning can be a dangerous thing — to bankers, landlords, et al.

Teachers Identify Reason Why Johnny Can't Read

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The California Association of Teachers of English calls attention in its spring newsletter to a seldom-mentioned reason why Johnny can't read.

In an article entitled "Pre-Adolescents Need Reading Choices," the newsletter observes:

"The materials in the state adopted readers and in state texts adopted in the various subject fields . . . are unlikely vehicles for building pleasure in reading."

IN THE ENDLESS debates over the teaching of reading, virtually all the attention has been given to methods: word recognition ("look-say") versus a wide assortment of Phonetic and phonetically oriented approaches. But little has been said about what children are given to read.

Whether or not Dick and Jane and their successors introduce vocabulary scientifically or reinforce word recognition, they are not likely to capture the interest of boys and girls. The child who enters school eager to learn to read may soon wonder whether it is worthwhile bothering, since the books that are given him are not worth reading.

One of the few educators to face up to this is Max Rafferty, former California state superintendent who wrote in "What They Are Doing To Your Children" (1963):

"Did you ever stop to wonder why a child learns to read? Not to please the teacher. Not even to please Mom and Pop. He reads to please himself. He has to be interested enough in what is happening on page one to want to tackle the new words on page two, and so on through the book. I submit that for more than a decade now we have been systematically emasculating the children's books until no child worth his salt could conceivably be fascinated by anything that goes on inside their covers."

In the 10 years since Rafferty wrote that, readers have been revised to include "minority groups" in all the stories, and are now being revised some more to please the women's libbers. But little or no effort has been made to make the stories interesting.

THE CALIFORNIA Association of Teachers of English, aware of this, and aware also that texts are not the products of first-class writers anyhow, proposes to attack the problem through greater use of school and public libraries.

"Teachers and parents must come to an understanding of the role of leisure reading in materials of the child's own choice," its newsletter says. "Leisure reading creates the reader."

A very small curtsey in this direction was made in "Criteria for Evaluating Instructional Materials in Literature, Kindergarten Through Grade Eight," submitted this week to the state Board of Education by a committee of the Curriculum Development and Supplemental Materials Commission.

Under "Nature and Functions of Content," it lists as No. 1: "Provide students with a literature program which will heighten personal interest in reading."

The rest of the five-page criteria is concerned with matters the committee apparently feels require greater emphasis.

At the same meeting, the state board also was presented with criteria for evaluating instructional materials in reading and in "English and related subjects," kindergarten through eighth grade. Neither of these even mentioned providing interesting material to encourage learning to read.

IN THE CLIMAX of a series of storyettes in "Off We Go With Stories," one of the California State Reading Series, two children and their father arrive home from a vacation trip. They hear a noise in a tree, and Mark (the boy) sees a squirrel stick its head out. The "adventure" concludes:

"Mark and Janet laughed. They thought their surprises were all over, but here was another surprise — right in their own backyard."

Recognizing that the Mark and Janet in the classroom may be something less than enraptured with such a sensational denouement (and with the similar vapidity which has gone before it), the California Association of Teachers of English suggests that the libraries step in to fill the void.

It does not suggest that the texts be junked in favor of something worth learning to read.

Pueblo's Skipper To Retire

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Former Pueblo Skipper Lloyd M. Bucher will retire June 1 after 22 years in the Navy, his wife Rose said today.

"We haven't decided on the future," she said. "We'll make some decisions after we return from a trip to Europe."

Mrs. Bucher was interviewed by telephone from Guam, where her Navy commander husband returned Monday after commanding an element of the U.S. minesweeper force clearing mines from North Vietnamese waters.

In the interview with the San Diego Evening Tribune, she expressed "mixed feelings" about Bucher's decision to retire. Bucher, 45, was commander of the Navy spy ship Pueblo when it was captured by a North Korean naval force Jan. 23, 1968.

The crew spent 11 months in captivity before being released. After a three-month court of inquiry, a panel of five admirals recommended that Bucher be tried by general court-martial for surrendering his ship. But Secretary of the Navy John Chafee ruled Bucher and his crew had "suffered enough."

None of the Pueblo crewmen was decorated for bravery despite what they described as barbaric treatment and testimony of heroism in the captivity.

The ordeal was presented accurately by a March 29 television documentary, "Pueblo" by the American Broadcasting Co., Mrs. Bucher said.

But Mrs. Bucher said she was unhappy with the portrayal of her by actress Mary Fickett.

Corte Maderans Favor Open Space

A survey of Corte Maderans shows the town evenly divided on the issue of the Ernest W. Hahn regional shopping center, heavily in favor of an open space bond election, to buy ridgetop and marsh lands, and vigorously opposed to more low and moderate income housing in the town.

The Corte Madera Town Meeting Monday gave the town council results of its community survey. A total of 3,317 questionnaires were completed by residents, said Patricia Rodrigues, chairman of the survey committee. The replies represented abut 69 oer cent of the 5,800 adults eligible to complete the forms, she said.

A total of 1,562 residents felt that the regional shopping center was the best use for the vacant land east of 101, while 1,318 were not in favor. On that subject 192 residents, had no opinion, and 145 didn't answer the question.

Asked how much they would be willing to pay for acquiring open space in Corte Madera, 1,033 persons said they'd pay $40 a year in taxes on a $40,000 home. Agreement was also registered by 576 who said they'd pay $20 a year, and another 589 who said they'd be willing to pay $10 a year for open space — 845 said they wouldn't support an open space bond measure.

In setting land acquisition priorities in the event an open space bond election was approved, the favorite choice was the 107-acre ridgetop between Tiburon and Corte Madera. Second was the triangular marsh of 21 acres near the Independent Learning Schools on Paradise Drive, and the third choice as the 90-acre Northridge dividing Corte Madera from Mill Valley.

Only 886 residents felt there would be additional moderate and low income housing in Corte Madera — 2,027 disagreed.

A majority of respondents felt that new housing in the town should be single-family houses only, and a similar majority favored slow growth, about 1 per cent a year.

Recent public hearings on redevelopment and the Hahn shopping center have indicated that the town is fairly evenly divided on the shopping center issue, and the results of the survey are not particularly surprising.

A feature of the survey — perhaps the most complete one a Marin small community ever attempted — is the picture it paints of a typical Corte Maderan.

Relying on the statistics, it shows him or her to be between 36 and 50 years old, owning a home, married, with some college education, in a household of two to three persons.

The typical Corte Madera family has an income between $15,000 and $30,000, owns two cars, the husband works in San Francisco or the Peninsula, travels to work by car, and the family does most of its shopping in Corte Madera.

The typical Corte Mderan, again according to the survey results, feels there's a need for better public transportation, and would go to work by bus if there were a good bus service.

He or she considers the existing Highway 101 crossover in Corte Madera unsafe for bicycles, pedestrians and children, and thinks there should be a shuttle bus service between East and West Corte Madera.

He or she is satisfied with the town's police and fire services, but favors pooling police, fire, recreation and street and sewer maintenance services with Larkspur.

The citizens were evenly divided on the question of whether the town council is responsive to the needs of its citizens, but only 789 persons felt communications between the town and its residents are adequate — 1,831 felt they weren't.

Communications could best be improved by a community newsletter, answered 2,453 residents.

The largest single response — 2,947 — was from residents who felt that official public hearings of the town council and planning commission should be held in a place large enough to seat everyone. . . in the last year public hearings in the town hall have been marked by overflows into the street, with residents sitting on the floor and jammed against the walls of the tiny council chambers.

Mountain Play Group Plans Hike, Picnic

A hike and picnic sponsored by the Mountain Play Association will be held May 20 from noon to sunset at the Mountain Theater in Mount Tamalpais State Park, according to Alice Hein, picnic coordinator.

The event will be to solicit public support for the continued use of the Mountain Theater with an eye to reviving the mountain play, suspended this year because of financial problems and lack of parking, Mrs. Hein said.

Organized hiking parties are scheduled to leave at 9:30 a.m. from three locations: the Mill Valley bus stop at Throckmorton and Miller avenues; the San Anselmo bus stop on Center Boulevard and the front of the College of Marin gymnasium in Kentfield.

Scheduled speakers are state Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, and county supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste. Volunteer community groups will provide entertainment. Hikers are asked to bring their own lunches.

Displaying At Bank

Oil paintings by Marin artists Charlotte Allison and Selma Maas are on display during May at the Redwood Bank in San Rafael.

Red Cross Seeks Disaster Funds

After spending $27 million for disaster relief in the first 10 months of the fiscal year, the American Red Cross has issued an appeal for contributions to its depleted disaster budget, according to Donald L. Johnson, Marin chapter chairman.

Contributions designated for disaster relief may be mailed to the Marin Red Cross Chapter, 712 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael. All contributions will be used solely for disaster relief, Johnson said.

Newsword Adventure

Scandals are probably as old as human society. The word "scandal" has its origins way back with the ancient Greeks. Their term "skandalon" meant "trap," but was used in the figurative sense of a "snare for an enemy" or "cause for moral stumbling." This latter meaning was transferred into the Latin "scandalum," and adopted into the usage of the Catholic Church, which used it to describe the discredit to the Church brought about by misconduct of a religious person. The word has become a part of several modern European languages.

DO YOU KNOW — What famous scandal is associated with the Harding Administration?

TUESDAY'S ANSWER — Truman had only the middle initial "S," not a middle name.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

South Executes A Swindle And Easily Pulls Off A Contract

South can make four spades by straightforward play, but he must be fairly careful about it. Instead, he executed a swindle. This was much easier and also much more satisfactory. Most players would rather steal a trick than earn one.

South	West	North	East

2 ♣	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	All Pass

Opening lead — ♠ 2

West opened the deuce of spades and dummy won with the jack. Declarer promptly led the jack of hearts from dummy and East casually played low on the assumption that South was planning a finesse.

This was, of course, exactly what South was hoping for. He won with the singleton king of hearts, cashed the top clubs, ruffed a club with dummy's low trump and could return to his hand by ruffing a heart in order to ruff his last club with dummy's high trump.

ADDITIONAL ADVANTAGE

As a practical matter, this type of phony finesse will succeed more often when dummy has only three or four cards in the suit. Then the singleton king is not likely to be suspected. An additional advantage of executing the swindle is that your opponent feels so foolish that you may get away with murder on the next few hands also.

Just in case you're wondering about the straightforward play, here it is. Win the first trump in the South hand and lead the king of hearts. East wins and returns a trump to dummy's jack. Ruff a heart, lead to the king of clubs and ruff another heart.

When the queen of hearts drops, take the ace of clubs, ruff a club and lead the jack of hearts to discard your last club. Lead the last heart, forcing East to ruff. The best play now is to card a diamond instead of overruffing. East must lead diamonds, and the rest is very easy.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠- A K Q 10
♥- K 9
♦- J 8 5
♣- A Q 9 7.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one club. With four spades and four clubs, begin with one club. You will have a convenient chance to bid spades later.

Weird Laws On Seattle's Books

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)— Seattle still has a lol of weird ordinances on its books. Like, for instance, one which calls for 90 days in the klink for anyone who lets a thistle grow on his land.

If this statute were enforced, matters could get pretty prickly because a lot of downy-headed carduus, circium and onopordon plants grow on state highway department median strips. Furthermore, the chief of police could get 90 days in his own jail if he failed to publish each day a notice to taxpayers that Seattle thistles must be destroyed.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Shuffled sayings! It's as easy as A, B, C to match the right quotations with today's birthday greats. Answer "Yes" or "No."

1. GLENDA JACKSON, 36 today, won an Academy Award for top performance in the 1970 film, "Women in Love" and two Emmys for her portrayal of Queen Elizabeth I in the BBC television series. Did she say (A) "A woman can be anything the man who loves her would have her be"? Yes or No?

2. HENRY J. KAISER was born in 1882 in Sprout Brook, N.Y., and left school at 13 to help support his family. A few years later he was a photo supply salesman. Next he owned the business. Finally he was one of America's great industrialists, building dams, bridges, and ships. Did he once say (B) "I make progress by having people around me who are smarter than I am — and listening to them."? Yes or No?

3. JAMES M. BARRIE gave the world "Peter Pan." Educated at Edinburgh University, he started as a newspaper and magazine writer in London. His work was so outstanding he was knighted and made the chancellor of the university from which he graduated. Did he once say (C) "Audiences today are different. Their desire to worship people as mythical beings is gone"? Yes or No?

4. JOHN BROWN fought slavery. A hero to the North, a villain to the South, he urged the blacks to rebellion and with a group of men captured a government post at Harper's Ferry in 1859. He was taken prisoner, put on trial, found guilty and executed as a traitor. Did he say, "If it is deemed necessary that I should forfeit my life for . . . millions in the country whose rights are disregarded by wicked, cruel and unjust enactments — I say, let it be done"? Yes or No?

ANSWERS: 1 - No (See C); 2 - Yes; 3 - No (See A); 4 - Yes.

NORMA L. SMITH
MARIN MUNICIPAL WATER DISTRICT

MARIN MUNICIPAL WATER DISTRICT
ORDINANCE NO. 120
AN INTERIM ORDINANCE FINDING AND DECLARING THAT A THREATENED WATER SHORTAGE CONDITION EXISTS WITHIN THE DISTRICT AND ESTABLISHING REGULATIONS, PROHIBITIONS AND RESTRICTIONS ON THE DELIVERY AND CONSUMPTION OF WATER

WHEREAS, by two previous Resolutions (No. 4792 and No. 4845), the Board of Directors determined that a threatened water shortage condition exists within the Marin Municipal Water District in that the existing capacity of the system is not sufficient to adequately meet the existing annual consumption; and

WHEREAS, since there has been no significant change in the capacity of the system or in the established annual consumption since the inception of Resolution No. 4845, viz., February 14, 1973, the Board hereby confirms the findings contained in said resolution and, specifically, finding of threatened water shortage; and

WHEREAS, it is necessary to prohibit an increase in the water demand on the District's available water supplies and therefore to adopt an interim ordinance prohibiting all new water service connections which are hereby determined to be non-essential; and

WHEREAS, District will consider at the earliest possible date after receiving the final report of its consultant alternative possibilities for augmenting the water supply and will present one, or more, of said alternatives to the voters of District not later than November, 1973; and

WHEREAS, the District has held a public hearing on the aforesaid declaration.

NOW, THEREFORE, the Board of Directors of Marin Municipal Water District does ordain as follows:

Section 1. It is hereby found and declared that a threatened water shortage condition exists within the District, as set forth aforesaid;

Section 2. Two public hearings have been noticed and held on June 14, 1972, and February 14, 1973, and opportunity to protest the aforesaid declaration has been given.

Section 3. The Board hereby finds that the following regulations, prohibitions and restrictions will conserve the water supply for the greatest public benefit.

Section 4. Section 11.04.030 of the Marin Municipal Water District Code is hereby amended by adding the following at the end of the existing section:

Notwithstanding the provisions of this section, and the other provisions contained in this Title, and because of the existing lack of capacity in the water supply, effective immediately no new service will be granted or installed except as follows:

1. "Turn on" of an existing "Off" service connection (under section 11.08.010 and 11.08.020).
2. Where an application for a new service installation has heretofore been granted under section 11.08.060, or where a main extension agreement has heretofore been executed by District, and where said applications or agreements have not expired by their terms.
3. Service to a public building or public facility (concerned with protection of public health or safety, such as a police or fire department building.)
4. The variance procedure of section 11.12.130 shall be applicable to the foregoing restrictions on service.

Section 5. The General Manager, attorney and staff are hereby directed to take immediate action to cancel and terminate any and all "surplus" water contracts, now held by District, as soon as possible within their terms, limited only by considerations of public health and safety.

Section 6. The severability provisions of section 1.01.110 of this Code are applicable to this Ordinance and each part thereof.

Section 7. This is an urgency ordinance and shall be effective immediately upon adoption. The facts constituting the urgency are as follows: The existing water supply of District is not sufficient to meet the needs of District's consumers, as set forth above. This Ordinance shall remain in effect until repealed or amended by this Board.

14.13.010 PURPOSE. The purpose of these district regulations shall be to promote the safety and convenience of all land use and circulation systems within the City by providing standards and policies for the creation and maintenance of vehicular off-street parking and loading. More specifically, the purposes include: (1) the promotion of more efficient street systems by reducing to a minimum the congestion which may be created by uncontrolled parking; (2) the promotion of the continued health and vitality of all land uses by providing reasonable satisfaction for normal parking demands; and (3) the promotion of compatibility among adjacent land uses and enhancement of the total City-scope by the establishment and implementation of appropriate design and aesthetic standards.

In all zones, in connection with every use, sufficient off-street parking spaces shall be provided to accomplish the principles set forth in this Ordinance and to meet the parking demands generated by residents, visitors, employees, company officials, company vehicles and customers.

14.13.020 SCOPE OF REGULATIONS. The off-street parking and loading provisions of this chapter shall apply as follows:

A. For all buildings and structures erected and all uses of land established after the effective date of this title, accessory parking and loading facilities shall be provided as required by the regulations of the district in which such buildings or uses are located. However, where an application for Environmental and Design Review had been placed on the Planning Commission Preliminary Agenda of March 27, 1973, or where all necessary Planning approvals have been given or where a building permit has been issued prior to the effective date of this title, and provided that construction is begun within six months of such effective date and diligently prosecuted to completion, parking and loading facilities as required hereinafter need not be provided;

B. When the intensity of use of any building, structure or premises is increased through addition of dwelling units, gross floor area, seating capacity or other units of measurement specified herein for required parking or loading facilities, parking and loading facilities as required herein shall be provided for such increase in intensity of use;

C. Whenever the existing use of a building or structure is hereafter changed to a new one, parking or loading facilities shall be provided as required for such new use. However, if the said building or structure was erected prior to the effective date of this title, additional parking or loading facilities are mandatory only in the amount by which the requirements for the new use would exceed those for the existing use if the latter were subject to the parking and loading provisions of this title;

D. At the time of erection or enlargement of any building containing one or more dwelling units, or of the addition of one or more dwelling units to or within an existing building, unless otherwise prohibited in this title, there shall be provided and maintained not less than the parking requirements of Section 14.13.100 A through F.

E. Where a driveway serves three or more permanently maintained automobile garages or parking spaces located side by side and fronting upon a street, the driveway serving said garages or parking spaces shall not exceed twenty feet in width, and there shall be provided an on-site area for turn-around purposes. This area shall:

1. Have a minimum turning diameter of twenty-four feet, and
2. Be located on the same property whereon the garage or parking spaces are located, adjacent to their entrances, and not on any part of the public right-of-way.

14.13.030 FACILITIES - EXISTING. Accessory off-street parking or loading facilities which are located on the same zoning plot as the building or use served, and which were in existence on the effective date of this title, or were provided voluntarily after such effective date, shall not hereafter be reduced below, or if already less than, shall not further be reduced below the requirements of this title for a similar new building or use.

14.13.040 DAMAGE - DESTRUCTION. For any conforming building or use which is in existence on the effective date of this title, which subsequently thereto is totally destroyed by fire, collapse, explosion or other cause, and for any legally nonconforming use which is not lost by reason of such damage, and which is reconstructed, reestablished, or repaired, off-street parking or loading facilities need not be provided, except that parking or loading facilities equivalent to any maintained at the time of such damage or destruction shall be restored or continued in operation. However, in no case shall it be necessary to restore or maintain parking or loading facilities in excess of those required by this title for equivalent new uses or construction.

14.13.050 USE OF PARKING AND GARAGE FACILITIES. Off-street parking and garage facilities accessory to residential use and developed in any residential district in accordance with the requirements of Section 14.13.100A through 14.13.100F shall be used solely for the storage of passenger automobiles owned by occupants of the dwelling structures to which such facilities are accessory or by guests of said occupants. Under no circumstances shall required parking and garage facilities accessory to residential structures be used for the storage of commercial vehicles or for the parking of automobiles belonging to the employees, owners, tenants, visitors or customers of business or manufacturing establishments.

14.13.060 PARKING ASSESSMENT DISTRICT. Where a lot or parcel of real property is located within a motor vehicle off-street parking assessment district, a building or structure may be constructed and maintained on said lot or parcel without provision for, or maintenance of, off-street parking facilities, if the parking assessment district has the ability to construct additional parking facilities in response to the demand created by new construction.

However, if the district in which the lot or parcel is located cannot make such provision, a building or structure not to exceed one story in height may be constructed and maintained on said lot or parcel without provision for, or maintenance of, off-street parking facilities. Off-street parking facilities shall be installed and maintenanced for each story in excess of one story, so that the total number of parking spaces provided for the additional story or stories, shall meet the off-street parking requirements.

14.13.070 PARKING SPACES - IN-LIEU PAYMENTS. Where practical difficulty is involved in meeting the off-street parking requirements for a building hereafter constructed, the requirement may be met wholly or in part by in-lieu payments where the owner of the building site offers (in writing) to make, and the City Council agrees to accept, such payments. When such an offer is made, the Planning Commission shall investigate and report to the City Council its findings as to the reasons which are alleged to make such substitution necessary. The City Council may accept or reject the proposal for substitution, and if it finds the substitution necessary, shall determine the amount of payment to be made. The payment shall equal the fair market value of the land which would otherwise have been devoted to off-street parking, plus the cost of paving and other improvements as determined by the City Engineer. All monies collected by the City as payments in lieu of required parking spaces shall be used for the purchase and improvement of off-street parking facilities. Each of such facilities shall be so located to serve primarily the general area and class of zoning district from which the respective in-lieu payments are derived.

14.13.080 COMPUTATION. When determination of the number of off-street parking spaces required by this title results in a requirement of a fractional space, an additional space shall be provided.

14.13.090 APPLICATION. Provisions of this Chapter shall apply uniformly throughout the City according to specific land usage and shall be without regard to zoning district classification.

14.13.190 PARKING REQUIREMENTS - NONSPECIFIED USES. Parking requirements for uses which are not specifically mentioned in Section 14.64.180 above, shall be the same as that required for uses found by the Planning Director to be similar in character, or as approved by the Planning Commission.

14.13.200 PERMANENCE OF OFF-STREET PARKING. Once any off-street parking or loading space has been provided, which wholly or partially meets the requirements of this Ordinance, such off-street parking or loading space shall not thereafter be reduced, eliminated or made unusable in any manner.

14.13.210 MULTIPLE USES - BASIS FOR CALCULATION. Where there is more than one use in a single structure or on a site, or two or more separate instances of the same use, off-street parking requirements shall be the sum of the requirements for the various uses. Off-street parking required for one occupant of a structure shall not be considered as satisfying the required parking facilities for another occupant of the structure, unless otherwise provided in this Ordinance.

14.13.220 VARIATIONS IN PARKING DEMAND. When two or more uses share a common parking area and when a significant and complementing variation in period of daily demands occurs (i.e. exclusive day and night uses), the Planning Director may grant modifications of total parking requirements provided that in no instance shall the total parking required be less than would be required for each of the independent uses.

14.13.230 ON-SITE AND REMOTE PARKING.

A. All off-street parking and loading areas required herein shall be located on the same parcel and readily accessible to the specified use, provided that, if the strict application of this requirement creates undue hardship and in the opinion of the Planning Director creates conditions contrary to desirable development practices, but all other areas of intent for this chapter are complied with, remote parking areas which satisfy all or part of specific parking requirements may be approved.

B. Remote parking areas shall be located within five hundred (500) feet of the specified use and shall possess direct and convenient pedestrian access. Remote areas may serve more than one use, provided that the gross number of spaces available shall not be less than the combined requirements of all uses served.

C. Upon approval of any remote parking area, and prior to occupancy of the proposed use, which parking satisfies the parking requirements, the owner of the parcel (proposed for remote parking site) shall execute and record a Declaration of Restriction, legally binding, to restrict the use of the parcel to public and private parking of vehicles so long as the use conducted by applicant, or his successors in interest, on the original site, shall require the furnishing of parking facilities under the terms of this Ordinance.

14.13.240 JOINT USE OF PARKING SPACE AND INTERIOR BLOCK PARKING.

A. Nothing in this Ordinance shall be construed to prevent collective provisions of off-street parking facilities for two or more parcels of land, buildings, or uses. Where joint facilities are provided, the minimum requirement will be seventy-five per cent (75%) of the sum of the requirements for the various uses computed separately when the individual requirements total fifty (50) or more spaces. The spaces thus provided shall be turn-over or unreserved parking.

B. Joint facilities shall be permitted in the interior of residential blocks. Portions of the rear yard may be incorporated into a common parking area with access from existing alleys or service drives. No part of such facility may be used for parking within fifteen (15) feet of a residential structure.

14.13.250 COMMERCIAL PARKING - RESIDENTIAL AREAS. Parking of vehicles, having a manufacturers' rating up to ¾ ton, is permitted within areas zoned for residential uses. Parking of vehicles over ¾ ton is prohibited in residential areas except for such limited parking period as designated in Section 5.40.140 of the City Code.

14.13.260 ACCESSORY FACILITIES - RESIDENTIAL AREAS. Park-trailers, boats, recreational venicles or other similar facilities and/or equipment which are parked or stored incidental to the basic residential use of a property, shall be provided with a parking space which is screened from view as required. Parking of said facilities and/or equipment shall be prohibited in any required front or corner side yard.

14.13.270 OFF-STREET LOADING AND UNLOADING. Every building or structure used for business, trade or industry and normally requiring truck loading or unloading with respect to the use, shall provide space as herein indicated for the loading and unloading of vehicles off the street or public alley. Such space shall have access to a public right-of-way. Off-street loading and unloading space shall be in addition to and not considered as meeting a part of the requirement for off-street parking space. Off-street loading and unloading space shall not be used or designed, intended or constructed to be used in a manner to obstruct or interfere with the free use of any street or adjoining property. The minimum off-street loading and unloading space required for specific uses shall be as follows:

A. Retail business and service establishment: One (1) off-street loading and unloading space at least ten (10) feet in width and thirty-five (35) feet in length with clear and unobstructed height of fourteen (14) feet.

B. Industrial plants: One (1) off-street loading and unloading space for each twenty thousand (20,000) square feet of gross floor area. Each loading space shall be not less than a minimum of twelve (12) feet wide and sixty-five (65) feet long with a fourteen (14) foot height clearance.

14.13.280 EXCEPTION. Whenever in the opinion of the Planning Director and the Planning Commission the application of the Rules and Regulations as set forth herein could result in an inequitable or illogical result, then with the recommendation of the Planning Director and the Planning Commission, these standards and rules may be modified so as to provide that the results therein obtained would be both fair, equitable and logical, and consistent with the intent and meaning of this ordinance.

14.13.290 PARKING DESIGN STANDARDS. Parking design standards shall be developed by the planning staff and adopted by the Planning Commission.

DIVISION 2. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this Ordinance is for any reason held to be invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Ordinance. The Council hereby declares that it would have adopted the Ordinance and each section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared invalid.

DIVISION 3. This Ordinance is an ordinance for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety and one of urgency, and shall take effect immediately. The facts constituting the urgency are that the parking requirements heretofore provided in the Municipal Code of the City of San Rafael are inadequate and that there are applications still under consideration or to be submitted which, if granted, would create traffic hazards and congestion of parking which would be detrimental to good planning and the orderly development of the City of San Rafael, and the public peace, health, safety and general welfare of the citizens of the City of San Rafael will be jeopardized.

Mount Burdell Plan Supported

The Novato Environmental Quality Committee has endorsed the open space plan for Mount Burdell prepared by the Novato Open Space Committee.

Committee members Monday night recommended city council support of the plan, and backed inclusion of the Bowman Ranch in the open space area.

The committee also agreed to seek aid of Scouts in the cataloguing of heritage trees in Novato and the aid of high school students to make a survey of vacant buildings in Novato, according to administrative Asst. Rodney B. Brown.

Guards Removed For Pot Smoking

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Twenty-eight Marines and 18 sailors were removed from security and maintenance jobs at President Nixon's Camp David retreat after some of them admitted using marijuana, according to the Pentagon.

A statement issued yesterday said the men were "transferred to other assignments" after a formal Defense Department investigation.

A Reward For Persistence

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The persistence of two detectives who plugged away for 2-½ years on a series of "Jack the Ripper" killings of prostitutes paid off with three murder indictments Tuesday.

Stanley Nelson, 38, an inmate at Vacaville State Medical Facility, was returned to San Francisco to face charges of slaying and sexually mutilating the three prostitutes in 1970.

He was charged after his wife told the detectives she saw Nelson dispose of two of the bodies. Checking her story, they went to two of the murder sites and collected faded blood stains which matched the blood types of two of the victims.

The original Jack the Ripper murdered prostitutes in London in the 1880s. His identity was never known.

Employees Cut In Farm Programs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department has ordered the dismissal of about 3,000 employes of state and county farm programs in a cutback caused mainly by elimination of a popular conservation subsidy program, officials confirmed today.

Rep. John Melcher, D-Mont., said he has wired administration officials to protest the cuts before Congress completes action on a bill to revive the Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP).

A Step Upward For Inter Marin

For a group of young Marin men bent on playing soccer, the days of hunting down opposition are over.

The Inter Marin Soccer Club has been organized as a team for the last five years, but not playing in any league. The team members had to seek other Bay Area teams for practice games. Now things will be different.

Bill Goodell, a College of Marin student who plays on the team, was acting as spokesman along with teammate Kader Dennoun the other day. They announced that Inter Marin has been accepted into the NorCal Soccer League, a semi-pro organization affiliated with the California Soccer Football Association. Starting June 9, and running through Aug. 25, Inter Marin will be playing once a week, usually on Saturdays, in the league. Marin's home games will be played on the San Rafael High School field.

"IT'S A BIG STEP for us," said Goodell, who added that the team had been playing against strictly amateur teams in the past and the competition in the NorCal would be stiffer.

"We aren't going to say we are going to win the championship, but we have some good talent in Marin and we'll hold our own with these other teams," he said.

Dennoun, an Algerian and a student at San Francisco State, said that since many of the team members have been together for five years, it can't be considered a "new" team. The new thing will be playing in this high caliber league, first time a Marin soccer team has entered such a league.

THE PLAYERS ARE still looking for financial help from sponsors since the league fees and insurance costs add up to a $600 bill which must be paid. They have received some pledges, but cash and pledges are two different things.

Although it's a Marin team, the players are presently spread around the state because of school. After college classes let out at College of Marin, University of San Francisco, San Francisco State, San Jose State, Chico State and U.C. Davis the team members will be getting together for a summer of soccer.

Many of the Inter Marin players are products of the Marin County Athletic League. There are 25 players and the roster will have to be pared to 18 by the time the league starts. Coach is Tony Thevenot of Haiti, a former pro succer player.

IN THE WORKS are possible preliminary games by youth teams from Ross and Mill Valley prior to Inter Marin's home games. Goodell, Dennoun and the rest of the team realize the future of soccer rests with the youth programs, an area in which Marin is far ahead of most communities. It all started with the Marin Youth Soccer Association and now various recreation departments in Marin are starting programs of their own.

Inter Marin will be in the league's Northern Division along with Sacramento and Oakland. In the Southern Division will be Redwood City, San Jose and Berkeley. Winners of the two divisions will meet for the championship on the weekend of Aug. 25-26.

All in all, it should be quite an interesting adventure for the local team. It's another big step for soccer in Marin.

Marin Tars Lose To Skyline, 9-4

SAN BRUNO — College of Marin should have known better than to go back down to play Skyline College again, but the Tars obeyed the schedule and suffered a 9-4 Camino Norte Conference baseball defeat yesterday.

Marin sustained a 13-5 loss here Saturday, and gave up 22 runs and 29 hits in the two games while striking out just one Trojan. The Tars' conference record fell below .500 for the first time this year at 9-10 as they lost their fourth straight game and 10th in the last 14.

The only consolation was a home run by Bill Sherbert leading off the second inning, a 340-foot shot pulled down the right field line.

Bonds' Nightmares Turn To Dreams

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Nightmares of facing hard throwing Bob Gibson have turned to pleasant dreams for leadoff batter Bobby Bonds of the San Francisco Giants.

Bonds cracked two homers off the St. Louis ace and drove in five runs Tuesday night to power the Giants to a 9-7 victory. Both homers came on the first pitch served up by Gibson.

Gibson climbed the mound to set a major league record by starting his 242nd consecutive game. Bonds stepped up and Gibson fed him a slider as his first offering. The ball ended up 380 away over the rightfield fence.

In the fifth, Gibson walked pitcher Jim Barr and Bonds powered Gibson's next pitch over the leftfield fence.

"Both pitches were sliders," said Bonds. "I actually was expecting him to knock me down on those first pitches or at least brush me back. Anytime you get a couple of hits off Gibson, you're doing great. This guy is the greatest pitcher in baseball. He whiffed me so many times, I began having nightmares."

Willie McCovey and Dave Kingman hit back-to-back homers off Gibson in the fourth with the bases empty. McCovey's blast was a tremendous shot into the upper deck in rightfield, approximately 450 feet from home plate.

"I can't say whether it was the farthest ball I've hit," McCovey said. "I don't think so. The problem with Gibson is that you've got to get to him early or he gets warmed up and is tougher in the late going."

The Cardinals managed to rally against Barr, who hurled four innings Sunday against Chicago. The winning blow turned out to be Bonds' bases-loaded single off reliever Diego Segui in the eighth which scored the Giants' seventh and eighth runs.

Despite the shellacking, and absorbing his fourth defeat in five decisions, Gibson slipped past Red Ruffing of the New York Yankees as the only major league pitcher to start more than 241 straight games. Gibson also notched six strikeouts to move into third place on the alltime strikeout list ahead of Cy Young with 2,824 whiffs.

"What good are the records if you give up four homers and lose?" said Gibson.

Randy Moffitt took over for Barr with two out in the eighth to notch his fifth save. Jose Cruz drilled a two-run homer off Moffitt in the ninth.

In this afternoon's second game of the series, Ron Bryant (3-2) of the Giants was to pitch against Reggie Cleveland (1-3). In the finale Thursday afternoon, Jim Willoughby (3-2) faces the Cards' Rick Wise (3-1).

Racing Officials In Court

ALBANY, Calif. (UPI) — Golden Gate Fields officials went to court to guarantee racing in the Tanforan portion of its season today after a strike by Janitors Union Local 9 caused cancellation of Tuesday's program.

General Manager Richard J. Murphy said a temporary restraining order issued by Judge Lionel Wilson at Alameda County Superior Court blocks further strike action by the track's 81 custodians until a May 18 hearing.

He said the judge's order would allow the Tanforan Racing Association to inaugurate its Sunday competition this weekend.

Theatrical and entertainment janitors union Local 9 called the walkout in a demand for changes in its contract with the association. One issue reportedly was the introduction of Sunday racing. Union employes at the track refused to cross the picket line.

The association told the court that its pact was valid through January of 1976. A management negotiator said the janitors were demanding double-time pay for Sundays.

Ruling Secretary Harold R. Krovitz said Sunday racing was to have started last Sunday but was postponed. He said today's nine races would be filled with entries taken Monday.

Elder Tops Track-Field Qualifying

Redwood High School's Darrell Elder topped the day's performances in the Marin County Athletic League track and field trials yesterday at Tamalpais High in Mill Valley by breaking the league discus record and dominating both weight events.

The trials were to continue today, featuring the varsity running events. The top eight finishers in each event advance to the MCAL finals Friday at Tamalpais.

Elder's 159-9 in the discus broke the record set three years ago by Novato's Ray Sparling. The Redwood star was the only varsity double winner in the five field events held yesterday. He won the shot put with a heave of 54 feet, 9 inches.

HOLD ON, WALT — Los Angeles Lakers' Wilt Chamberlain grabbed the shoulder of Walt Frazier, New York Knicks' star, during last night's game when Frazier tried to grab a loose ball. The Lakers lost to the Knicks, 103-98.

Knicks Don't Take Lakers For Dead

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Knickerbockers have the World Champion Los Angeles Lakers tottering on the brink of elimination but both clubs agree that one last big step won't be too easy.

Dave DeBusschere scored 33 points Tuesday night, including a crucial three-point play with 48 seconds left, as the Knicks beat Los Angeles for the third straight time, 103-98, to take a commanding 3-1 lead in their best-of-seven series for the National Basketball Association title. The fifth game is set for Thursday night in Los Angeles.

But DeBusschere was among the more emphatic who claimed the series is far from over.

"I"m not at all confident," said the rugged 6-foot-6 forward, holding a ice pack to a massive welt on his right kneecap. "I don't like to get overconfident in a situation like this. Anything can happen. That's a great team we're facing with great players. Of course I'd rather be 3-1 than 1-3--so would they—but I won't be happy until we win the fourth one."

Jerry West, who played despite hamstring pulls in both legs and nearly pulled out the game for Los Angeles, echoed DeBusschere's feelings.

"We're certainly not in good shape, that's for sure," said West, who scored 23 points, 11 of them in the final period. "But all the games have been close. We haven't been out of them. We could have won all four of them and so could they. I don't think it's beyond belief that we could win three straight games."

Tuesday's game followed the pattern of the previous three—one club building a big lead and

NOVATO'S LAST STAND

Redwood Wins, 9-8

Novato High School's last stand was a dramatic one, but it was ruined by a spate of errors and by Redwood's refusal to accept defeat yesterday, as the Giants rallied for an eight-inning, 9-8 baseball victory over the hosts Hornets.

The triumph gave Redwood a 10-1 Marin County Athletic League record, three full games ahead of Novato and San Rafael (7-4) with three games left, thus assuring the Giants of a tie for their second straight title.

Novato took a 7-4 lead with a five-run outburst in the fourth inning, but Redwood scored in each succeeding frame, winning the game in the eighth as Gary LaTorre (who had singled) came home from second on a fielding error by Novato's second baseman.

Redwood tied the game in the seventh on a two-base throwing error by the Hornets' shortstop and a squib single by winning pitcher Ed Andersen, the third Giant hurler.

Andersen, who pitched a perfect game against Drake Saturday night, entered in relief in the fourth and was rudely greeted by a two-run double by Dave Brazell and two-run single by Dan Metzger, but allowed only one hit in 4⅔ innings the rest of the way.

Matt Gondak lined three sharp doubles for Redwood, driving home two runs in the first inning and scoring on Ross Secor's two-bagger as the Giants took a quick 3-0 lead.

LOOSE HOCKEY

Black Hawks Win, 8-7

MONTREAL (UPI) — It was more like a basketball game but it was a real, live hockey game Tuesday night as the Chicago Black Hawks outlasted the Montreal Canadiens 8-7 in the Stanley Cup finals.

The Canadiens lead the series, three games to two. Both teams, which set two National Hockey League playoff records, will return to Chicago for the sixth game Thursday night.

The 15 goals were the most scored in a playoff game while the eight goals picked up in the second period for both teams was another record.

Chicago Coach Billy Reay was astonished at the outcome of the game.

"I'm sure happy with the win. It was just what we needed but I'm really amazed to see an 8-7 score in the playoffs," said the 54-year old coach.

"I was wondering if they would ever let up scoring in that second period but at least we proved that we could come back and we had balance tonight for which I am very pleased," added Reay.

Terra Linda Wins On Rally In 7th

Greg Chapman hit a clutch two-run single to tie the game and pinch-runner Jack Crimmins scored the winning run a moment later as Terra Linda High School tallied three times in the bottom of the seventh inning for a 7-6 Marin County Athletic League baseball victory over San Marin yesterday.

With two out, Terra Linda's Jon Loberg (who had homered the previous inning) was intentionally walked to load the bases for Chapman, who had struck out in his other three appearances.

Chapman hit the first pitch for the game-tying single. On the next play Crimmins, running for Loberg, beat the center fielder's throw to the plate after Buck McCusker's grounder was muffed by San Marin's shortstop.

Terra Linda threw out four runners on the base paths, three at home plate and George Hoberg trying for third after Hoberg had hit a bases-loaded double in the first inning.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Braves' Perez Is An Unhappy Hero

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Marty Perez lined the key hit of a game-winning seven run, seventh-inning rally Tuesday night but he really didn't enjoy it

"It was frightening," the Atlanta shortstop said quietly in the Braves' locker room after he lined a two-run double off the forehead of New York Mets' pitcher Jon Matlack.

"I didn't even feel like running," he said, "it was a sorry thing. I hope it never happens to me again. It's a one-in-a-million chance. I know it's part of the game but you never want to hurt somebody."

Fortunately, Matlack, the National League Rookie of the Year last season, didn't appear to be seriously hurt although he was taken to a hospital for overnight observation as a precautionary measure.

Matlack was fortunate to get his glove up and he tipped the ball slightly to lessen the impact of the shot. The ball caromed off his face into the Mets' dugout for a two-run ground rule double.

Phil Hennigan came in to replace Matlack and walked Hank Aaron intentionally to load the bases. Dave Johnson then came up and hit a grand slam homer to give the Braves a 7-3 lead and decide the game. It was Johnson's second homer of the game.

In the other games, Montreal edged Houston 4-3, Cincinnati routed Philadelphia 7-1, Los Angeles downed Pittsburgh 7-4, San Francisco edged St. Louis 9-7 and Chicago nipped San Diego 3-2 in 12 innings.

In the American League, Chicago downed Boston 1-0, Kansas City beat Detroit 7-2, Cleveland blanked California 2- 0, New York routed Minnesota 14-4 and Texas topped Milwaukee 5-3. The Oakland at Baltimore game was rained out.

Los Angeles collected 13 hits including a three-run home by rookie Ron Cey in the five-run fifth inning to beat Pittsburgh. Willie Stargell, the only player to hit a homer out of Dodger Stadium, did it for the second time in the losing cause.

Philadelphia Manager Danny Ozark twice chose to have his pitchers face Pete Rose with first base open and Dave Concepcion, the Reds' hottest hitter this year despite his .209 average last year, coming up. Both times Rose foiled the strategy as he drove in three runs with a pair of singles to help the Reds beat the Phils.

PREP TENNIS

Drake Tips Marin; 3 Teams Shut Out

Drake High School edged Marin Catholic, 4-3, to highlight an otherwise dull day in Marin County Athletic League tennis action yesterday.

All other matches were shutouts, with Redwood dropping Tamalpais, 7-0, San Rafael beating San Marin, 7-0, and Terra Linda pounding Novato, 7-0.

Drake's victory was extremely close, with all but two of the seven matches going to three sets Pirate Gene Lachelt set the pace for his team with a 2-6, 6-1, 6-4 win over John Doherty.

Marin Tips Tam On Bunt

Rich Little beat out a bases-loaded suicide squeeze bunt to cap a three-run rally in the sixth inning and give Marin Catholic High School a 3-2 Marin County Athletic League baseball victory over host Tamalpais yesterday.

After Rich Lopez, Tim Haley and Jeff Knotts singled to load the bases with one out, one run scored when Joe Ducey's fly ball to right field was dropped, another came home on a walk to Russ Knudsen, and Little laid down his bunt for the Wildcats.

Tam had carried a 2-0 lead into the seventh inning, courtesy of the 'Cats' right fielder, who dropped a fly in the third to let both runs across.

San Rafael Nine Tops Drake, 6-2

Joe Giordani drove home four runs while John Sims pitched a two-hitter and banged three hits himself yesterday as San Rafael High School scored all of its runs in the final three innings for a 6-2 Marin County Athletic League baseball victory over Drake.

Giordani hit a two-run double and later scored on a double by Sims as the Bulldogs went ahead with a three-run uprising in the sixth inning. Giordani's two-run single in the seventh clinched the victory.

Sims, a hard-luck left-hander who lost a two-hitter and a three-hitter earlier this year, struck out five and allowed no earned runs.

Knee Surgery For Conigliaro

BALTIMORE (AP) — Rain gave the Oakland Athletics some rest Tuesday, but it was a travel day for two players.

Manager Dick Williams announced that center fielder Billy Conigliaro, who was batting .295 before he injured a knee last month, would undergo surgery Monday and that catcher Tim Hosley was joining the A's.

Hosley, 25, was off to a good start with Tucson of the Pacific Coast League, with four homers and a .263 batting average. He was with the Detroit organization until this year, and hit 24 homers for Toledo of the International League last season.

Conigliaro may be out for the rest of the year. The operation in Boston will determine the extent of his injury.

No makeup date was announced for the Tuesday night Oakland-Baltimore game postponed by rain. Jim "Catfish" Hunter of the A's and Dave McNally of the Orioles were rescheduled as the starting pitchers for tonight.

then fighting off a late rally. With DeBusschere bombing away with near-perfect accuracy in the first half, hitting 11-of15 shots for 22 points, the Knicks surged to a 21-point lead

Willis Reed hit three straight baskets in the final period after the Lakers had drawn to within six points at 88-82 and DeBusschere applied the crusher with 48 seconds left when he grabbed a loose ball under the basket and was fouled while putting in a seemingly impossible layup.

"It was just a hope shot and it went in," DeBusschere said. "Willis and Wilt (Chamberlain) were both battling for the rebound and neither one had control. The ball bounced into my hands. Chamberlain had his arms around me and I just flicked it up, hoping it would go, and it did."

The Lakers sat stunned long after the game, muttering about DeBusschere's "hope shot".

"If he doesn't make the shot and just gets two fouls shots, then we can still come down, score and be in it," said guard Gail Goodrich, who also had 23 points. "But, what can you say, He put the damned thing in."

Chamberlain sat shaking his head, saying "I don't know how he made that shot. But then again, he was making incredible shots all night."

Indiana Takes 3-2 Series Lead In ABA Playoff

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — "Man, if I'd missed that shot, I'd have kept right on running right into our locker room," laughed George McGinnis, Indiana's rugged forward.

McGinnis stole an in-bounds pass by Kentucky's Walt Simon and drove in from midcourt with Wendell Ladner in desperate pursuit to slam home a winning stuff shot as the Pacers nipped the Colonels 89-86 Tuesday night.

The victory lifted the defending champions into a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven American Basketball Association final series, putting them in position to wrap it up Thursday night on their home court at Indianapolis. If needed, the seventh game will be here Saturday afternoon.

Canadiens Coach Scotty Bowman was gloomy.

"I never thought I would ever see a game like that. It sure was a wide open game for both sides. We both played loose on defense but both offensive teams did not make too many mistakes. It just goes to show you that anything can happen in a hockey game.".

Most observers predicted a goalies duel in the playoffs but both netminders, Ken Dryden of Montreal and Tony Esposito of Chicago, were far from effective.

"I've never been in a shooting gallery like that," said Dryden. "It was one of those nights when most of the shots go in. The game was wide open and it was hard for me to change my style for that type of play," said the former winner of the Conn Smythe Trophy as the best performer in the playoffs two years ago.

Lou Angotti scored Chicago's eighth goal in the third period which proved to be the winner. Jim Pappin and Stan Mikita each chipped in with two goals.

When asked about Thursday's sixth game, Pappin answered," Our chances are not better than they were before tonight's game. We'll just take each shift as it comes up."

Hull did score one of the Chicago goals in the first period while rookies Dave Kryskow and Len Frig got their first career playoff goals and for the latter, it was his first goal ever in the NHL.

Girl Kicked Off Li'l League Team

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

YPSILANTI, Mich. — Carolyn King, a 12-year-old baseball enthusiast, has gone way out in left field in an attempt to officially play baseball with a boys' Little League team.

Carolyn, who was described by team official Bob Taylor Tuesday as an "exceptional" center fielder, has been kicked off the Ypsilanti Little League team because of a charter regulation which says, "Girls are not eligible."

"It is the league's intention to fight it legally in the courts," said Taylor, vice president of the eight-team chapter. "We're taking this action, not only so that Carolyn can play, but so that other girls of similar athletic ability can play."

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

Some Advice On Outboard Motors

The outboard motor is truly a marvelous, versatile machine. Invented and developed almost entirely on this continent, it's a tribute to American ingenuity. Nothing so portable can deliver so much power for so little weight, with such economy.

Yet so many of its capabilities and functions are misunderstood.

For instance, a boater I know was bewildered because the 10 horsepower outboard motor he used on a small runabout boat wouldn't push his sailing dinghy half as fast, yet the dinghy was smaller and lighter. He used the motor as an auxiliary.

It was hard to explain that the runabout hull had been designed after many years of trial and error strictly for propulsion by an outboard motor, whereas the sailing craft's hull was the product of centuries of the same trial and error for propulsion and stability under sail.

And the two aren't necessarily comptabile.

There was one other factor too. The transom on the sailboat was so high that the outboard's prop was not low enough to be working in undisturbed water.

An outboard motor just can't be as efficient on a sailboat when used as an auxiliary, as it can be on a planing hull designed for it. This question of outboard efficiency is an interesting topic as many of the questions we are asked indicate:

Q. I am buying an outboard mounting bracket to attach an auxiliary to my sailboat (it has a keel) — where should I mount it?

A. Consider mounting the bracket off to one side on the stern, so that the prop has solid undisturbed water to work in. If the motor is mounted directly on the center line of the boat, right behind the keel, it's just churning up water that is already turbulent. It will be more efficient offset. Try it.

Q. When I make a turn my outboard motor sometimes speeds up and runs wild. The boat slows down until I start to run straight again . . .?

A. This is an all too common problem. Racing of the motor is caused by "cavitation." This is the result of the prop being too close to the surface. It sucks air into its slipstream and churns around in a "cavity" of air and foam. Naturally this has less resistance than water, so the motor speeds up. Maybe your motor is too high or tilted too far forward.

Q. My dealer set the tilt on my outboard but it doesn't seem to be right. How do I check it?

A. Dealers develop a lot of know-how and I wouldn't be too quick to change his setting. First try distributing the load in the boat. If the boat is bow heavy it tends to plow. If it is stern heavy (most common) the bow rides high. Then it's hard to see over, and the boat is hard to get on to plane.

Q. I'm thinking of an auxiliary motor for my sailboat. What are the advantages of an inboard as against an outboard?

A. If speed is a consideration in your sailing, remember that the propeller of the inboard engine is constantly in the water acting as a drag — and what a drag! An outboard, properly mounted, can be lifted up out of the water, leaving the clean, efficient line of the sailboat unbroken.

Q. At full throttle my boat skims very well at about 28 mph, but I can't stop the bow from rising and falling . . .?

A. If you've ever seen a porpoise swimming you can understand why this action is called porpoising. It's one of the most common troubles to beset an outboard motorboat. There are a dozen causes. The most common are wrong motor angle, bad weight distribution, or a deformity of the boat's bottom making the planing surface a curve instead of a flat plane.

Q. The auxiliary on my sailboat is a 6 hp outboard in a "well" — a hole cut in the overhang — at the stern. In high waves the prop comes out of the water and races. Anything else I can do?

A. In high performance sailing craft with long overhangs, putting on an outboard is difficult. The well is a compromise, and I'm afraid you are stuck with it. Maybe the motor can be set lower. That's your only hope.

Sonoma '9' Divides Twin Bill

Sonoma State College scored two runs in the first inning which stood up for a 2-1 win in the opener of a non-league doubleheader with visiting Stanislaus State College yesterday, but lost the nightcap, 6-1, in extra innings.

The split left the Cossacks with a 19-19 overall season record, their best ever mark with three games left against San Francisco State College this weekend.

Craig Estes got the offense moving in the first game with a one out single. Two straight Stanislaus errors loaded the bases and Rich Garretson scored Estes with a sacrifice fly to left and Ron Petroni drove in the eventual winning run with a single to center.

HAMILTON BOXER WINS IN BOSTON

BOSTON (UPI) — Claudio (Chicky) Rivera of Hamilton Air Force Base yesterday defeated Louis Curtis of Washington, D.C., in a first-round bout in the 106-pound class in the National Amateur Athletic Union boxing championships.

Rivera was part of an 11-man contingent from Hamilton, two others of which fought and lost yesterday. Joseph Rivera (125) was beaten by Rick Kaiser of South Dakota and Robert Tejerina (also 125) fell to Gary Vinet of the Southern region.

Tomales Gains Tie For Title

By PAUL DWORIN

Sam Marsi pitched a one-hitter over visiting St. Vincent High School of Petaluma yesterday to give Tomales a 3-0 victory which clinched a tie for the Braves' first North Central League II baseball championship in six years.

The triumph gives the Braves a 7-2 league mark and a one-game lead over St. Vincent. Regardless of what the Mustangs (6-3) do against Kelseyville Friday, Tomales can win the title outright with a win at Upper Lake.

Marsi gave up his only hit of the game in the fourth inning to Dan Tocchini, who broke up his no-hitter against St. Vincent in Petaluma earlier this year. Marsi never allowed a Mustang past first base, and retired the side in order in the first, third, fifth and seventh innings.

St. Vincent hurler Jim Leoni gave up no hits in his five-inning stint.

MINOR LEAGUE REPORTS

A Fast Start For Forry

The Los Angeles Dodgers' pitching experiment with minor leaguer Dewey Forry of San Rafael is paying off.

The Terra Linda High School product, who originally signed with the National League baseball team as an outfielder in June, 1970, is developing into a sterling reliever with Bakersfield in the California League.

According to reports from Player Periscope statistical service in Novato, the 20-year-old right-hander picked up his third win of the young season last week. He pitched six innings in two games, striking out three and walking one while increasing his record to 3-0 and maintaining his 0.00 earned run average. For the season, he has made five appearances and gone 10 innings, striking out seven, walking five and giving up 2 hits.

Forry made the position transition in the winter of 1971; and, judging by his statistics, he has found a home on the mound.

Dewey's father, D. J. Forry, says that his son enjoys "being where the action is the hottest. He tells me that if he is going to make the majors, it will be as a pitcher."

The fire-balling pitcher was a starter last year and had a 3-2 record before going in the Reserve Air National Guard June 1, ending his season with Daytona Beach of the Florida State League.

He returned this year and was moved into the bullpen where he has responded well. Dewey has a good fastball and is working on his curve and changeup, according to his father.

While Forry was pitching to make a hit, three Marin outfielders were hitting to make a pitch toward major league status. The three were Novato's John Dolinsek and Tom Thomas and Marin City's Clifford Hall.

Of this trio, Dolinsek, an outfielder-first baseman with Denver of the American Association, is making the loudest noises with the bat. He batted .500 for the week, hitting singles in five of his 10 at-bats, scoring three runs while driving in one. For the season, the Houston Astro property is hitting .310, based on nine hits in 29 at-bats. He has scored five runs, socked two doubles and driven in a pair of runs.

Thomas was having batting woes last week, but the seven-day batting attrition did not drop his batting average below .300. Although he batted .167 for the period, he has a healthy .317 overall average, based on 60 at-bats.

The Pittsburgh Pirate product has 19 hits, including three home runs and seven runs batted in. He has also scored nine runs for Salem, Va. in the Carolina League. During his off-week, Thomas batted 18 times and had one homer in his three hits. He scored two runs and was credited with one RBI.

Hall, toiling with the Chicago Cubs' Quincy, Ill. team in the Midwest League, batted .153, his first week. He has a triple and a single in his 13 at-bats and has scored three runs while driving in three more.

Cautious Path—Wolfback Ridge

Marin County supervisors hied away yesterday from recommending Wolfback Ridge in Sausalito be included in the Golden Gate National Recreation Area. (Another Marin supervisors story, page 1.)

The board's refusal to act on the recommendation from a citizens' group came at the urging of Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. who said to push for inclusion of the land in the park might jeopardize funding for the entire park.

Arrigoni's comments came shortly before he left for congressional hearings on appropriations for the recreation area which stretches from San Francisco to Olema.

Meanwhile, in Washington, D.C., Arrigoni today told a Senate subcommittee the federal government should proceed with its original plans to purchase the 58,000-park over two years. He urged that $25 million be appropriated immediately.

"If property acquisition is not pursued diligently," he told the Interior Subcommittee of the Senate Appropriations Committee, "our woeful past experience (at Point Reyes National Seashore) indicates the likelihood that land within the proposed park may become the object of speculative manipulation and its value skyrocketed."

At present, only about $6 million is slated this year for land acquisition which is estimated to total $60 million.

Supervisors told Arrigoni yesterday to lobby for inclusion of Wolfback Ridge as well as other lands in Tennessee Valley but not to push if it would threaten funding for the entire park.

Inclusion of Wolfback Ridge will require special legislation because Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nevada, chairman of the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, has declared it a major revision of the originally proposed boundaries and thus beyond the scope of inclusion by administrative action of the Department of the Interior.

State Aid Sought On Juniper Plants

Marin County supervisors agreed yesterday to ask the state to reimburse local property owners for the loss of their juniper plants removed because of hawthorn juniper rust.

During the last six years, some 7,000 plants have been removed by the county agricultural commissioner in an effort to contain the disease found only in Marin County and parts of Europe.

Supervisors had considered imposing a moratorium on the eradication program but yesterday decided instead to ask local lawmakers in Sacramento for legislation to reimburse property owners who lose plants in the future.

The move came after state agricultural officials told supervisors the eradication program, if stopped, could threaten California's nursery industry since other states and countries would probably impose bans on importation of California plants.

The board's action, approved unanimously with Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. absent, also asks the state to reimburse the county for costs of running the eradication program.

"I don't see why Marin County residents should be paying double for something to protect the nursery industry and everyone else," Supervisor Michael Wornum said. "They're paying to have the plants removed (by the county) and the cost of the plants."

Deputy County Counsel George J. Silvestri Jr. said he felt state agricultural officials would fight a move by the county for state reimbursement of property owners.

Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere, saying there are 140,000 juniper plants in Marin, warned that if the state refused the reimbursement, he would push for a moratorium on plant removal.

Supervisors Prepare To Cut Corte Madera Project

With a threat of possible legal action, the Marin County Board of Supervisors prepared last night to trim the size of Corte Madera's proposed redevelopment project.

On a 3-to-0 vote, with Chairman Arnold M. Baptiste abstaining, the board created a two-man committee to negotiate with Corte Madera officials to reduce the scope of their $5 million project to $1.5 million.

Named to the committee were Supervisors Michael Wornum and Gary T. Giacomini who said they would use the county's redevelopment agreement with San Rafael as a model for negotiations with Corte Madera.

The Corte Madera project, bitterly opposed by some residents who have threatened a recall of three councilmen, would provide off site improvements — such as streets and drainage — for a regional shopping center east of Highway 101.

Using the San Rafael agreement, the product of months of negotiations and a complicated formula based on assessed valuation levels, Corte Madera would be permitted a $1.5 million project.

Baptiste abstained from voting, saying the assessed valuation formula used for San Rafael, when applied to all Marin County cities, "allows the rich to get richer and the poor, poorer." He urged that the formula be based on population of cities.

(The formula, in effect, uses the cities' total assessed valuation as a guideline for how much redevelopment will be permitted — dollarwise. Thus cities with high assessed valuation levels (and lower taxes) will be permitted more redevelopment than cities with lower assessed valuation.

"It's incumbent on this board to get other cities to abide by the criteria established for San Rafael," Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere said, adding without such criteria other cities would have "a blank check" for massive redevelopment projects.

As a result, he continued, the county's tax base could be eroded since city redevelopment is financed by the siphoning off of other taxing agencies' future revenues.

Teens Charged With Starting Tenement Fire

NEW YORK (UPI) — Six teen-age members of a Brooklyn street gang were charged Tuesday with starting a tenement fire in which six persons were killed, apparently because of a grudge against one youth who lived in the building.

Police said all six, ranging in age from 12 to 18, are members of a Brownsville street gang, "The War Lords."

The two-alarm fire Tuesday morning took the lives of Jinny Hayes, 47, her two sons, her daughter and two of her grandchildren.

Seven members of another family were injured and saved themselves by throwing a mattress out of their second floor rear apartment window and jumping to safety. The two families were the only persons in the building at the time of the blaze.

Board Delays Action On Paving Suggestion

Marin County supervisors yesterday deferred action for one week on a recommendation they appropriate $300,000 for paving and landscaping of the parking lot at the Veterans Memorial Building.

The board's action came despite pleas from Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella and Public Works Director Ray W. Foreaker Jr. that "this is the last day to act."

Four votes were needed to appropriate the funds for county reserves but Supervisors Gary T. Giacomini and Robert A. Roumiguiere balked, saying they wanted alternative proposals to the $300,000 recommendation.

Campanella and Foreaker urged the board to proceed, saying a delay would stretch the construction period into conflicting dates with auditorium and fairground use.

The chuckholed parking lot was paved two years ago with rock and oil in an economy move to keep the cost of completing the auditorium within budget reach.

Campanella and Foreaker agreed to return next week with alternative proposals, including another temporary treatment of the parking lot for $25,000.

Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

MORATORIUM — Adopted a wait and see position on water moratoriums imposed by Marin Municipal and North Marin County water districts. The board, while noting the moratoriums could erode the county's tax base, said they will ask the water districts to provide service for limited county growth once the countywide general plan is adopted.

TOMALES — Tabled a proposal that the county finance a $10,000 engineering study of sewage problems in the tiny community of Tomales until the area's sewer maintenance district is enlarged to include the entire town. About 15 homes are dumping raw sewage into Keyes Creek and have been ordered to stop by the regional water quality control board.

MASTER PLAN — Approved unanimously, supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. absent, a new Marin City Master Plan for balanced residential-commercial growth of the Southern Marin community. Some residents protested that not enough low and moderate-income family housing is included in the plan.

PAY — Authorized paying human rights commissioners $15 per meeting, not to exceed $30 per month. The rights commission was the last county commission where members volunteered their time.

CONSUMER — Authorized a $2,600 interdepartmental budget transfer in the human rights department for expansion of its consumer affairs pilot program.

COMPUTER — Authorized $5,000 for computer use in the county's balanced transportation study of recreational travel to West Marin and rerouting of intracounty buses for more patronage.

FLOORS — Appropriated about $13,000 for resurfacing the floors at the county jail and the juvenile hall kitchen. The contract was awarded to Malott and Peterson-Grundy of San Francisco.

JUDGE HALEY — Approved a $2,500 change order to the Hall of Justice landscaping contract for purchase of an engraved granite stone in memory of the late Judge Harold Haley, killed in the 1970 Civic Center shootout.

SETTLEMENT — Approved a $1,449 settlement in a suit between Pacific Coast Title Co., Albert Nunes and the county. The county will collect $1,200 of the settlement.

FAIR — Approved a nonbidded contract, not to exceed $11,000, with Cimino Electric Co. for installation of electrical wiring for the Marin County Fair. Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella said contracting with Cimino was cheaper than going to bid. Supervisors criticized the procedure but approved the contract.

MARINE LAB — Informed local legislators in Washington of the county's interest in acquiring the Tiburon Marine Laboratory if closed by the federal government. The board also has asked the government not to close the marine lab.

REPORT — Received but did not discuss a report from County Administrator John F. Barrows on governmental consolidation which will be presented to the governor's council on intergovernmental relations subcommittee.

MANPOWER — Received but took no action on a report for the spending of some $600,000 in federal manpower funds. Most would go to the Neighborhood Youth Corps program. It will be discussed next week.

REDUCTION — Approved reduction in force notices to three county employees — a counselor in the neighborhood youth corps, and the executive director and assistant director of comprehensive health planning. Comprehensive health planning will become a separate, noncounty agency in July.

CLOSED SESSION — Met for about 30 minutes in closed session to instruct the board's team negotiating with sheriff's office employees.

CHECKS — Authorized conversion from tab card payroll checks to paper checks for an estimated annual savings of about $2,200.

HOUSING — Heard a report from the Marin County Housing Authority on its response to recommendations and criticism from the county grand jury. The authority said it would work to comply with the jury's recommendations which said no leased housing unit should be vacant more than 10 days except under special circumstances. Two homes in Santa Venetia were left vacant for seven months, prompting the jury's investigation.

STUDY — Contracted with Baxter, McDonald and Smart economic consultants for a study of the viability of agriculture in Marin as part of the firm's economic impact study of the proposed countywide plan. Total cost of the combined studies is $110,500.

Plumbers Union Negotiates 8 Per Cent Hike

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Plumbers Union Local 38 has negotiated a pay-fringe benefit increase which could boost the hourly salary to $13.29 ½ an hour.

Officials said the increase amounted to 8 per cent and was negotiated with contractor associations in San Francisco, Marin, Sonoma and Mendocino counties.

The hike will be presented to the construction industry Pay Board for consideration. Last year the board cut the local's negotiated raise of 84 cents an hour to 25 cents.

The pay-benefit increase will be from the current $12.32 ½ an hour to $13.29 ½ an hour. The actual pay will be $10.33 ½ an hour with the rest of the money being put in pension, health and other fringe trust funds.

Strawberry Seeks Move Plan Facts

A Strawberry citizens group, in the midst of preparing a master plan for the community, has called for more information on how Strawberry's assignment to Tiburon's "sphere of influence" will affect the plan.

Sandra A. Dorsaneo, secretary of the Strawberry Area Community Council, said directors voted Monday to seek the information from the Marin County Counsel's office and the county planning commission.

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission assigned Strawberry to Tiburon's sphere of influence last week, meaning Tiburon has the inside track over rival Mill Valley in a possible future annexation attempt.

The community council set a meeting for 8 p.m. Tuesday at the community building to review progress on the master plan, which is being prepared by committees of Strawberry residents, and also to learn more about Tiburon's master plan.

"We want to know how our plan agrees with Tiburon's and how it disagrees," said Mrs. Dorsaneo. "Then we'll try to make them alike."

She said the community council also will sponsor a police-community relations meeting May 31.

YMCA Announces A Family Camp

The Young Men's Christian Association of Marin will hold the first family camp of the summer season May 26-28 at Lake Sequoia near Kings Canyon National Park.

Activities will include fishing, boating, sailing and hiking.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Outlook Good For Nabisco

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. For a good many years I have held quite a few shares of Nabisco, Inc. (NYSE). The company appears to be doing quite well and for this reason I am unable to understand why the shares just hang around 50. Since I depend on dividends for my livelihood should I stick with this stock? — V.D.

A. As you have noted, shares of this diversified food packager tend to move in cycles between the mid-sixties and mid-forties. For this reason I would hesitate to suggest a switch now when shares are close to the low end of their cycle. Several factors suggest an upturn in trading levels despite the profit margin squeeze apparent in the March quarter. At that time earnings rose 1 per cent year-to-year on a 14 per cent climb in sales. Although price increases of 3.21 per cent have been granted, not all of this has been taken by Nabisco at this time. Furthermore, wheat and materials costs are also thought to have peaked.

It is from foreign operations that the greatest growth is expected. Expenses incurred in achieving market penetration in 19 foreign countries are now largely behind. Thus, profits from these operations are increasing more rapidly than sales. In 1969, 25 per cent of company sales and 8 per cent of earnings were derived overseas. Last year the proportions had moved to 29 per cent of sales and 17 per cent of income. For the current year some 20 per cent of earnings should come from foreign sales. Tax loss carryforwards from several subsidiaries will also be a factor in earnings gains.

Diversification in recent years into non-food areas, now accounting for 10 per cent of sales, will help offset the cyclical nature of the company's business.

Camping And Backpacking Gear Will Be On Display Saturday

Newest lines of camping and backpacking gear will be displayed and demonstrated all day this Saturday during the fifth annual Camping and Backpacking Show at Marin Surplus Store in San Rafael at Jacoby and Simms Streets, behind Blue Chip Redemption Center.

Factory experts will be on hand from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Saturday to demonstrate inflatable boats, packs and frames, butane and propane appliances and freeze-dried foods (customers may sample some).

The latest in sleeping bags, tents, coolers and jugs, inflatable boats and kayaks, and backpacking equipment will be featured.

Many items will be reduced for special sale on two days — Friday and Saturday.

CASPIAN IMPORTS, the San San Rafael shop which features middle Eastern items, will move from B Street into 1313 Fourth Street where Contemporary Handcrafts closed last month. (Contemporary Handcrafts has consolidated with a San Anselmo shop called Flash at 638 San Anselmo Avenue.)

Djavad Mirmoez of San Rafael has been operating Caspian Imports at 909 D Street (across from post office). He hopes to move into the new location on Fourth Street about June 1. The new shop will almost double the present space. Mirmoez also wants to open a second Caspian Imports store in the Northgate Shopping area if he can find a suitable location.

Caspian Imports carries gift items, women's clothing, carpets, jewelry and handicraft, primarily from Persia, India and Afghanistan.

Mirmoez travels back and forth between Marin and Persia, where his father has owned a carpet store for about 30 years. Mirmoez was a partner in a store in San Francisco for about six months before he opened Caspian Imports in San Rafael last June.

STEVEN Y. SMITH of El Cerrito has been named banking services officer in Wells Fargo Bank's Mill Valley office. Smith joined the bank in 1972 after getting a master's degree in economics from California State University at Hayward.

Sewage System Three Years Away

A sewage system for downtown Point Reyes Station and a small portion of the residential area is at least three years away on the most optimistic timetable, members of the Point Reyes Planning Group were told last night.

Michael Hawley, chairman of the group's utilities and transportation committee, reported he had informed officials of the North Marin Water District that 70 per cent of the people living or owning property in the area said in recently circulated questionnaires they want sewers. Hawley said he visited with district officials to inquire about the prospect of a system.

The procedure he said, begins with an election to see if people would approve formation of a sewer district whose boundaries would be "very limited in size" because "that is all NMWD would tackle."

If the district were approved by voters and bonding capacity thus established, plans would be drawn up and another election held in which a two-thirds vote of approval would be necessary for funding. This would be followed by application for federal aid and an environmental impact report and hearings.

Hawley estimated this process would take at least two years, with another year necessary at a minimum for actual construction of the system.

"There can be no new building in downtown Point Reyes Station until we get a sewage system," said Virginia Eschenbach, zoning chairman of the group. Others at the meeting appeared to share this conclusion, but no action was taken.

Members also heard rpeorts on goals approved by committees on zoning, tourism and recreation.

General objectives of zoning, Mrs. Eschenbach said, should include preservation of the rural, semirural and small western town quality of Point Reyes Station.

Carol Friedman, tourism committee chairman, reported that her group believes a basic problem is to find a way to deal with tourism that will retain the character of the town, benefit residents and not destroy "the beauty that brought tourists here."

Restrooms may be placed at White House Pool, a popular fishing spot on Laguniats Creek near Point Reyes Station, the group learned.

The planning group had asked that public restrooms be placed on the edge of the downtown and not at the fishing hole, but its hopes appeared dashed by a letter from Pierre W. Joske, county parks and recreation director.

Restrooms are needed at streamside "for ecological as well as sanitary reasons," Joske wrote.

The county board of supervisors has the final say on installation of the restrooms.

Ten persons attended the meeting, presided over by Louis G. Steinberg.

The Pentagon Tab Defended

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon says it is not in debt but is somewhat like a college kid who has overspent his allowance.

This came out yesterday as spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim defended the Defense Department against charges by Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., that the department has illegally gone into debt $149 million.

"Someone, or perhaps several someones could go to jail over this," Aspin said this week.

"Maybe somebody should go back to school and learn how the defense budget works," Friedheim replied.

Tight Money Is Concern Of Builders

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Tight money siphoning potential construction money into other investments is the building industry's chief concern right now, a spokesman says.

"Inflation is rampant and the classic response is tight money," George C. Martin, president of the National Association of Home Builders, said Tuesday.

When yield for U.S. Treasury bills exceeds 5.5 per cent, builders begin worrying about a flow of money away from normal channels, Martin told the National Mortgage Conference here.

"In the first week of April the bill rate was 6.5 per cent, and it is still higher than anything we have seen since the money crunch of 1969-70," Martin said.

Martin said rising interest rates affect home builders in these ways:

—If mortgage interest rates increase 1 per cent, housing starts decline by 150,000 units.

—A decline in housing production causes a decrease in sales of existing homes in a 2½ or 3 to 1 ratio. That means a decline of 400,000 sales of existing homes.

—A 1 per cent interest rate increase in monthly payments removes an estimated ½ million families from the potential home buying market.

Boy Saved From Pool Drowning

A 12-year-old Petaluma boy was saved from drowning in a swimming pool at a Petaluma apartment complex yesterday at 4:30 p.m. after fast action by alert neighbors.

Leo Bertao, 1200 D Street, was reported in good condition at Hillcrest Hospital.

Police said the boy's mother, Mrs. Agostino Bertao, saw him lying unconscious at the bottom of the pool from her second floor apartment. Since Mrs. Bertao cannot speak English, she rapped loudly on her window until she got the attention of a neighbor and pointed to the pool area.

Officers said Larry Vogersen, 28, immediately dove into the pool and lifted the boy from the bottom. Another neighbor, John Hallenbarter, 24, helped pull the boy from the water and gave artificial respiration until he began breathing on his own and an ambulance crew arrived.

General Plan Questionnaires

The San Anselmo Citizens Committee on the General Plan has mailed to citizens questionnaires covering a wide variety of community issues.

The survey seeks opinions on the general plan and issues of community concern, according to Pieter Toal, committee chairman.

Toal said all questionnaires should be returned to city hall by May 25.

Plain Talk . . . . ABOUT LUCKY-TRIM MEATS

The way meat is trimmed of excess fat and bone is more important than the price per pound. For example, the chine bone, gristle and excess fat in an ordinary Standing Rib Roast can add up to 14 per cent of its total weight... that's 14 percent of the roast you can't eat!

In plain figures, there can be as much as 70 cents worth of waste in a $5.00 roast . . . waste that Lucky demands be trimmed away BEFORE the cut of meat is weighed and wrapped. And with T-Bone Steaks, the excess fat and tough tail end of the steak can add 4 ounces of weight . . . and a proportinate amount to the price you pay for it. But again . . . NOT at Lucky. These are carefully trimmed away before you buy your steak.

Lucky-Trim gives more good eating per pound because excess fat and bone is trimmed away before packaging and weighing. (That's why our T-Bone and Porterhouse steaks have no tails) And . . . if you don't see exactly the cut of meat you want, just ask our meat experts . . . they'll gladly prepare special cuts at no extra charge!

County Board Merges Trio Of Departments

Betty Presley Will Direct Superagency

By ERIK M. INGRAM

Three of Marin County's largest departments — health, welfare and probation — were merged yesterday by county supervisors in what was described as a move "to improve the delivery of services."

The board's action, on a 3-to-2 vote, named Welfare Director Betty L. Presley to head the new "superagency" which will become operational July 1 as the Department of Health and Human Services. (Other supervisors stories, pages 44 and 45.)

Supervisors Michael Wornum and Gary T. Giacomini sided with the majority of the large audience in calling for further study of the consolidation, which will create one department with 600 employees and a $20 million annual budget.

They were outvoted, however, by fellow supervisors Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Robert A. Roumiguiere who agreed with Chairman Arnold M. Baptiste's comments that the consolidation had been under study, in one form or another, for five years and that it was time to act.

The consolidation plan was submitted last month by County Administrator John F. Barrows, who has said that while little or no money will be saved, services and efficiency will be improved.

Miss Presley and a special staff are to spend one year studying how to implement the reorganization during fiscal 1974-75. She will have authority over the three departments during that one-year period, even though they will be operating much as they are now.

Her special staff will have a budget next year of about $75,000, which supervisors said they will appropriate during June budget sessions.

The consolidation was approved despite the pleas of Chief Probation Officer John W. Brewer, backed by many in the audience, that his department not be included.

Brewer reasoned that the probation department is more closely aligned with the criminal-justice field than with social services.

Supported by members of the Probation Workers Union, he asked supervisors to delay a decision until after next week's hearing on a proposed department of corrections, into which, he said, his department would more properly fit.

Others in the audience voiced similar opinions, some calling for a committee or task force to study the consolidation and present "hard figures" which they said are lacking in Barrows' proposal.

Winifred S. Frederick of the Irate Taxpayers of Marin acknowledged that more efficiency and better services are needed but said the county administrator hadn't considered other methods of achieving the goal. Nothing except "to create new and larger conglomerate departments," she said.

While opposing inclusion of the probation department, she said "the real problem" with the proposal is the massive health department, which was consolidated from 10 agencies two years ago.

"Not only has that consolidation not produced any notable improvement in service but the budget has risen while employee morale has dropped," she

Novato Girl, 11, Killed On Bicycle

An 11-year-old Novato girl, on her way home from swimming practice, was fatally injured in a car and bicycle collision at San Marin and San Andreas drives last night.

The victim was Michelle Kuhn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Kuhn of 363 San Luis Way.

Michelle's southbound bicycle and a westbound car driven by Joseph Charles Lucken Jr., 41, of 1721 Weaverly Drive, Petaluma, collided on San Marin Drive at 6:24 p.m. Novato police reported.

Lucken told officers he didn't see Michelle until the collision because the sun was blinding his vision, which also was hindered by shrubbery in a turning bay to his right.

Officers said Lucken was unable to say whether Michelle was riding or walking her bicycle at the time and said he saw only a shadow on impact.

According to a police diagram, Michelle was in the crosswalk just beyond the turning bay when the collision occurred and officers said it appeared she failed to yield the right of way to oncoming traffic when entering San Marin Drive.

Officers said she was knocked about 36 feet by the impact and was lying unconscious with serious head injuries when they arrived. She was taken to Novato General Hospital, where she died at 7:50 p.m.

Police have issued an urgent request for anyone who witnessed the accident to notify them, since the investigation is continuing.

Kuhn, an attorney and past president of the San Marin Improvement Association, said his daughter was returning home from swimming practice. She was a member of the San Marin Club swimming team and a girl scout. She was a pupil at San Ramon School.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at the Redwood Chapel Funeral Home in Novato.

Officer Albert J. Mendoza, bicycle safety officer, said he believes it the first time in the city's history a bicyclist has been killed in an accident.

The fatality was the seventh in Marin this year, compared to 11 at the same time last year.

Tiburon School May Shut

Time may be running out for tiny Tiburon School.

Reed School District trustees last night were told by Supt. Ralph D. Giovanniello that enrollment has dropped to the point that it isn't economical to run it any more.

The school, with a present enrollment of 77 with three teachers, was slated to be closed in the fall of 1970, but a strong showing of support by parents persuaded the board to keep it open.

No such showing was made last night, when Giovanniello presented four choices to the board, three of them involving closing Tiburon School.

The choices are closing Tiburon School, moving kindergarten and first grade class to Belvedere School and second graders to Reed School; closing Tiburon School, moving its students to Reed School and adding a third grade to the existing kindergarten through second grades at Belvedere School; closing Tiburon and moving all classes to Reed School, and leaving the schools the way they are.

The makeup of Tiburon School has changed over the years as the number of children living in its attendance area has declined, said Giovanniello.

"Belvedere School is a real neighborhood school, but we've been bringing in other children to Tiburon School recently and it's no longer a neighborhood school," said Giovanniello.

He said the board will discuss the choices at its next meeting at 8 p.m. next Tuesday at Del Mar School.

In an unrelated action, the board accepted the resignation of Mike B. Meagher, principal of Reed, Belvedere and Tiburon schools. He will become a principal in Bozeman, Mont., Giovanniello said, adding that the move has nothing to do with the possibility of closing Tiburon School.

The board also agreed to pay $7.97 per employee per month for a dental plan starting July 1, an increase over the current rate of $7.12 per month.

Trustees also heard a request from nonteaching employees that they get the same seven per cent salary increase being asked by teachers.

The Skylab Countdowns Under Way

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Dual countdowns began today for the launching next Monday and Tuesday of the Skylab space station and its first three-man crew on an ambitious eight-month project to put men to work in orbit.

While ground crewmen started final preparations for the twin launchings, negotiators for 130 tracking station workers and the Bendix Field Engineering Corp., reached a tentative agreement to end a two-week strike. The walkout was the only potential obstacle to the marathon mission.

The long chain of countdown operations leading to the launching of America's first base in space began at 2 a.m. EDT at firing pad 39A, last used to send men to the moon in December.

Six hours later, another crew started the countdown on the modified Apollo moonship that is to ferry Charles (Pete) Conrad, Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz to the orbiting laboratory Tuesday a day after the lab is launched.

The Apollo and its Saturn 1B rocket are mounted on Launch Pad 39B, 8,700 feet from the Skylab and its larger Saturn 5 rocket.

'BUILDING WITH LEAKS'

Kids Confused By Watergate

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — The Charlotte Observer asked a group of fourth graders to write what they know about the Watergate bugging scandal.

The answers, published Tuesday, included:

—"A big building with leaks."

—"A democratic building trying to stop water pollution."

—"A few weeks ago I thought it was where boats got threw a gate. But now I know what it is. The Democrats bugged the Republican headquarters but I don't know why."

—"President Nixon was talking about it. I think it is China with the Great Wall with water in it."

—"I think Watergate is a gate with some kind of rusty water in it that a lot of people don't like."

—"I think it is plain dumb. Republicans should not interrupt the phone service. If they had a complaint, why couldn't they call President Nixon?"

—"Watergate is the Democrats headquarters. Some people put bugs in and got caught. In court their trying to find out if ther guilty or not. President Nixon said some of his assoshets are caught up in it. He said he is being very fare about it too. Some people think he is being unfare."

Hub Threat On Annexation Bid

By PAUL LIBERATORE

The San Anselmo City Council last night threatened that if the county board of supervisors approves construction of more than 16 units in a controversial housing development plan, the city will refuse to annex the area. (Another San Anselmo City Council story, page 3.)

The council voted 3-to-1 to strengthen a recommendation made to the county April 10 that the proposed Max D. Schenk development be limited to 16 dwelling units. Councilman Woodrow V. Capurro opposed the measure. Councilman Warren R. Perry was absent.

The county planning commission on Monday approved the building of "not more than 20 units" on the site located at the end of San Francisco Boulevard in county jurisdiction but within the city's sphere of influence. The commission's recommendation is expected to go before the board of supervisors within two weeks.

Building, Schenk has said, would be limited to a two-acre area, the remaining 13 acres to be designated as open space.

The council also agreed to request that the open space be given to the city as part of its Sorich Ranch Park, currently an open space preserve.

The action came after two representatives of organizations opposing the development — Nancy Willner of the Concerned Citizens' Lobby and Nancy Bennett of the Sorich Park Area Residents group — pleaded with the council to take a tougher stand.

"I'll do better than that," declared Councilman Martin G. Blinder in voting to refuse annexation. "I will go out there with a sign when Schenck is trying to sell the houses, saying that the city does not provide services to the area. Then we'll see how many houses he sells."

Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson also was adamant in opposing any future consideration of annexation of Schenk's proposed Oak Hill Park development.

"Let them (the planned homes) sit out there until doomsday," he said.

Capurro agreed that the city should reemphasize its suggested 16 unit limit, but balked at threatening to deny annexation, saying "I don't want any part of that."

Another Resignation In Widening Bugging Scandal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Another administration official linked to the widening Watergate scandal quit today and Attorney General-designate Elliot L. Richardson promised to let the Senate have the final say on his choice for a special prosecutor.

While Richardson was assuring senators that he would not choose a prosecutor they might not find acceptable, Transportation Undersecretary Egil (Bud) Krogh submitted his resignation to President Nixon.

Krogh —a presidential appointee —said he probably was wrong to have agreed to a plan for a burglary of the office of a psychiatrist treating Pentagon Papers defendant Daniel Ellsberg in September 1971.

Krogh, a White House assistant at the time, said in a letter to Nixon that the mission was carried out without knowledge or permission of any of his superiors. He said he "may well have been in error" to think it "was dictated inescapably by the vital national security interests of the United States."

Richardson, testifying before the Senate Judiciary Committee at confirmation hearings on his nomination to be attorney general, indicated that it would be some time yet before he selected a special prosecutor for the Watergate investigation.

Marin Woman To Guide Raft Full Of Strangers

LAS PALMAS, Spain (UPI) — A 36-year-old Marin woman, Mary Gidley, will serve as navigator on a transatlantic voyage aboard a raft that will throw 12 strangers from 11 countries together for three months.

Mrs. Gidley lived for some years in the Sausalito Yacht Harbor with her former husband, Cass Gidley, and two children. More recently she lived in San Rafael.

The voyage aboard the 56-ton raft Alcali is being organized by Santiago Genoves, a Mexican anthropologist who said he planned the trip as a social behavior experiment.

Six months of planning and $250,000 expense have gone into the experiment, which critics have called a "sex raft."

Genoves denies this, saying he hopes to confirm his theory that human conflicts are motivated by basic instincts such as sexual drives and greed but are not inherent.

The raft, due to leave today or tomorrow, is to drift across the Atlantic carrying two Jews, an Arab, an African, a black American, a Swede, a Greek, a French woman, a Japanese and a Uruguayan, in addition to Genoves and Mrs. Gidley.

Boxes of predetermined menus have been stored aboard as well as a supply of water to be used at the rate of one-half gallon a day. There will be no books aboard and the only radio is only for transmitting.

The crew, headed by a Swedish woman skipper, will "be very close together both physically and mentally for the next three months," Genoves said.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

River To Recede

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Mississippi River, flooding its banks for the 59th straight day yesterday, is expected to begin slowly receding this week but remain overflowed at least until June 1.

The river broke previous flood records set in 1844 when it was at flood levels for 58 days. The Army Corps of Engineers said the river had been over the flood stage at St. Louis since March 10.

The corps noted the river was not expected to go below flood levels until June. A spokesman noted this would exceed an 80-day flood recorded in a 432-year- old journal kept by the explorer DeSoto.

Team Fired Upon

SAIGON (UPI) — Spurts of small arms fire were directed at an international truce team Jeep carrying a Canadian warrant officer and a Vietnames driver yesterday, but neither man was injured, a Canadian truce spokesman said today.

Saigon reported a slight increase in Communist truce violations over the past 24 hours and denied as "groundless" charges that government warplanes sprayed toxic chemicals in Viet Cong-controlled territory.

A government spokesman said "only the Communists" are still using chemical warfare in South Vietnam.

An Apology

BELFAST (UPI) — A British government minister has apologized for an attempt by the army to force a 16-year-old Roman Catholic youth to spy, but the case touched off a House of Commons move to probe any other such army actions.

"I will see it does not happen again," said Defense Secretary Lord Carrington. "Appropriate disciplinary action has been taken."

The case and its background was related yesterday by Gerry Fitt, a leader of the Catholic-led Social Democratic and Labor party and a member of parliament in Londaon.

He said the youth, a Belfast porter, told him the army was blackmailing him to pass on information about activities of suspected Irish Republican Army members using the hotel.

The youth, he said, was taken by troops to a police station, where he signed a statement confessing that he had an affair with the wife of a jailed IRA man.

Cong Peace Plan

PARIS (UPI) — The Viet Cong said today there can be no permanent peace in Vietnam unless the cease-fire there is enforced. The Communists submitted a three-point plan to end all hostilites.

Viet Cong Minister of State Nguyen Van Hieu presented the Communist proposal at the 10th meeting between Viet Cong and Saigon negotiators aimed at charting the political future of South Vietnam.

The proposal calls for immediate withdrawal by troops of both sides to the lines they held Jan. 28 when the cease-fire went into effect.

A Concession

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Indian officials said today that the king of Sikkim agreed last night to surrender some of his powers, but not his status, to make way for a more democratic government in his tiny but strategic Himalayan state.

The agreement followed a revolt by some political leaders in April for more democratic powers and a decision by India to take over the administration of the kingdom.

New Offensive

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Communist troops have shifted the thrust of their offensive away from Phnom Penh, launching attacks along two major highways and infiltrating a string of villages north of the capital, military sources said today.

Torture Charge

SAIGON (UPI) — North Vietnam today broadcast its first post-truce charge that Americans tortured Communist POWs, alleging atrocities that ranged from "brutal beatings" to "surgical experiments."

It said up to 40 per cent of the returned Communist prisoners of war suffered mental disorders.

Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency VNA, in a broadcast heard in Saigon, said in one case, U.S. troops beat and mistreated a Communist war prisoner so badly that he is now a paraplegic.

Holy Year Set

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI today announced the first Holy Year of the space age, bringing Roman Catholic pilgrims from around the world to Rome in 1975.

The pontiff said the theme of the Holy Year would be "the interior renewal of man" to bring mankind back to a knowledge of God.

This will be first such event since 1950 and the 25th since the year 1300, when Pope Boniface VIII called on Catholics to make a penitential pilgrimage to the reputed tombs in Rome of the apostles Peter and Paul.

Attack Area

BEIRUT (UPI) — Lebanese army units in Beirut and in a large region of southern Lebanon were attacked today with heavy barrages of rockets and mortar fire, an army communique siad.

The fighting broke out last night, only minutes after a cease-fire was announced between the government and Palestinian guerrilla forces after a week of often heavy fighting.

WILLIAM WOOLDRIDGE
Sees a big coverup

Club Fraud Linked To Generals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A top Army enlisted man convicted of conspiring with others in a racketeering ring to defraud U.S. military clubs says there was a "big coverup" of wrongdoings that probably stretched into the ranks of the generals.

Former Sgt. Maj. William O. Wooldridge made the accusation in testimony he gave to investigators for the Senate Permanent Investigating subcommittee last March. The testimony was released Tuesday during a hearing at which he and three other coconspirators told of widespread corruption in the clubs and coverup efforts by their superiors.

Wooldridge, who was then with the 1st Infantry Division in Vietnam, said Army Chief of Staff William Westmoreland ordered an investigation of the scheme in 1968 after the Senate subcommittee began making inquiries. The division command also started its own inquiry, he said.

Wooldridge said it was a "very unusual procedare" for the Chief of Staff's office to interfere in such a situation.

"I believe there was a big coverup, yes, sir."

Press Given New Rap By Agnew

CHARLOTTESVILLE, V a. (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who last week called for an end to hostility between the administration and the news media, Tuesday compared reporting of the Watergate affair to McCarthyism, saying the media had "trespassed the bounds of propriety."

Agnew said reporting of the Watergate scandal was "based on hearsay, investigative reporting which has not been verified, and rumors."

In a speech and question and answer session at the University of Virginia, he singled out the Washington Post, which won a Pulitzer Prize Monday for its Watergate coverage, for particular criticism. He charged that a story it published last month about former Attorney General John N. Mitchell was based on "double hearsay, at the very least."

Agnew's comments echoed those of Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., often a major critic of the administration, who accused the press Monday of printing "sensational" stories that were "McCarthyism at its worst." The reference was to the tactics of the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy used to root out communism in the early 1950s.

Answering questions for more than an hour from many of the 4,000 persons in the audience, Agnew said he felt that the facts in the Watergate case would have emerged eventually without the recent massive concentration of the news media.

He said some reporters had "overblown" their importance in bringing out the truth.

"In their zealousness to be sure they get the maximum potential fact over to the public, they have trespassed the bounds of propriety," he said. "There is a very short jump from the McCarthy techniques to what is going on right now in the Watergate."

Pentagon Papers Case In Recess

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — There were strong indications today the judge in the Pentagon Papers trial may order the acquittal of Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo Jr.

Both sides rested their cases yesterday ending testimony after 18 weeks.

U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne told attorneys he would "like to hear some argument" on a defense motion for a directed acquittal.

The judge at one point asked attorneys "speaking hypothetically, what if, after I ruled, there was nothing left (for the defendants) to appeal?" The defendants would have nothing to appeal if they were declared innocent.

The defense has filed several motions for dismissal of charges based on several accusations.

The accusations include a charge that White House aides broke into the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist and rifled his files and that Byrne was called to the Western White House at San Clemente, during the course of the trial, and was offered the FBI directorship at a meeting that President Nixon himself attended briefly.

Defense attorneys said President Nixon himself should be subpoenaed to appear at a special hearing into government misconduct.

The trial has become deeply tangled with the Watergate incident, the White House and the CIA. In was a grand jury investigation into the involvement of White house aides into a break-in at Democratic National Headquarters at the Watergate office complex in Washington that the reports of the break-in at Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office first surfaced.

It was revealed at the trial yesterday that the CIA supplied, on orders from the White House, material to aid in the break-in at Ellsberg's psychiarist's office. E. Howard Hunt, who was convicted as a Watergate conspirator and has admitted the break-in at Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office, was provided by the CIA, on orders from the White House, with a disguise, false identity documents and camera for a mission to "case the psychiatrist's office for the break-in."

"I think there are some critical issues to consider on the acquittal motion, and I would not want either side to pass it over lightly," the judge said.

In asking for a dismissal, the defense argued that the case "should not go to the jury under a cloud which grows darker every day."

An Honor For Truman

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI) — A smiling Margaret Truman Daniel accepted two sheets of the commemorative stamps honoring the late Harry S Truman and said, "I think he'd be absolutely shocked to know he is on a stamp."

It marked the 89th anniversary of the birth of the nation's 33rd president yesterday.

Probe Into CIA Link Is Opened

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate begins an investigation today into charges that the Central Intelligence Agency helped in the burglary of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Marine Corps Commandant Gen. Robert E. Cushman Jr. cut short a European trip and was on his way home to answer charges he authorized use of CIA material and research in the burglary in 1971 when he was deputy director of the CIA.

CIA Director James R. Schlesinger and Dr. Bernard Melloy, chief of CIA's psychiatric division, were scheduled to testify in closed hearings this afternoon.

The chairman, Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said Cushman and Richard Helms, former CIA director and now U.S. ambassador to Iran, would testify at a later date.

It was not known just when Cushman would arrive. Pentagon spokesman Jerry Friedheim said Cushman had planned to return next Sunday

Friedheim said that at least three congressional committees, one grand jury and the federal court in Los Angeles trying Ellsberg on espionage charges in the Pentagon Papers case wanted to hear from Cushman, who flew to Europe Saturday.

Four Arrested In Lagunitas Drug Raid Enter Guilty Pleas

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Four of seven persons arrested in a drug raid last November at a Lagunitas residence have pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court to charges of attempting to distribute hashish.

Due to be sentenced June 11 are Candi Jill Nelson, 21, of San Rafael; Allan Norman Mayoff, 30, of Stinson Beach, and Danny Sheppard, 26, and George W. Pickell Jr., 26, both of Port Neches, Tex.

Two other defendants, Paul Schmale, 23, of San Rafael, and Thomas Harney, age and address unknown, are to return to court May 21 for setting of a jury trial. A seventh man, Robert Thomas Johnson, 26, of Forest Knolls, is being sought by authorities after he failed to appear in court in March.

The seven were arrested by federal drug abuse law enforcement agents after a planned buy of a large quantity of hashish at San Francisco International Airport did not materialize.

Agents said they found drugs in the Lagunitas residence where the defendants were picked up.

Hub Council Says No To Gas Station

The San Anselmo City Council last night rejected a request by Standard Oil Co. to replace its service station at 160 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard with a larger one. (Another San Anselmo City Council story, page 1.)

The city council objected that larger structure would intrude on the creek area and that the lot is too small for such use.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

NUISANCE — Declared an unoccupied house at 24 Timothy Avenue a public nuisance and ordered the owner, Thomas Siddle, either to shore up the slipping home or demolish and remove it within 30 days.

SUNNY HILLS — Continued a public hearing on rezoning property owned by Sunny Hills School for six months, when the city is expected to have a new zoning ordinance and general plan for the area.

LEGISLATION — Supported on request of Blinder three proposed bills in the state legislature and one constitutional amendment. They would require that candidates for office and committees supporting candidates or taking a stand on ballot measures file statements listing their five largest contributors of more than $100; that certain properties deemed of historical value be exempt from property taxes; that dwellings of persons aged 62 or older within a maximum income bracket be exempt from property tax; and that smoking in public accommodations not open to the sky be made a misdemeanor.

OPEN SPACE — Supported Senate Bill 594 which would extend from June 30, 1973, to Sept. 30, 1973, the state deadline for preparation and adoption of a local open space plan and zoning ordinance.

MARATHON — Approved the use of a city fire truck as a first aid and rest station for the Marin County Heart Association fund-raising bicycle marathon Saturday if adequate backup is provided.

POLICE — Endorsed a proposed regional training center near Santa Rosa for police officers.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned until a special session set for 8 p.m. May 15 to consider the proposed budget for the Sleepy Hollow Fire Protection District.

Concert Is Set At Hub Church

A free concert of classical clarinet, flute and guitar music will be presented at 8 p.m. Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo.

Clarinetist David Treganowen will perform music by Mozart, Debussy and Von Weber. Flutist John Tomlinson will present sonatas of Bach and Handel, and Paul Bertolli, guitarist, will play works by Bach, Albeniz and Sanz.

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Wednesday, May 9, the 129th day of 1973 with 236 to follow.

The moon is in its first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

Scottish novelist Sir James Barrie was born May 9, 1860.

On this day in history:

In 1502, Christopher Columbus set sail from Cadiz, Spain on his fourth and final voyage to America.

In 1926, Cmdr. Richard Byrd and Floyd Bennett became the first men to fly over the North Pole.

In 1946, King Victor Emmanuel III of Italy abdicated, leaving the throne to his son, Crown Prince Humberto.

In 1970, United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther was killed in a Michigan plane crash.

A thought for the day: American statesman Daniel Webster said, "There is nothing so powerful as truth. . .and often nothing so strange."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, light air pollution.

Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.

Carbon monoxide, clean air.

Smoke particles, clean air.

Other areas:

San Francisco, light air pollution.

San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Early Birds Get Space In School

To ensure their 5-year-olds getting into kindergarten at Kent Elementary School in September, four Kentfield mothers arrived at 4 a.m. today at the doors of the school office, spread sleeping bags on the concrete sidewalk and dozed under the stars.

By the time school officials arrived at 8 o'clock 24 mothers were waiting for the registration scheduled to begin at 9:30 a.m. They were allowed into the library, registered their children, and the entire quota of 24 kindergarteners for Kent School in September was complete.

Parents arriving after 8 a.m. learned that their children will probably have to be bussed to Bacich School in the fall. By 9:30 a.m., when parents were still arriving, 34 children had been registered.

At present the kindergarten arrangements for fall in the Kentfield District are one session at Kent School, one session at Greenbrae School, and two sessions at Bacich.

District Supt. Eugene Peters said there is no spare classroom at Kent to hold a second session.

The first mothers to arrive at the school today were Gail Hayne and Britt Thorner. They were soon joined by Susan Leipsic and Sandy Patterson.

"Our primary concern is that a number of young families moved into this area because the school is within walking distance," said Mrs. Leipsic. "The reason we moved from San Francisco was because our children were being sent to far away schools. Now it seems several 5-year-olds will be bussed anyway."

Traffic Flow To Be Altered

Projects in progress on Highway 101 which will alter traffic patterns or affect the flow of traffic tomorrow were announced today by the state Division of Highways.

Sections of freeway involved are:

1. Northbound traffic will be routed into two lanes north and south of Richardson Bay Bridge from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. during paving.

2. Northbound and Southbound traffic will be stopped for one-minute intervals every four to five minutes from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. from Ignacio Boulevard to Lamont Avenue during bridge construction.

Watergate File Is Assembled

The San Rafael Library has compiled a folder of material on the impeachment process due to citizen interest sparked by the Watergate scandal.

The folder, available in the library's research files, includes encyclopedia articles on the impeachment process, Constitutional provisions for impeachment and news clippings according to librarian Vivian Smith.

The file was compiled for easy reference after a number of inquiries from students, teachers and citizens, she said.

Lack Of Quorum

The Kentfield Fire Protection District board has postponed tonight's regular meeting for lack of a quorum to next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the firehouse.

said. "Burying it within a new and larger department will not make its troubles go away."

Grace Hughes, chairman of Marin Alternative, urged further study of the administrator's proposal. "We are concerned that a large consolidated department will result in worse, not better, delivery of services," she said. "Overly large departments, covering a wide range of diverse activities, tend to discourage decision making at the delivery level."

Others urging more study included spokesmen from the Comprehensive Health Planning Council, Child and Youth Mental Health Committee, Community Action Marin, Juvenile Justice Commission, the Superior Court and about 10 persons not representing organizations.

Among those supporting it was Dr. Donovan O. Cooke, head of the health department, who said the advantages outweighed the disadvantages.

Differing with Mrs. Frederick, he said his department's earlier consolidation had shown "there are benefits to be gained but it takes awhile for them to show up."

Barrows agreed, and presented figures showing the health department was operating at about the same cost as three years ago when it was many separate departments.

Marion Kelly of the Marin Volunteer Bureau appeared to sum up the position of those supporting the proposal when he said it "provides for a mechanism to do the planning that is asked for. . .and the authority to do it."

Chairman Baptiste agreed saying it was time to force consolidation on the departments to eliminate duplication and "provide better delivery of services." To leave it to the departments to eliminate duplication through a cooperative effort as some had proposed would fail, he said, because of "territorial barriers" which surround each department.

Supervisor Arrigoni agreed, adding that no speaker had disputed the need for improved services from the departments but only the way it was achieved.

"We need a vehicle with teeth in it to force better services," said Supervisor Roumiguiere. "I don't think we can afford the duplication caused by departmental provincialism," he said, moving approval of the consolidation plan.

It was seconded by Arrigoni.

The hearing on the proposal lasted nearly four hours and caused the board's meeting to run until 11 p.m.

Workshop For Ballet To Start

Ballet watchers will have a chance to observe dancers in classes and workshops when the Eighth Annual Pacific Regional Ballet Festival gets under way tomorrow through Saturday at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building in San Rafael.

More than 600 dancers, teachers and ballet directors began to converge on San Rafael today for the festival, which will be highlighted by the performance of the Gala Ballet at 8 p.m. Saturday at the veterans building. The Marin Civic Ballet has been selected to dance in the Gala performance.

Free public events on Friday include: a chamber concert featuring nine dance companies at 1:30 p.m.; a pas de deux class at 3:45 p.m. and a lecture on orthopaedics and ballet injury at 5 p.m. All these events will be at the veterans buiilding.

For $25, the public may buy an observer's pass for all classes during the three days. Daily passes are $8.

Tomorrow's highlights include a workshop performance at the veterans building at 6 p.m., an Afro-Haitian class at 11 a.m. and a jazz dancing class, also at 11 a.m.

Saturday there will be two workshops on organizing for the arts and funding the arts from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. in the Bay Rooms of the Holiday Inn in San Rafael.

The festival, considered the most important event in nonprofessional ballet on the West Coast, will draw dancers and ballet officials from 27 regional companies.

College Sets Chess Tourney

Sonoma State College will host a chess tournament Saturday and Sunday in the Commons.

Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. Saturday with play starting at 10 a.m. each day. The tournament will include a four-round Swiss-style match for members of the United States Chess Federation and a five-round swiss section for nonmembers.

All participants should bring their own chessboards, chessmen and clocks. Trophies, books and cash awards will be made.

School Closure Will Be Viewed

The San Anselmo School District board will discuss a proposal to phase out Isabel Cook School when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Red Hill School.

The closure may be necessary because of sagging enrollment in the district, according to Supt. Frank R. Elliott.

The board will also consider a reduction in staff for 1973-74, a school calendar for next year and a health plan for employees.

Backyard Burning Citations Issued

Citations for backyard burning violations by two Marin residents and a Cotati man were issued during April by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, according to John T. Donovan, director of enforcement.

Receiving the notices were J. E. McGee of Novato, Samuel A. Costanzo of San Rafael and E. Washington of Cotati.

This raised speculation that further expected indictments by a federal grand jury might be delayed.

Now defense secretary, Richardson said he had consulted more than 80 persons in his search for an independent prosecutor and that he had compiled a list with "a large number of names" for consideration. He said he would be asking advice from various legal organizations and individuals, including former Chief Justice Earl Warren.

He told the Senate Judiciary Committee, headed by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., that he would welcome Senate approval of his choice and "if the Senate did not concur, I would feel obliged to propose another selection."

A former presidential aide, Charles W. Colson, appeared at the federal courthouse this morning, presumably to testify before the Watergate grand jury. It was expected that he wanted to tell his version of E. Howard Hunt's preparation of fake State Department cables to implicate the Kennedy administration in the 1963 assassination of South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Hunt, who pleaded guilty in the January trial of the original Watergate Seven, has told the grand jury that he copied 240 secret diplomatic documents after Colson asked him to see if the Kennedy administration had a hand in Diem's murder.

An attorney with Colson said his client was appearing voluntarily.

Richardson, in his testimony, said he would arrange his choices for special prosecutor in order of priority and submit the names to the presidents of the American Bar Association, the American College of Trial Lawyers and "certain other individuals."

Eastland asked how Richardson felt about having his choice approved by the entire Senate.

"If the Senate did not concur," Richardson said, "I would feel obligated to propose another selection."

Richardson said he had sought recommendations for the special prosecutor post from the presidents of the bar and trial lawyers associations, judges, prosecuting attorneys, practicing lawyers, members of Congress and various other persons.

Richardson was given overall command of the government investigation of the Watergate scandal by President Nixon last week. Richardson, now defense secretary, announced Monday he would choose a special prosecutor, who would be answerable only to him.

There had been strong pressure from Republicans and Democrats alike for selection of a special prosecutor, and some criticism has continued since Richardson's Monday announcement because critics contended the prosecutor still would not be entirely independent.

Richardson said he had "a large number of names" of prospects. He said the next step would be to draw up a list in the order of priority to submit to Warren and the others.

Richardson had no formal statement as the hearing began in a crowded room. Eastland asked him whether he had a biography of himself. As Richardson shuffled some papers and indicated that he did, Eastland asked:

"Did you ever hear of the Watergate affair?"

The audience laughed and Richardson said, "Yes, Mr. Chairman." Eastland came right back with: "What are you going to do about it?" Then followed Richardson's remarks about choosing a special prosecutor.

Shortage Of Funds For Program

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors heard yesterday that lack of federal funds will reduce the number of Emergency Employment Act jobs for disadvantaged persons in 1973-74.

Kennon Gilbert, program director, said 32 of the 127 persons currently working under the program will be dropped and that new funds will provide for only 27 new positions.

The program was funded in 1972 to provide job training and opportunities for persons who lack skills or had recently returned from military service in Vietnam.

Gilbert said he doesn't know how many of the 32 employees scheduled for phase-out of the program could be absorbed into permanent jobs. The County of Sonoma has 64 employees from the program while another 63 work for cities or other agencies.

BART Sets Operation To Concord

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Bay Area Rapid Transit District got permission yesterday to extend passenger operations to Concord on May 21.

The Public Utilities Commission specified service to Concord will be a separate operation from the present line.

"There shall be no interface between trains during revenue operations on the Fremont to Richmond line and the Concord to MacArthur line," the PUC said.

The commission said BART operations will remain subject to conditions the PUC imposed when it allowed revenue service to begin last September, utilizing a manual block system to assure a two-station clearance between trains. After a review of the extended manual override procedures for BART's train controls, the PUC concluded, "These extended procedures will not adversely affect the safety of operations."

Ban Covers More Than One Area

A moratorium on residential development enacted by the Mill Valley City Council covers not only lands on and near Shelter Ridge, as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal, but parcels throughout the city.

Between 600 and 700 acres are included in the moratorium, passed Monday by the city council, including roughly 50 acres on Shelter Ridge but also including about 450 Northridge acres, 50 in the Alto Bowl and 50 in the Cascades, said Tom W. Newton, city director of community development.

He said developers still may apply to the planning commission for a use permit to build in the affected areas, but they would have to demonstrate that the projects would not conflict with the contemplated city general plan now being prepared.

The moratorium applies to all developments of five or more dwelling units, he said.

Pledge Of No Tax Boost Is Delayed In Sausalito

The Sausalito City Council was on the verge last night of promsing voters that taxes would not go up if they approve two bond issues June 12 to purchase sites for a new city hall and library.

But on the advice of City Atty. Leland H. Jordan, the council postponed the matter until May 15 while it consults its bond counsel. Jordan argued that the motion proposed by Councilman Evert Heynneman "negates the very purpose of the bonds."

Last month, when the council set the $566,000 bond election, it said the city would pay off the bonds by leasing other city property to private interests.

But a local attorney has recently pointed out that the City of Salinas has been challenged in court for trying to do something similar.

Mayor Robin Sweeny opened the discussion by noting that "it has always been the intent of this council to lease city property to avoid a tax increase." She urged making some kind of promise to voters.

Heynneman moved that the council express its intent to go back to voters for approval of any tax increase if the leasing arrangement proves impossible.

But Jordan complained that the bond counsel might object since an election grants authority for a tax increase to pay for the bonds.

Voters will be deciding on two bond issues, one for $306,000 to buy Central School for the new city hall and another for $250,000 to purchase the adjacent Northwestern Pacific Railroad property as a library site.

Annual payments to redeem the 30-year bonds were to come from revenue derived from renting the old city hall, continuing Sausalito's 5-cent library tax and leasing part of the railroad land for private commercial purposes.

Ex-Millionaire Target Of IRS

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — The Internal Revenue Service yesterday began its attempt to collect $1.31 million in back taxes from onetime uranium millionaire Charles Steen rather than the $434,154 a bankruptcy referee ruled he owed.

Steen said recently he considered the U.S. District Court hearing before Judge Bruce Thompson crucial in his fight to ward off bankruptcy. Steen was declared bankrupt by referee Robert Woodward in March, but Steen said he would appeal the ruling.

At one time Steen controlled more than 90 per cent of the U.S. uranium production and made millions of dollars from a Utah uranium mine in the mid 1950s.

He was called into bankruptcy court in 1963.

Procedures For Impact Reports Set

The Sausalito City Council — establishing procedures last night for picking firms to prepare environmental impact reports on development projects — decided, despite some objections from developers and property owners, that the city will have the final say on who does the work.

The council voted 4 to 1, with Councilman Sally Stanford dissenting, to adopt this three-step procedure proposed by Planning Director Herb Case:

1. The council and Case in closed session will select 10 consulting firms from among those applying.
2. Developers will pick three of those 10, who will furnish cost estimates for the work.
3. The city staff will make the final choice from among those three.

Several developers and property owners complained they ought to be allowed to save money by having their own building staff draw up the environmental impact studies since they bear the costs of the reports.

Roland Mays, resident and local architect, objected that the county allows developers to prepare their own environmental impact reports. "If an applicant thinks he is qualified to do it, he should have that option," he said. "You can always find the report unacceptable."

"No architect is going to come in and say, 'My project is lousy,'" answered Councilman Stephen A. Fraser.

Wolfback Ridge developer Edward R. Fitzsimmons said he would prefer to have Sausalito's planning staff "moonlight at an agreed on price" to do his report than hire an outside consultant.

Councilman Stanford said she opposed accepting Case's report because she also wanted to make it as easy as possible for developers to prepare the reports.

The Sauslaito City Council also:

RAILROAD — Referred to the planning commission an appeal from the Sausalito-Richardson Bay Railroad asking for changes in conditions attached to a use permit. The permit would allow the railroad to begin planning to run narrow gauge trains along the city's water front. The commission must review an environmental impact report for the proposal before the council can hear the appeal.

WATERFRONT — Set June 12 to consider changing the zoning ordinance to prohibit retail shops in the central waterfront area. The council asked the planning commission to study the changes in the meantime.

CONDOMINIUMS — Introduced an ordinance to give the city jurisdiction over small (five units or less) as well as large condominnium projects.

FERRY — Asked the Golden Gate Bridge District for an environmental impact report for a proposed city ferry terminal located downtown.

GASOLINE — Introduced an ordinance to prohibit self-service gas stations.

CLOSED MEETING — Held a closed meeting to consider pending litigation and a personnel matter.

MEETING — Set May 15 as the date of its next regular meeting.

Plea Made To Grass Smuggling

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — One man has pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court to a charge of importing marijuana into Marin County while a second arrested with him is being sought by authorities.

A woman companion has been charged with a less serious offense, which may be dismissed next month.

All were arrested Feb. 28 in San Rafael, when federal agents seized eight packing cartoons weighing 800 pounds and containing 80 pounds of hashish hidden in marble bric-a-brac.

Admitting the smuggling charge Monday was James Mellors, 34, of San Francisco. He is to be sentenced by Judge Robert H. Schnacke on June 19.

The judge ordered a bench warrant with bail set at $100,000 for Joel Anderson, 22, also of San Francisco, when he failed to show up in court.

A lesser charge of possessing hashish was filed Monday against Phyllis Sue Nuremburg, 22, and Judge Schnacke postponed decision on whether this will be dismissed until June 20.

The three were arrested at Miss Nuremburg's home with the heavy shipment which had come by air from Karachi, Pakistan.

Conservatives Win Palo Alto Council Seats

PALO ALTO (UPI) — Four of the six councilmen elected at Palo Alto's municipal election Tuesday were considered to have conservative leanings.

But top vote getter Byron Sher, 45, a Stanford University law professor and former councilman, is considered liberal. He got 8,877 ballots.

The other "liberal" elected was Mayor Kirke Comstock, 42, who got 8,191 votes.

Other incumbents elected were Vice Mayor Stanley Norton, 46, 8,035; John Berwald, 54, 7,952; and John Beahrs, 60, 7,436.

The other new face elected was Roy Clay, 43, a management consultant and board chairman of the Palo Alto Medical Research Foundation, who is considered conservative and got 8,305 votes. He thus became the first black ever elected to the Palo Alto Council.

New Era In Sea Knowledge

HOUSTON (UPI) — Capt. Jacques Cousteau says the old methods of gathering information on the seas have been replaced by satellites orbiting the Earth.

The underwater explorer said he has worked with the U.S. space agency during his latest eight-month voyage to Antarctica and off the coast of Chile, using experiments to confirm data gathered by satellites and airplanes.

"The age of the surface vessel is terminated," Cousteau said yesterday. "We have to have collaboration with spacecraft."

Long Autopsy

HANNIBAL, Mo. (UPI) — Results of an autopsy to determine whether former U.S. Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., died as a result of eating poisoned candy will be available late Thursday, it was learned today.

Computer Study Set In Petaluma

The Petaluma City Council approved a study yesterday to see if computers can smooth city operations and save money in the future.

On a 4-to-2 vote, with councilmen John W. Canavagh Jr. and Robert A. Brunner dissenting, the council employed the firm of Gottfried Consultants Inc. of Los Angeles to conduct the study at a cost of $11,890. Councilman Robert A. Daly was absent.

Councilman Fred V. Mattei, who chaired a study committee also made up of councilmen William A. Perry Jr. and Richard W. Clecak, recommended the study to find out if Petaluma really needs a computer and how much it would cost.

Mattei said that after the first phase of the study is completed at a cost of $6,000, the remaining part of the contract can be terminated

He said initial indications show the city could save as much as $25,000 per year after the first two or three years of computer operations since fewer additional employees would be needed.

Cavanagh and Brunner said they considered the study premature.

Charpentier Estate Subject Of Lawsuit

The surviving brother of a Black Point man who parlayed his dishwasher's earnings into more than half a million dollars on the stock market yesterday filed a Marin Superior Court suit to inherit the estate.

Louis Charpentier asked the court to order that Bank of America, as administrator of the estate, and heirs be required to hold in trust for him all the property left by the late George J. Charpentier.

The brother died last Dec. 9 at the age of 70. He willed $1,000 to Bessie Parker of Novato, a friend; his house in Black Point to two other friends, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Sanders; $10,000 each to Guide Dogs for the Blind and Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato, and the balance to the state of California.

During probate hearings, Louis Charpentier argued unsuccessfully that his brother was not sane and had not drawn the will legally.

In his civil complaint yesterday, Louis Charpentier claimed that in 1970 he agreed to give up his home of 30 years in San Francisco in order to live near George and Ferdinand, another brother who died in 1970.

Louis claimed the brothers had agreed that all their estates should go to the survivor. His suit states he went to the expense of commuting to and from San Francisco to be near the other brothers, gave up his home and deprived himself of long-time social contacts in San Francisco to keep his part of the bargain, but that he inherited only a valueless piece of land in return.

New Hotel For San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco's newest convention hotel, the Hyatt Regency, has opened at the Embarcadero near the waterfront.

One side of the exterior resembles giant steps jogging upward to the skyline, a design which provides an open balcony for each of the 840 rooms.

The interior features a lobby as long as a football field and includes sunken conversation pits and a huge geometric sphere sculpture titled Eclipse. Five glass cylinder elevators run up a central shaft from one end of the lobby to rooms and the revolving rooftop restaurant.

The hotel cost $40 million to build and guests will pay an average of $40 per night.

Suit Filed On Failure To Pay Up

A widowed Reed School District teacher sued 17 insurance companies yesterday for refusal to pay on policies insuring her late husband's life.

Joan A. Hamren of 13 Zephyr Court, Lucas Valley, said in the suit in Marin Superior Court that her husband held some 26 life insurance policies for amounts ranging from less than $10,000 to $120,000 at the time he died in a highway accident near Byron in eastern Contra Costa County last Dec. 14.

The husband, John Morgan Hamren, had a psychiatric practice in Vallejo, according to David D. Ring, Mrs. Hamren's attorney.

Ring said several companies have paid off on policies, but that the 17 firms sued apparently are basing their refusal to pay on the fact that Hamren's death certificate lists the cause as due to either accident or suicide.

Nine Killed

BANGKOK (UPI) — Police said today that nine persons died late Monday when a policeman exploded a hand grenade during an argument at a folksong recital. The policeman was one of the victims.

Several Views Are Heard On Budgets For Schools

Teachers, parents and taxpayers urged differing spending priorities last night as the San Rafael Board of Education reviewed the elementary and high school districts' prepared budgets for 1973-74.

The trustees made no changes and had few comments on the drafts submitted by Supt. John F. Plank.

The preliminary budgets call for spending $5,025,370 in the elementary district and $5,752,351 in the high school district, including 1.9 per cent annual step increases for staff, but not the 9.7 per cent raises asked by teachers, Plank explained.

The San Rafael Teachers Association salary committee asked for salary adjustments based on consumer price index increases of 5.5 per cent in the last year, plus a 4.2 per cent raise, as "reasonable" for the "survival" of teachers in one of the "most expensive" and highest-income counties of the nation.

Based on closing at least two elementary schools and trimming 16 teachers from the payroll due to declining enrollment, the elementary district will have a surplus of about $131,000 before the board acts on salary requests and other spending, Plank said. The cost of the teacher requests will be computed by Monday.

One of the economies, elimination of released time for department heads and teachers to work on new programs, drew fire from San Rafael and Terra Linda High School principals and teachers.

A citizens advisory committee report submitted by Richard Blank on budget priorities called for "sacrifices" by parents in the high school athletic programs, hiring young teachers to get new ideas, and caution on salary requests. It drew retorts from teachers and parents.

Donald R. Wellington, citizen committee chairman, defended Blank's report. He said that while the per-pupil cost of education has risen from $750 to $1,100 per year in recent years, "it's difficult to see any improvement in terms of the students." He called for a result-oriented approach to the district's budgets.

Board Chairman Herman L. Childress told the large audience the budget is "preliminary — we've made no decision yet." He said further hearings would be held including next Tuesday and May 22 plus sessions in June and later.

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

CLOSED SESSION — Adjourned to a closed session to hear Plank present the screening committee's report on an acting principal for San Rafael High School. Childress said public action on the appointment probably will be taken Tuesday.

RECRUITING — Heard Plank report that 151 candidates had applied for the superintendent's post from which Plank has resigned.

PERSONNEL — Added Alan Gratton and John Gregory to employment lists as substitute bus driver and substitute custodian respectively, each at $3.40 per hour. Hired Vicki Mooney as elementary district instructional aide at $2.72 per hour; accepted the retirement of Short School teachers Ruth Ownes and the resignations of Bahia Vista teacher Barbara Wilson, Nova Albion School aide Anita Glass and Bahia Vista School secretary Martha Anderson; and granted leaves of absence to bus driver Betty Griffith and Short School secretary Yolanda Traverso.

"TURNED OFF" — Heard and discussed a report from Joseph Youmans of the citizens advisory committee on the lack of district follow-up, on the committee's recommendations in 1972 to combat the phenomenon of the "turned off" pupil.

APPOINTEE — Named Richard Mayer of 100 Oakmont Avenue to a vacancy on the citizens advisory committee.

ADJOURNED — To 8 p.m. May 15 in Short School, for a public hearing on the controversial proposed closing of that school, as well as further budget work.

San Rafael Board Votes To Cut 16 Teachers From The Payroll

San Rafael Board of Education members reluctantly voted last night to notify 16 elementary district teachers that they will not be rehired for the fall semester due to shrinking enrollment.

The board promised to seek ways to rehire the teachers — all probationary employees with low seniority — at later meetings. Supt. John F. Plank explained that state law requires notification by May 15 of any teachers who won't be rehired, or they automatically keep their jobs.

Teachers, an attorney, parents and trustees discussed numerous ideas for keeping the young teachers, and debated at length whether some high school teachers with even less seniority should not lose their jobs instead.

Plank recommended and the board approved the recommendation by state hearing officer Jerome C. Herst that all the dismissals be from the elementary district staff.

The dismissal issue was complicated last night by a legal decision involving Santa Barbara schools (now on appeal before the California Supreme Court) which raises the possibility that San Rafael may have to establish separate governing boards for its two districts.

Board Chairman Herman L. Childress pointed out that San Rafael and Petaluma, like Santa Barbara are among five California cities where separate elementary and high school districts are governed by single boards. The Santa Barbara operation has been ruled illegal.

Robin Selfridge, who lost her job last night, argued that since the San Rafael city charter presently treats the school system as a single entity the trustees should trim staff from both the elementary and high schools.

Leonard A. Bjorklund Jr., attorney for the California Teachers Association, asked the trustees to reconsider its original staff cut made last month, on grounds that the board at that time "didn't realize all the cuts would come from the elementary level."

He noted that historically, San Rafael teachers have been able to switch from elementary to high schools without loss of seniority or tenure.

Bjorklund said Pauline Chinn, elementary district physical education instructor, has more seniority than one high school district physical education teacher, and urged that she be allowed to retain her job.

He also asked that any rehiring be on a basis of seniority. Childress and Plank demurred that the more senior ex-teachers "might not be suitable for any positions open."

Audience members offered several alternatives including an offer by several tenured teachers to go on half-time status to create job openings, and hiring some of the dismissed staff as permanent substitute teachers for next year.

The two high school students on the board of trustees argued that the district's preliminary budget for next year contains about $130,000 in reserves, and urged retaining the teachers to achieve a smaller student-teacher ratio. Childress said using the reserves for this would prohibit granting any salary raises.

The decision to trim staff and close two elementary schools in the district resulted from predictions that elementary enrollment would drop by at least 200 students in the fall.

Teachers to be notified they won't be rehired are Sheryl Rytkonen, Cynthia Hartell, Karen Mills, Joan Dooley, Euril Wilson, Christy Johnson, Robin Selfridge, Ralph Shanks, George Grist, Pauline Chin, Tony Houston, Michael Conley, Diane Pope, Richard Hammond, Frank Shippey and Shirley Voller.

Open Space Concurrence In Sausalito

The Sausalito Planning Commission has concurred with a citizens' committee which recommends preservation of 43.5 acres of open space east of Highway 101.

Planning Director Herb Case said the commission, at a special meeting Monday, accepted the report of the open space committee, an 11-member citizens group which conducted a one-year study of greenbelts in Sausalito.

The parcels recommended for open space are the South Ridgelands, also called Hurricane Gulch, 29.29 acres; Cypress Ridge, 13.5 acres, and the Glen, a half-acre parcel off Cazneau Avenue.

Case said information in the report will be included in the city's open space element now under preparation by city staff. To be added to the element is a section dealing with the city waterfront, another detailing how open space might be acquired and a third dealing with conservation.

Chapin Selected As Met's Manager

NEW YORK (UPI) — Scnuyler Chapin, acting general manager of the Metropolitan Opera, yesterday was named general manager under a three-year contract.

Chapin, 50, a native New Yorker, became acting manager last July following the death of Goeran Gentele in an automobile accident in Sardinia.

In-Service Training Requested

Teachers urged improvements in the in-service training program last night at the Old Adobe School District board meeting.

Schools Supt. Dean D. Magowan said a teachers survey showed most teachers believe they could benefit by more in-service training.

Teachers asked the board for more time and opportunities to attend classes at Sonoma State College. Some said classes developed within the district could also be very helpful.

Magowan said teachers also asked the board to consider enlarging the transitional first grade program for students who are not mature enough for a traditional first grade. Teachers said some students who could profit by the special class must instead be placed in regular classes because of lack of space.

Magowan said the board would consider the requests along with proposed additions to the psychological staff at the regular board meeting on May 17.

Horning Will Resign Bolinas-Stinson Post

Supt. Lester M. Horning, who changed his mind about resigning in the Bolinas-Stinson School District last year, said again last night he is quitting and that the decision is final.

The 56-year-old Horning told district trustees he would be leaving his $16,500-a-year post at the end of the school year.

Trustees greeted the news silently and without expression, as if they had been aware Horning's move was coming.

Horning, who also acts as principal of the district's lone school in Bolinas, announced in May of last year he was resigning because he didn't think he could lead the district into innovatve programs endorsed by some residents. But he changed his mind two months later amid a vote of confidence from trustees and other residents.

Last night, he said, "I can no longer give the district the kind of leadership it needs." Horning has been superintendent for two years, coming to Bolinas-Stinson from a job as personnel director in the Fulton Unified School District in San Bernardino County.

Trustees announced they intended to replace Horning with two persons, a teaching principal and an assistant who would have charge of business matters. They also assured residents they would not ignore the Bolinas-Stinson area in their search for candidates, and that the community would be given an opportunity to meet with finalists.

In other business, the board siad the district will withdraw its $25,000 offer to purchase property adjoining Bolinas School which suffered heavy flooding during the winter and which was found to have a clouded title.

Part of the funds, $11,000, will be used for an experimental classroom project.

The Bolinas-Stinson School District board also:

ACTING GROUP — Encouraged Pierrot Resta, producer of Theater, a children's acting group, to submit a budget for operating funds.

PLANNING — Set the next meeting of the board for May 22 for a hearing on the results of a parent survey and to hear the Bolinas Planning Group's community plan as it affects the school district.

FRINGE — Postponed action on a rise in the cost of dental benefits for employees and dependents, and deferred discussion of a summer program.

AIDES — Assured teacher aides that trustees will try to change current policy of the county board of educatin to enable the aides to receive teaching credit for their work in the achool.

CAMPING — Voted $40 in gas expense money to teacher Steve Aikenhead for an educational camping trip with 12 students to Los Padres Wilderness. Aikenhead said the students earned personal money for the trip later this month.

Dillon Beach Water Rate Hike Approved

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Public Utilities Commission yesterday authorized Coast Springs Water Co. a 13 per cent increase to 177 customers in the Dillon Beach area.

The increase will raise the typical monthly bill for the average Marin County customer from $7.90 to $8.90 effective June 1.

Year-Round School Plan Approved Over Protest

The Petaluma Board of Education last night approved an unstaggered, 45-15 plan for operating Penngrove Elementary School year round but not without protest from parents in the area.

Casting the only dissenting vote, Trustee Daniel B. Plumley called for more study on the plan already in effect at Cherry Valley School.

Plumley also questioned whether the retention rate is really higher among students in the 45-15 plan, a factor cited by proponents.

According to a survey presented by Penngrove School principal John R. Anderson, of the 165 families eligible to vote on the proposed plan, 54 per cent approved and 43 per cent were opposed.

Plumley, referring to the survey, said the vote was too close for the board to be guided by.

Anderson told the board that 100 per cent of the faculty and the members of the citizen's advisory board to the school favored the 45-15 plan for the 1973-74 school year.

When the year is broken up, he said, there is less retention loss. Staff members are able to plan more in "block systems of nine weeks" than in the traditional year, he said of the year-round plan with 45 school days followed by 15-day vacations.

He also said the plan would provide more curriculum flexibility and more vacation opportunities for the families in the district.

Opponent La Moyne Frank, a parent with three children in the district, said the plan has not been proven to be educationally sound. He also accused the faculty and Anderson of using a "sell job" on parents and questioned the impartiality of the survey taken at Penngrove.

Frank said those parents who could not attend the various talks at the school on the plan were sent a packet of information with 20 pages favoring and only one page against 45-15.

Frank asked the board to wait for research from other schools now on the plan before instituting it at Penngrove.

Robert Newman, with two children in the school, said it was a little early to put the plan in effect at Penngrove.

He also said if parents don't like the plan, it will be hard for them to shift their children to another school in the area.

The Petaluma Board of Education also:

GRANTS — Approved the affirmative action plan for the Petaluma elementary and high school districts needed to apply for federal grants.

PORTABLES — Authorized Lesly H. Meyer, superintendent of schools, to rent or purchase portable classroom buildings for San Antonio and Petaluma high schools.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignation of Naomi Anderson to return to school and Sandra Greenhut, leaving because of the transfer of her husband.

COURT — Approved the sending of a letter to the county counsel asking what it would involve to become a friend of the court in the upcoming suit involving the city of Petaluma and developers.

MEETING — Adjourned to Tuesday, May 22 at 7 p.m. in the administration building.

Nixon Is Asked To Halt Explosion

DENVER (UPI) — Eleven environmental groups have asked President Nixon to stop a scheduled underground nuclear explosion in Colorado. The groups said it could contaminate the water supply for 27 million people.

The project is designed to free natural gas trapped in rock formations deep underground.

HUNGER AT WOUNDED KNEE

A young Indian girl, trapped in Wounded Knee, S.D., when militant Indians seized the town in February, yesterday gulped down the first real meal she had had in weeks while sitting on the back of one of the many ruined cars in the area. The Red Cross served meals to the displaced villagers after the siege of 71 days ended Tuesday. (UPI Telephoto)

Tiburon Boots Out Algae Sewage Firm

Disappointed with the results of an algae sewage treatment scheme, Tiburon sanitary officials are looking elsewhere for a system which will turn sewage into almost pure water.

Directors of the Tiburon Sanitary District Monday told Bio-Kinetics Co. of San Rafael to remove an experimental treatment plant from the district's plant on Paradise Drive.

In place of the algae scheme, directors are considering a plan to attain tertiary treatment, which turns sewage into almost pure water, by a chemical process.

Director Robert A. Sterling reported Zempro Inc. of Wisconsin has said such equipment would cost the district roughly $1.5 million, though the cost could be spread out over a long period of time on a lease-purchase basis. Sterling said directors will study that proposal.

Bio-Kinetics contracted with the sanitary district to install by September equipment which would purify the district's entire sewage flow. Technical problems with suppliers, however, have delayed that timetable, according to the firm.

Sanitary district directors on April 19 gave Bio-Kinetics until Monday's meeting to come up with a plan assuring that the timetable would be met, but no representative of the firm showed up at the meeting.

Consequently, said Sterling, "Bio-Kinetics is out." Directors left it up to plant manager John Slovek when to tell the company to remove the pilot equipment.

Under terms of the contract, the district owes Bio-Kinetics nothing since the company has failed to perform. Had the equipment been installed and worked properly, the district would have paid the company $81,000 per year.

Directors also awarded a $39,321 contract to the Albay Construction Co. of San Francisco to upgrade the treatment plant and perform periodic maintenance.

Lot Split Will Allow Bus Base Expansion

The San Rafael Planning Commission last night approved a lot split on Jacoby Street, an action that allows the Golden Gate Bridge District to proceed with plans for purchase of the land for expansion of its adjacent bus base.

The commission, however, declared that the split did not constitute approval of any such use of the parcels according to J. Stanley Ott, senior planner.

Owner Barney Norwitt had proposed that his parcel adjacent to the transit facility be subdivided into parcels of 15 and 6.4 acres. The transit district has an option to buy the subdivided land from Norwitt.

The transit district has proposed that its 15-acre bus base be expanded to 25 acres to provide for a total fleet expected to grow from the present 188 coaches to about 500 by the mid-1980s.

Bridge district officials have assured the city council that city officials will be provided with an environmental impact report on the bus base expansion.

The San Rafael Planning Commission Also:

DUBOIS STREET — Approved a four-lot subdivision at 461-693 Du Bois Street.

KISSMAN — Approved an office and industrial complex proposed by Kurt Kissman for the Jacoby Street extension.

MOBILE HOME — Approved a mobile home sales office on a building materials storage yard for a period of six months, provided no alteration of the MacPhail's Inc. property is made.

DUPLEX — Approved a duplex at 41 Octavia Street.

COMMERCIAL USE — Approvee commercial and office use of a parcel at Simms and Jacoby Streets.

DESIGN REVIEW — Approved environmental and design review for the following proposals: a service station at 1833 Fourth Street; a warehouse at 1101 Francisco Boulevard; an office building at Simms and Jacoby Streets and four duplex structures at 1701-1729 Grand Avenue.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. May 22.

Seven Children Escape Death In Bridge Crash

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two children were killed in a traffic accident on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, but seven other children escaped major injury thanks to a quick-thinking woman.

The dead boy and girl, aged 12 and 10, were not identified.

A station wagon driven by Laura Castillo, 58, stalled on the upper deck Tuesday night. She saw a car coming up fast from behind and warned seven children in her auto to scoot down the floor.

Highway Patrolman Walter Lesnick said this saved their lives in the crash. The children and Mrs. Castillo received only cuts and bruises.

The dead children were in the car that hit the Castillo vehicle. The driver, Camille Riordon, 28, of San Francisco was in critical condition at San Francisco General Hospital, Lesnick said. Two other children in her car were hospitalized with major injuries.

Jury Convicts 'Hat Man' Rapist

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — After six hours of deliberation, a jury decided Tuesday that Ronald Clark, 24, was the rapist, robber and burglar known to police as the "Hat Man."

He was convicted of rape, three rape attempts, five robberies and a burglary in the Russian Hill and Pacific Heights districts.

Inspector James Higgins said Clark got his nickname because of the variety of headgear he wore during night time attacks in garages and driveways.

Judge Walter Calcagno set May 29 for sentencing.

Clark previously was sentenced four years ago, again for rape.

Special Type Of Cook Book

By BETTY FROST

Dozens of Sausalito hostesses have stepped fearlessly into the elite hors d'oeuvres field with the publication of Sausalito Hors d'Oeuvres Cook Book. The 154-page soft cover cookbook has been given a stylish treatment by Mrs. Richard F. Phillips, editor and her committee, Mmes. John C. Alexanler, Leonard E. Blakely, Josehh E. De Martini, and Charles W. Henderson.

Adding a note of whimsy are the drawings of A-nonny-mouse and his cohorts who romp through the pales nibbling delicacies and entertaining in every sense of the word. The illustrations and the cover are the work of George W. Quinn Jr., a Sausalito resident.

The recipes are from the personal files of members of the Sausalito Woman's Club, and the book was published by the club, with the proceeds to be used for club projects. Mrs. Blakely is orders chairman.

ALTOGETHER A Sausalito prject, the book was printed by Butterfly Bend Press, with Richard Phillips, whose hobby is printing, doing the job, his first book, in the workshop in the family home. Club members did the collating and rented a binder so they could do the binding themselves.

Assisting with the assembly of the volume were Mmes. W. L. C. Brown, Norma Christian, Roger L. Dinelli, Margaret Gear, George R. Kowski, Kenneth N. Logan, James Redmond McCarthy, Jackson S. Perry, George W. Quinn Jr., and Howard Sievers.

The comprehensive canape collection includes everything from bean dip to red and black caviar in aspic. There are sections for hors d'oeuvres made with cheese, fish , vegetables, mushrooms, nuts, fowl, meat and chicken livers. Hot and cold dips are included and variations on quiches, tortas, and pate are covered. The final section contains recipes for punches and other party drinks.

Since these aperitif accompaniments are made frequently by Sausalito women in their home-kitchens, the book should be a practical one for other hospitable Marinites.

Samples from the new book include this cold dip, submitted by Mrs.Frank V. Carillo:

AVOCADO CRAB DIP

1 large avocado, cubed
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon grated onion
¼ cup sour cream
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 8-ounce package cream cheese, softened
1 7½-ounce can crab meat

In blender or small bowl combine avocado, lemon juice, and seasonings, and blend until smooth. Add cream cheese, sour cream, salt and blend well. Stir in crab meat. Chill. Can be served with fresh French bread sliced thin.

Unusual is the hot cheese recipe submitted by Mrs. Leonard G. James, a native of Denmark.

DEEP FRIED CAMEMBERT

Cut cold fresh camembert cheese into wedges. Dip each wedge into slightly beaten egg white, and then in fine bread crumbs to coat lightly.

Fry cheese until golden in one and a half inches of salad oil heated to 370 degrees for about one and a half minutes. Drain on paper toweling.

Serve hot with toast and black currant jelly.

From the kitchen of Mrs. Joseph Fontana is a cheese ball which can be made well ahead of party time and also freezes well.

MAFIA CHEESE BALL

8 ounces shredded cheddar cheese
4 ounces crumbled bleu cheese
½ cup shredded provolone cheese
3 ounces cream cheese
1 tablespoon milk
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon celery salt
¼ cup toasted sesame seeds.

Beat all ingredients together in a large bowl. Shape into a ball, wrap in protective wrapping and chill for at least an hour. After chilling the ball can be rolled in chopped nuts, chopped parsley or finely chopped smoked sliced beef.

An attractive addition to center the serving table is this delicacy submitted by Mrs. D. Power Boothe.

CAVIAR MOLD

3 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
2 cups chicken broth
1 2-ounce jar black caviar
2 hard cooked eggs, sieved
1 2-ounce jar red caviar

Heat broth in a one-quart saucepan. Soften gelatin in broth and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Divide into three portions. Fold black caviar into one portion, egg into the second, and red caviar into the third. Pour red caviar portion into a three-cup ring mold and chill until set but not firm. Top with egg portion and again chill until set. Add black caviar portion and chill until firm.

Unmold. Slice and serve on very thin slices of toast. Top with chopped onions if desired.

Aphrodisiac Cooking Specialties Offered

SAVORY MEAT BALLS

¾ lb. ground beef
¼ lb. ground veal
1 small onion, grated
1 small apple, grated
1 egg
½ cup dry crumbs
1 teaspoon horseradish
¼ cup water
1 teaspoon savory
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup consomme

Savory, from the Latin Satureja, "plant of the satyrs", Savory is a Roman aphrodisiac.

Mix all ingredients except consomme. When thoroughly blended, form into small balls and simmer in undiluted consomme for 30 minutes. Serves four. Serve with:

PROVOCATIVE PIMENTO-RICE

1 large onion, chopped
1 green pepper, chopped
½ cup oil
3 cups rice
2 cups chicken broth
4 cups water
1 4 ounce jar pimentos, drained and chopped
1 3½ ounce jar capers, drained
salt to taste

Saute onion and pepper in oil until soft. Add rice and brown lightly. Stir in broth, water, pimentos, capers and salt. Cover tightly and cook over low heat for 35 minutes. Do not remove cover while rice is cooking. Serves 10.

Hints On Stretching The Budget

Two more budget-stretching meals are suggested by Peggy Hopkins, home economist for the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in San Rafael.

She suggests that either meat ball vegetable soup or noodles con carne, both main dishes, be served with a tossed green salad and sourdough bread. She also provides recipes for two easy and favorite deserts, peach or apricot whip and the classic apple brown betty.

MEAT BALL VEGETABLE SOUP

1 cup pinto, navy, pea or kidney beans
1 quart water
1½ cups chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 clove garlic, minced
1 can consomme
1 bay leaf
10 peppercorns
1 No. 2½ can whole tomatoes
2 cups chopped celery
2 cups chopped carrots
2 cups chopped zucchini
1 bunch mustard greens, washed and chopped
Salt
1 pound ground beef, chuck preferred
1½ teaspoons seasoned salt
Dash pepper
½ teaspoon garlic salt
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 tablespoon dried parsley
1 egg
1 slice bread
¼ cup boiling water

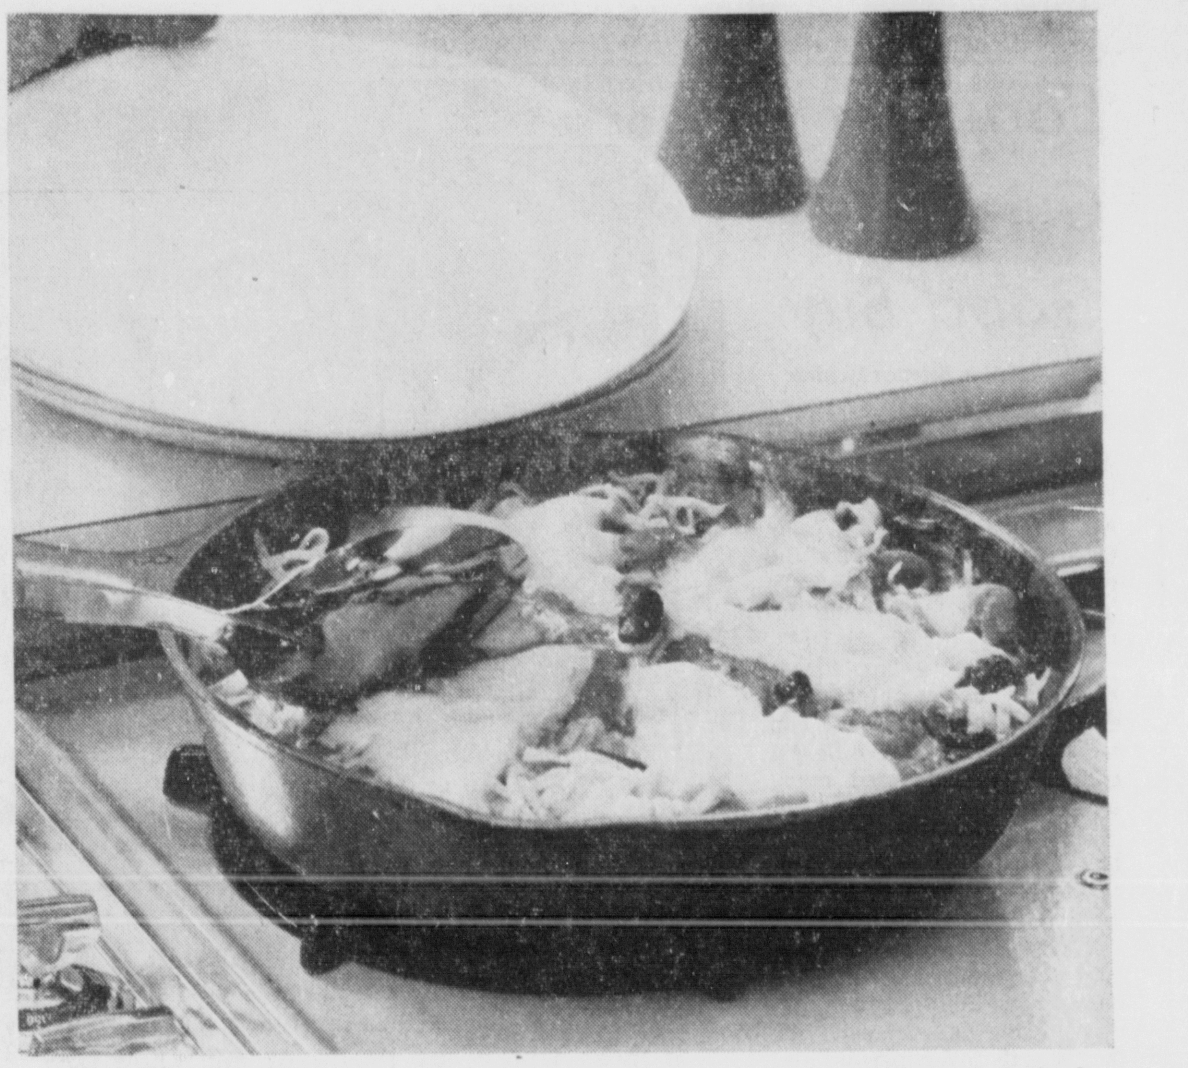
Wash beans; add water and cook slowly about an hour. Meanwhile, cook onion in butter; add to beans along with garlic. Continue cooking beans until tender. Add consomme, bay leaf, peppercorns and vegetables. Season with salt. Continue cooking until vegetables are tender. Meanwhile, make meat balls: Combine meat, seasoned salt, pepper, garlic salt, onion and parsley, mixing well. Add egg and bread which has been soaked in boiling water. Using a teaspoon, measure out meat mixture and shape into small balls. Drop into boiling soup. Cook 10 to 15 minutes longer. Serve piping hot. Makes eight generous servings.

(Note: Any combination of canned or leftover vegetables may be used in place of the ones suggested.)

NOODLES CON CARNE

1 pound lean ground beef
1 medium onion, chopped
1 1-pound can kidney beans, drained
4 ounces dry thin noodles, uncooked
1 1-pound, 13-ounce can whole tomatoes, chopped
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon chili powder
6 slices American cheese

Lightly brown meat in 10-inch skillet, breaking apart as it cooks. Add onion and saute until limp. Scatter beans over meat; sprinkle noodles evenly over beans. Combine tomatoes, salt, pepper and chili powder, mixing well. Pour over noodles.Cover and bring to boil, then turn heat to simmer and cook for 25 minutes. Lay cheese over top; cover and cook five minutes longer until cheese is melted. Makes six generous servings.



NOODLES CON carne is a quick favorite for family and teen-age groups to serve. It's all cooked in a large skillet using one pound of ground beef, and makes six generous servings.

IF THE SOUP is hearty enough, it is almost a whole meal. Add a tossed green salad and sourdough bread, and dessert if you like. This meat ball vegetable soup has nearly everything in it and leftover vegetables may be substituted, if desired.

PEACH OR APRICOT WHIP

⅔ cup evaporated milk, chilled
⅔ cup peach or apricot pulp
¼ teaspoon almond extract or ½ teaspoon vanilla

Press canned peaches or apricots (or stewed fruit) through a sieve. Chill thoroughly. Whip well-chilled evaporated milk (you can whip this milk if it is chilled several hours or put in the freezer for quick chill. Chill the bowl and beaters too). Stir in flavoring. Fold the fruit pulp into the whipped mixture. Makes four servings.

APPLE BROWN BETTY

2 cups soft bread crumbs or cubed stale bread
3 cups pared, sliced apples (3 to 4 apples)
½ cup sugar — OR ⅔ cup brown sugar
¼ cup water
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg or mace
Grated rind of ½ lemon
1½ tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

Put one-third of the bread in the bottom of a buttered baking dish; cover with half the apples, sugar, water, spices, grated lemon rind and lemon juice. Cover with one-third of the crumbs, then the remainder of the fruit, water and flavorings. Mix the rest of the crumbs with the butter; sprinkle them over the top of the pudding. Cover. Bake in a 375 degree oven for one-half hour; remove the cover; continue baking until the apples are tender and the crumbs are brown or about ½ hour longer. Serve warm with vanilla ice cream.

Eggplant Currently Good Buy

By Christian Science Monitor News Service

Eggfruit, aubergine, and guinea squash are other names for eggplant. Originally a tropical perennial found by early explorers in South America, the eggplant now is widely grown in the United States and Europe.

Although at one time it was believed to be poisonous, eggplant is a delicacy and can be grown in several different climates and prepared many tempting ways.

Right now, eggplant is a good buy and can be used in a hearty casserole or as a vegetable for meatless days.

A clear, glossy color, plus heaviness and firmness of flesh indicate quality in eggplant. Beware of the dull-skinned fruit, this signals overripeness and toughness, and it's also dull on the palate. Wash and dry eggplant and store in crisper or in a plastic bag in the refrigerator.

EGGPLANT PARMIGIANA

1 large eggplant (about 1 lb.)
3 tablespoons flour
1 egg, beaten with 2 tablespoons water
½ cup dry bread crumbs
3 tablespoons olive oil
1 quart tomato sauce
½ pound mozzarella cheese, sliced
⅓ cup Parmesan cheese, grated

After washing eggplant, cut off and discard a thin slice from stem end, then cut into crosswise slices about quarter inch thick. Dredge eggplant slices in flour. Dip in egg, then coat with breadcrumbs. Refrigerate at least a half hour.

Heat oil in a large skillet. Add eggplant, a few slices at a time, and cook over moderate heat until browned on both sides Add more oil if necessary.

Pour about one cup tomato sauce into a 2½-to-3-quart shallow baking dish or casserole. Arrange a layer of eggplant on sauce. Cover with more sauce, then a layer of mozzarella slices and Parmesan cheese. Repeat with rest of eggplant, sauce and cheeses.

Bake uncovered, in a preheated 350-degree oven for one hour. Makes four to six servings.

LOVE IT or leave it — eggplant is a delicacy to those who enjoy its flavor and know how to cook it well. Eggplant Parmigiana is one popular method.

Butterfly Chops Are Available

No, you don't catch them in a net on a warm spring day. Butterfly chops, cut from the pork loin, are available in many meat markets. It's also easy to "butterfly" sections of the loin at home.

Purchase either boneless pork loin or the bone-in meat. (If the bone is present, remove it by running a sharp knife between the bone and meat.) Cut the loin into slices one-and-a-half to two-inches thick. Cut each slice almost in two from fat side, knife parallel to surface of meat.

Use care to cut only to opposite edge of chop so that the meat is hinged together. Separate and spread the two sides of pork so that the chop lies fairly flat.

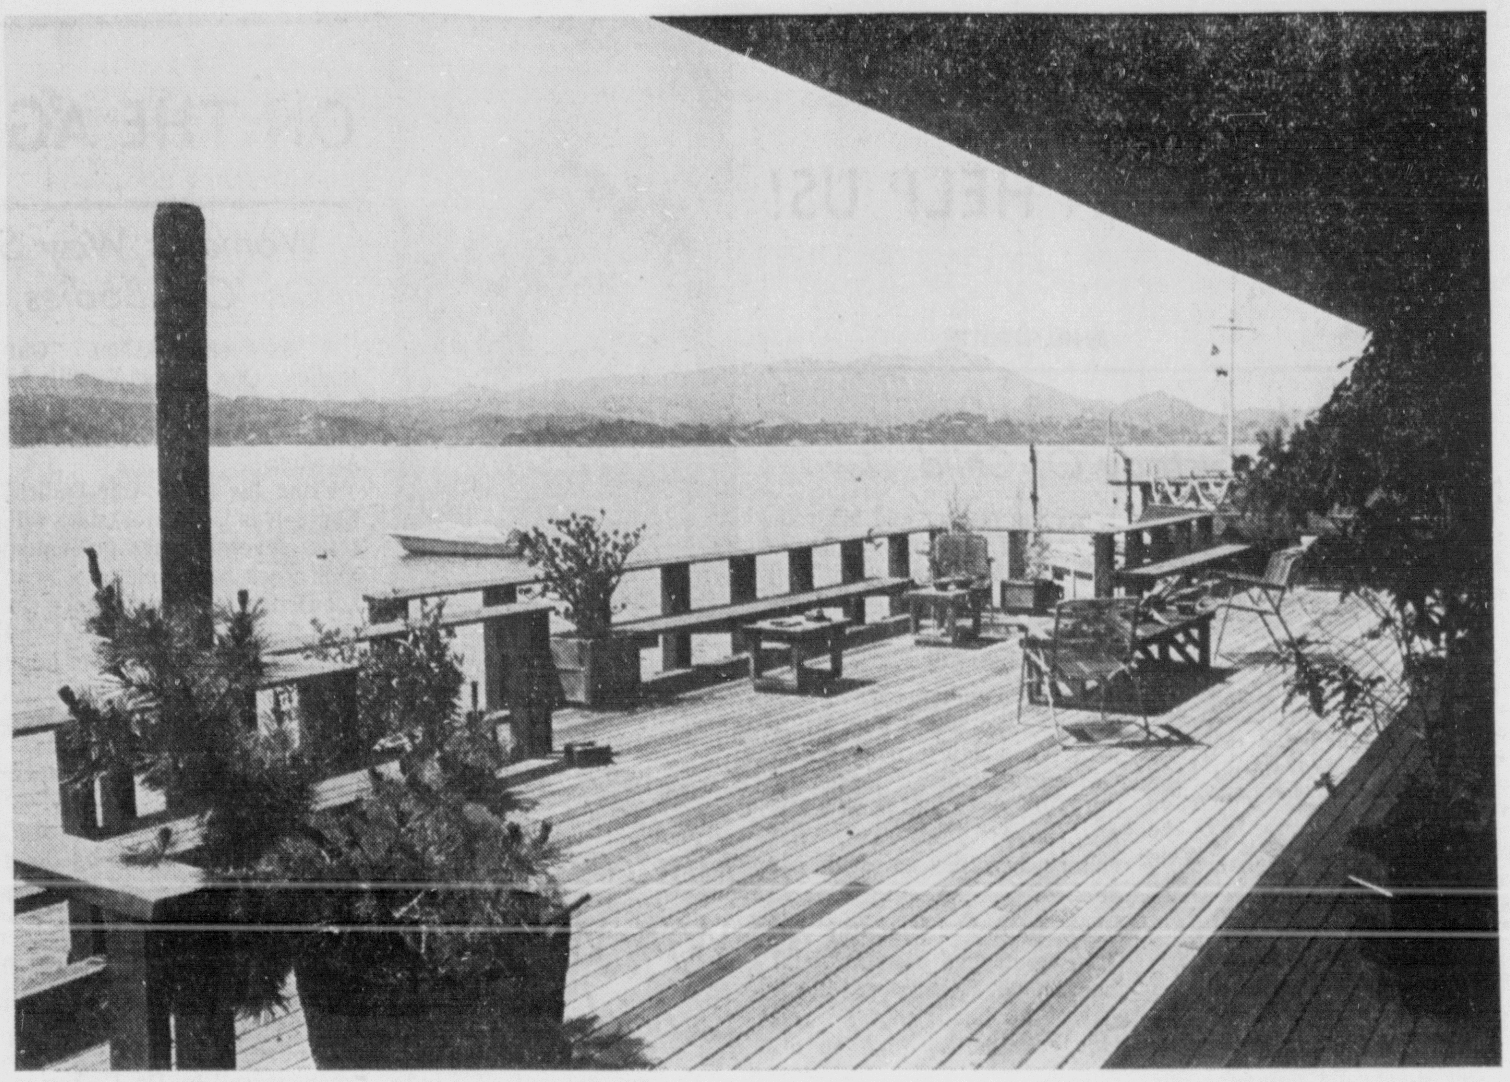
FRENCH COUNTRY is the style of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Baumgarten's Tiburon home. It is one of six homes shown next Wednesday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. by St. Stephen's Guild of Belvedere-Tiburon. Transportation and a tea will be provided at the San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere.



RICHARDSON BAY and Sausalito can be viewed from the deck of Mr. and Mrs. Dick DeBerry's Belvedere Island home. Their side garden, the wide, sunny deck with trees in planters and the dock where their boat is moored add outdoor living to their contemporary waterside home.

Six Belvedere, Tiburon Homes On Display

By PAT BALMES

St. Stephen's Guild of Belvedere-Tiburon will present six Belvedere and Tiburon homes of different styles on its 23rd annual House Tour next Wednesday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Proceeds will benefit St. Stephen's Church in Belvedere.

On display will be a luxurious townhouse, a lagoon cottage, a waterside home, a French mansion, a hilltop modern house and an antique-filled Victorian residence.

Mrs. D. J. Linden of Belvedere will accept reservations or tour-goers may purchase tickets on the day of the tour at San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere, where cars will transport guests on the tour.

Tea will be served from 2 to 4 p.m. at the yacht club where color photographs of hummingbirds by Marie Antonucci of Kentfield will be displayed.

HUGO HERMANN'S new Tiburon townhouse, designed to glow at night with glossy wall colors, blends antiques with modern living.

The red lacquer walls and parquet floors of the living room are background for antiques and porcelain. It is furnished with a rosy brocade camelback sofa, mauve velvet open armchairs, needlepoint rugs, an 18th Century lowboy and matched turnlet gate tables.

An antique gilt mirror and 18th Century Indian glass paintings decorate the walls. Draperies are of antique crewel material. The screen is a French copy of a Chinese painting, "1000 Birds."

The Rev. and Mrs. John Thornton's cottage is one of the original Belvedere Lagoon homes.

The living room has a subtle blue and beige color scheme, an Indian rug, a collection of Japanese prints, a velvet topped antique French game table with Spanish rush bottomed chairs, a French desk and a leather Eames chair and ottoman. Its French doors open onto a magnolia shaded deck with a lagoon view.

The kitchen, set compactly against a brilliant yellow wall, has an antique Spanish meat rack. The dining room is furnished with an antique sleigh seat and girandoles by Baccaract.

The porch has been recently converted to a book lined study with glassed in beams overhead.

MR. AND MRS. DICK DeBerry's waterside home is on Belvedere Island. The entry hall's glass panels bring in the garden. In the entrance gallery is a Mexican chest flanked by wrought iron candelabra and an antique Austrian prayer table. The graphic in yellow and white is one of many throughout the home by Mrs. DeBerry.

Her uncluttered living and dining rooms are dominated by a large blue and gold painting by Mrs. DeBerry.

Her dining room has a colorful Oriental rug, an antique marble table and Victorian pull-up chairs covered in bright yellow.

MR. AND Mrs. Gene Baumgarten's French maison in Tiburon has a large, high ceiling living room, a handcarved mantel and room-wide windows opening to a San Francisco view. The color scheme is white and yellow.

Through massive carriage doors the gold and white dining room seems afloat on a parrot green rug and its walls are covered with handprinted wall canvas hung with cabbage plates.

A beamed ceiling, the parquet floor and traditional blue and white color scheme give a warm atmosphere to the convenience kitchen.

The master bedroom is blue and white toile de Jouy. The floral rug is Portuguese and the antique chest is Louis XIV.

MR. AND MRS. MARVIN Wood's hilltop home in Tiburon blends Chinese, French, English and Victorian styles against a modern setting with expansive ceiling-to-floor windows and flowing interior spaces.

In the skylit hall, paved with hand-molded blue glazed ceramic tiles, are a red lacquer wedding chest and an antique English marquetry console.

The living room has a coffered ceiling and a fireplace wall faced with Verde antique marble.

The dining room is furnished with a Sheraton sideboard with brass gallery flanked by matching wing chairs, an antique English hunt table and a curio cabinet with a jade collection.

The kitchen and breakfast area are bright with color accents taken from the Fleur de Lis wallpaper.

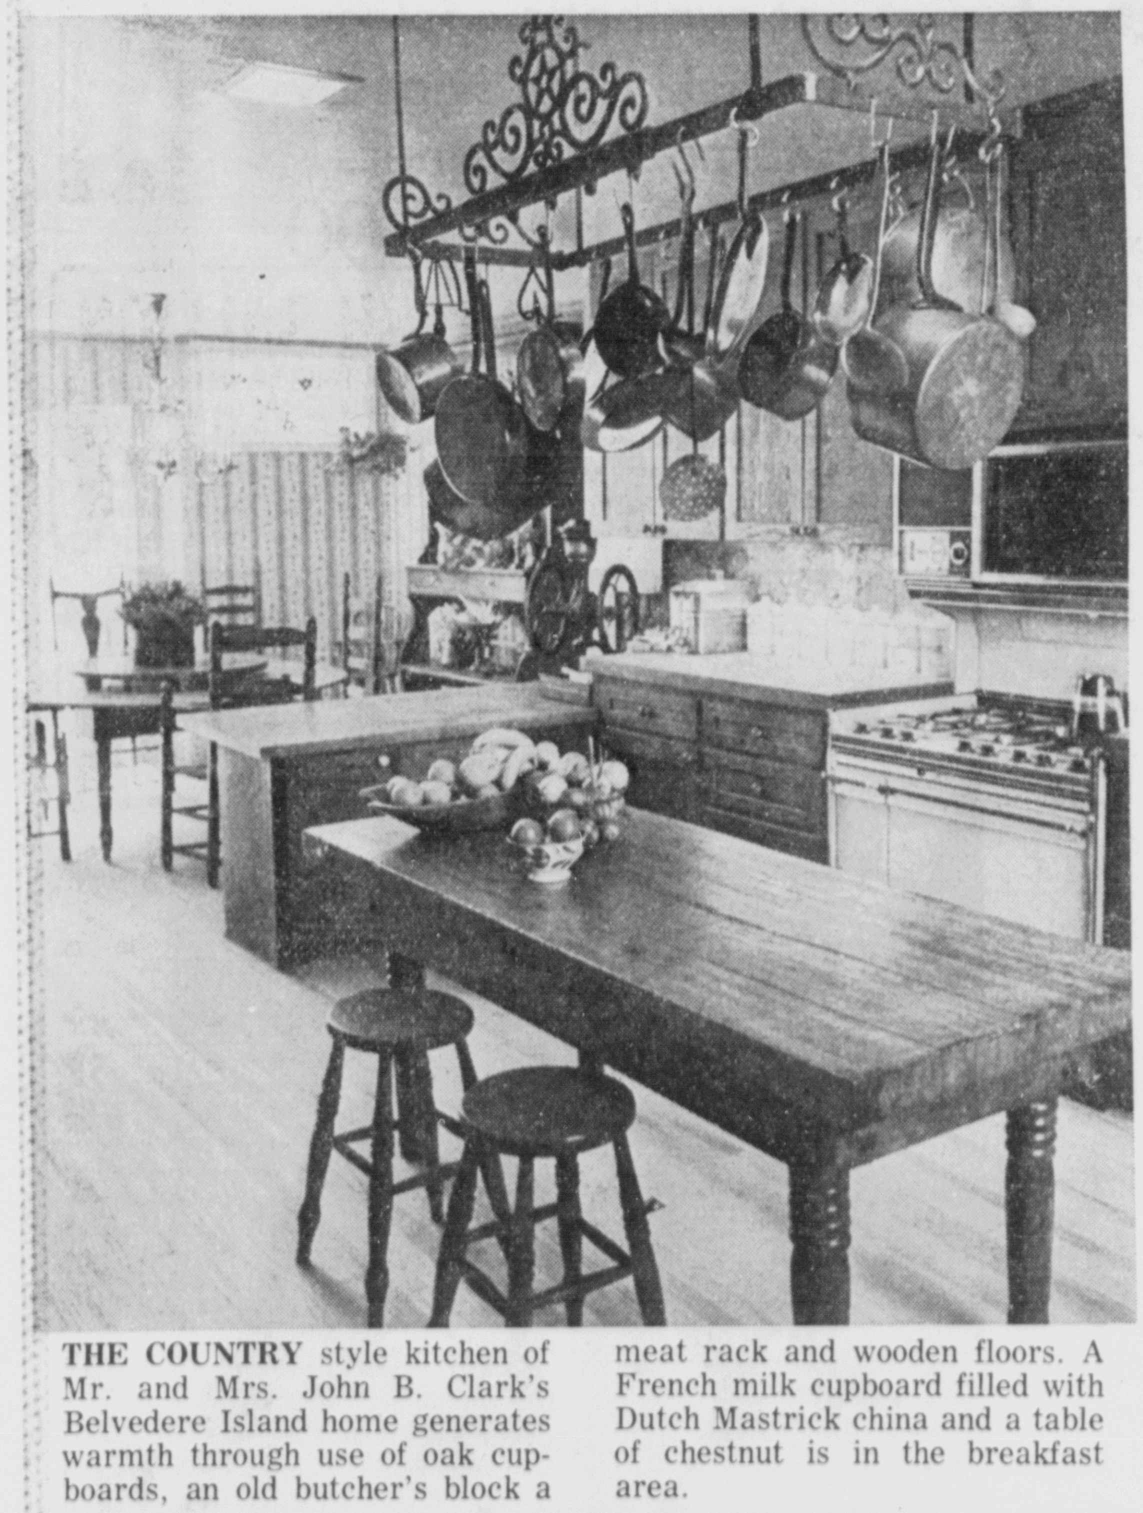
"The Crowsnest," the Belvedere Island Victorian residence of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Clark was built in the 1890s. Original architectural details have been preserved providing a background for fine old things. An antique dealer, Mrs. Clark has furnished the home throughout with 18th Century American and English country furniture and Oriental rugs.

IN THE LIVING room antique wing chairs flank the fireplace. Next to the roll top desk is a 15th Century Spanish coffer. At the bay window provocative mermaids from a ship's prow symbolize giving and taking from the sea.

The adjacent solarium is furnished in Bar Harbor wicker. The Victorian hatrack is of California redwood.

Dominating the dining room is a Welsh oak and satinwood cupboard. The narrow dining room table is French, the rush seated chairs are English and the Queen Anne corner cupboard is American. A collection of Imari dishes is displayed.

Mrs. Lauren Nowell, an antique authority, will be at "The Crowsnest" to explain the history of its furnishings.



THE COUNTRY style kitchen of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Clark's Belvedere Island home generates warmth through use of oak cupboards, an old butcher's block a meat rack and wooden floors. A French milk cupboard filled with Dutch Mastrick china and a table of chestnut is in the breakfast area.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Ex-Wife Is A Doper, But He Can't Get Custody Of Child

DEAR HELEN:

A new California law makes it easier for divorced fathers to get custody of their young children. That's what it says. Here are the facts, in my case — and I don't think I'm very unusual:

My ex-wife and one of her lovers were arrested twice on dope charges, but got off each time. She ODed last year on 50 reds. When she came to in the hospital she said next time she'd kill our child too. Later she was hospitalized for hepatitis. She has been going to a psychiatrist, but hasn't changed. Naturally, she is fired from every job she takes — she just doesn't show up for work.

Our 5-year-old daughter has seen her mother smoking pot, taking dope, and drunk in bed with two different guys. One of my ex-wife's lovers tried to molest the child, and she is aware of it. She has been with five guys in one year, and she spends her support money on them, not on our daughter. They live with relatives who take on most of the child care. Many times, however, my daughter is left alone when the family is out.

I know all these things, but proving them to a judge is something else. He spends about five minutes on the case, hears the mother and her relatives, and my lawyer doesn't have a chance. I've spent over three thousand dollars already trying to win my child (who wants to live with me).

I am a plumber, earning $230 a week take-home pay for 36 hours. I have a three-bedroom, two-bath home, all fenced in. My daughter would have a stable, happy life here. What chance has she got with her mother?

People say, "Wait till she ODs again and maybe you'll then get your daughter." But it may be too late. I know she is a doper — that is why we divorced.

Every word I've written is completely true. Is this justice? — R.L.

DEAR R.:

Justice this isn't! If these charges can be proved — and surely you have witnesses — I can't believe the court would rule against you again.

Here's a suggestion: Why don't you write to the State Assemblyman from your district. He is one of those who approved the "divorced father-equality" bill you mentioned, and maybe, just maybe, he'll go to bat for you. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I work for a company which sends out free recipe booklets. Here is a suggestion: people writing for free offers can save on postage and envelopes by using a post card or index card. (It saves us opening envelopes at the company.) If a box top or coupon is required, that can be taped to the card.

If money is to be enclosed, why not make your envelope from a page of an old magazine? It's easy, personally economical and socially ecological. — B.F.

READERS:

To make envelopes from magazine pages, select those with more pictures than printing, cut your pattern from a spread-out envelope, and use a white address sticker in the proper place. These provide unusual and decorative additions to your stationery boxes. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I think you were wrong in predicting that half (or even a few) of your readers would take the dog's side when his master fed him expensive steak bought with food stamps. (This because the grocer wouldn't give dog food for stamps.)

Now I love dogs, and no dog should go hungry, but steak? We don't even buy steak for our children, on food stamps. We're lucky if we can have hamburger and weiners — and we eat a lot of beans.

The dog would have been just as full on a pint of cottage cheese, or some canned beans. His owner was just taking a stab at the establishment instead of considering himself lucky to get food stamps. — MOTHER OF FIVE TEENS

DEAR MOTHER:.

You're right — I was wrong. So far no one has taken the dog's side. — H.

Stripes On Ties Mean Something

Something you probably never knew about neckties before: Leon Tirsch of Superba Cravats, Rochester, N.Y., reports that the lines found on the lining of most neckties really mean something. Five stripes and it is a very heavy lining to be used with thin silk. One stripe and you have a lightweight lining for wear with heavy wool outershells.

The price of the tie is not determined by the stripes of the inner lining but by the quality and design of the outer fabrics.

FRENCH ART — Warm, dazzling colors, a panoramic view of the picturesque domes and bridges of Paris and the colorful attire of debarking passengers on holiday excursion are seen in this painting by Auguste Renoir, one of the early Impressionist painters. ART REVIEW

The Visting Simon Collection

By ADA GARFINKEL

SAN FRANCISCO — How forunate for residents of the Bay Area that the combined wealth and aesthetic wisdom of industrialist-art collector Norton Simon — a modern-day Medici of the arts — has been brought to our midst at the California Palace of the Legion of Honor.

On a year-long loan, the exhibit of 63 French paintings and sculptures from the vast Simon collection represents the most important French art of the last three centuries.

According to collector Simon, a resident of Southern California, bringing the great art of other nations to this country may "improve communication at the individual, national and international level."

Simon's opinion is that "art... can take people and open them up in a unique way... to look at themselves, which is important, since one of the prime problems in society is the need for introspection... to see others with greater sensitivity and insight."

The paintings, some of them more than 300 years old, are in a remarkable state of preservation and freshness.

Whether glowing with opulence in the Baroque portraits by Largilliere and Rigaud, in the rococo insouciance of Fragonard, the naturalism of Daumier and Chardin, the romanticism of Delacroix or the neoclassic perfectionism of Ingres, these paintings reflect the changing political and social currents and spheres of influence of their period.

Too, the shift from studio painting to the study of nature in "plein-air" is represented by Corot, the originator of this procedure. It also is reflected by Courbet and Daubigny and by the great Impressionist painters Monet, Renoir, Pissarro, Sisley and Lepine, whose paintings reflect the influences of scientific developments and new concepts of time and motion.

And the greatest innovators of all are represented here — Manet, Cezanne, Gaugin — who changed the whole concept of seeing and painting, doing away with the duality of background-foreground and creating a single picture plane relating to our own immediacy of perception.

Many of these paintings have never been shown publicly before. Others have been previously exhibited at the Metropolitan Museum in New York and the National Gallery.

Resounding echoes of praise will linger long after this exhibit is over. No single visit can suffice to absorb the magnificent Rodin larger-than-life-size sculptures — they will remain at the Legion of Honor for three years — nor the sensuous miniature Maillol bronzes, the singular vision of Rousseau, the breath-taking paintings by Degas, and many, many others.

This exhibit is open to the public without charge daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The museum, the only all French-art museum in the U.S., is in Lincoln Park, Clement Street at 34th Avenue.

Corps Of Engineers Will Hold Hearing On Hahn Fill Permit

The Corps of Engineers will hold a hearing on Ernest W. Hahn Inc.'s application to fill 69 acres of Corte Madera land east of Highway 101 for a regional shopping center on June 5 at 7:30 p.m. in the town recreation center.

Announcing the hearing, Col. J. L. Lammie, district engineer, said a Department of the Army permit is required for the work because the area to be filled includes 29 acres of land below the mean high water level, which is within corp jurisdiction.

The town council voted April 24 to go ahead with a redevelopment project in support of Hahn's multimillion-dollar Marin Mall. The development cannot proceed until the fill permit is granted.

Hahn originally applied last September to place one million cubic yards of fill on the shopping center site, but the mall's siting was relocated to leave 32 acres of marshland as wildlife habitat north of the site, and the amount of fill has been reduced.

Lammie said Hahn has applied to place 330,000 cubic yards of imported and compacted fill, plus 300,000 to 400,000 cubic yards of imported fill material to be used as a temporary "surcharge." The surcharge would remain in place for approximately one year, then be removed and taken to "some other land disposal area."

The 69-acre site to be filled includes 24 acres of unfilled land, half of it grass, marsh plants, salt marsh and "degenerated" salt marsh.

Col. Lammie said verbal statements will be heard, but for accuracy of the record, statements should be submitted in writing, in quadruplicate. Written statements may be handed to the presiding officer at the meeting, or may be mailed beforehand to Col. Lammie at: U.S. Army Engineer District, San Francisco, Corps of Engineers, 100 McAllister Street, San Francisco 94102.

Copies of the environmental impact report on the redevelopment project are available for inspection at town hall. Documents, maps and other exhibits relating to Hahn's fill permit application are available for review in Room 533 of the corps offices at the McAllister Street address.

Novato Council Can't Reach Decision On One Subdivision

The Novato City Council last night could not decide whether a seven-lot subdivision at the end of Alice Street would increase possible flooding of nearby dwellings, so it sent the tentative map back to the Novato Planning Commission.

Developer John Novak had sumitted plans for the seven-lot subdivision on 2.62 acres. Residents of the area protested the proposed subdivision because the proposed fill would make it higher than their lots.

Frank Schuck of 722 Alice Street pointed out to the council that when the adjacent ponding area gets full of water, the drainage from their homes would have no place to go past the proposed subdivision, if it were two feet higher than their property.

"We must solve the legal problems of the drainage before the subdivision goes in," said Councilman Dorothy P. Young. She also said she favored six lots instead of seven.

Councilman George C. Quesada favored the six-lot subdivision, with one of them designated duplex.

The Novato City Council also:

REPORT — Voted to require an environmental impact report on a proposed 44-unit apartment complex at the end of Los Robles Drive from developer Joseph Wilner.

CENSUS — Heard a report from City Mgr. Charles A. Brown that Novato now officially has 35,300 population, approximately double the 17,800 when the city incorporated.

TAX — Passed an ordinance placing a 1 per cent tax on the gross receipts of all types of vending machines in the city.

SALARIES — Passed an ordinance increasing the council salaries from $150 to $200 per month, effective when the new council is seated.

FEES — Passed an ordinance requiring a $25 filing fee for a candidate running for city council. In the past there has been no filing fee. The vote was 3 to 2 with Mayor Fred F. Ruegg and Quesada against.

TELEGRAM — Voted to send a telegram of encouragement and congratulation to Lori Gieleghem, the California Junior Miss from Novato now competing in the National contest in Atlanta, Ga.

STREETS — Asked city staff for recommendations on remaining streets which change names when crossing another street, such as DeLong Avenue which becomes Diablo Avenue when it crosses Highway 101 and Seventh Street which becomes Tamalpais Avenue when it crosses Novato Boulevard.

MEETINGS — Approved meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow with the planning commission on the general plan; set 8 p.m. May 23 for the final council hearing on the general plan; set 8 p.m., May 29 to review the capital improvement program, and 7:30 p.m., June 2 to tour the projects proposed in the capital improvement program.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned in memory of Michele Kuhn, 10, daughter of the former president of the San Marin Improvement Association and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Kuhn of 363 San Luis Way. Michele was killed earlier in the evening in a bicycle-auto accident at San Marin and San Andreas drives.

Strawberry Rec Budget Is Presented

A proposed preliminary budget for the Strawberry Recreation District of $88,601, down slightly from this year's $89,595 budget, has been submitted to district directors.

Directors Monday adjourned to 8 p.m. tomorrow at the recreation building to discuss the proposed spending program, according to David E. Roberts, district recreation manager.

Under the terms of Senate Bill 90, the district is limited to its current tax rate of 57 cents per $100 assessed valuation. Property taxes are expected to contribute $68,792 to next year's budget, with the remainder coming from various fees, said Roberts.

Budget categories and the amounts proposed are loan repayment, $22,000; gardening service, $6,800; resurfacing of tennis courts, $5,250; legal fees, $5,100; utilities, $3,500; insurance, $2,500; maintenance, $1,500; capital outlay, $1,200, and athletic equipment, $1,000.

Roberts said the budget proposes raising his salary from $10,500 to $11,500, a 10 per cent increase. He said he got no raise last year.

Directors Monday also discussed two posble bond issues, one to buy open siace and the other to complete the community building and pay off the loan. Roberts said the board appropriated $100 to survey Strawberry residents on their attitudes toward such bond issues.

The Strawberry Recreation District board also:

MARINA — In response to a letter from the Richardson Bay Sanitary District, voted to support a proposed ordinance imposing strict controls on sewer service to marinas.

PARK — Heard that the Strawberry Town and Country Village Shopping Center has agreed to delete six parking spaces from plans for a professional building at Belvedere Drive and Reed Boulevard to allow room for a minipark.

COURTS — Awarded a $4,847 contract to Mallot and Peterson-Grundy Co. of San Francisco to resurface two tennis courts.

Bell Makes List Of Most Wanted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Herman Bell, a suspect in a bank robbery and the fatal shooting of two New York City policemen, has been added to the FBI's "10 Most Wanted Fugitives" list. The FBI described him as a flashy dresser with a long list of aliases.

A 25-year-old Negro, Bell has been indicted on two counts of first degree murder in connection with the shooting on May 21, 1971, of two police officers who had responded to a call for aide at a city housing project. He also has been charged in the robbery of a Bank of America branch office in San Francisco Sept. 20, 1971.

Knifing Blamed On Personal Squabble

A "personal squabble" which escalated into retaliation between Mexican and black inmates was behind three stabbings yesterday at San Quentin Prison, officials said today.

The trouble started at 12:10 p.m., according to Associate Warden James W. L. Park, when a black inmate, Willie Ray Smith, attempted to break up a fight between two men who had a "personal beef."

Smith, serving a 10-year-to-life term for robbery in Los Angeles County, received a minor puncture wound in the fracas, Park said. The 28-year-old convict was reported in good condition today.

Later in the afternoon, two mess hall workers were attacked, apparently by young blacks retaliating against Mexican inmates for Smith's stabbing, Park said.

He said a guard who was leaving the south hall turned and saw heavy metal trays flying through the air. The officer sounded the alarm, Park said, and a warning shot was fired into the air.

When the confusion was over, officers found that James Alcarez, 25, and John Natale, 28, had been injured and they confiscated an 11-inch long prison-made knife and a three-and-a-half-foot stanchion pipe.

Alcarez, serving time for second degree murder from Fresno, suffered a stab wound in his chest, and Natale, a robber from Los Angeles County, had a broken arm and a stab wound in his leg.

They also were reported in good condition today.

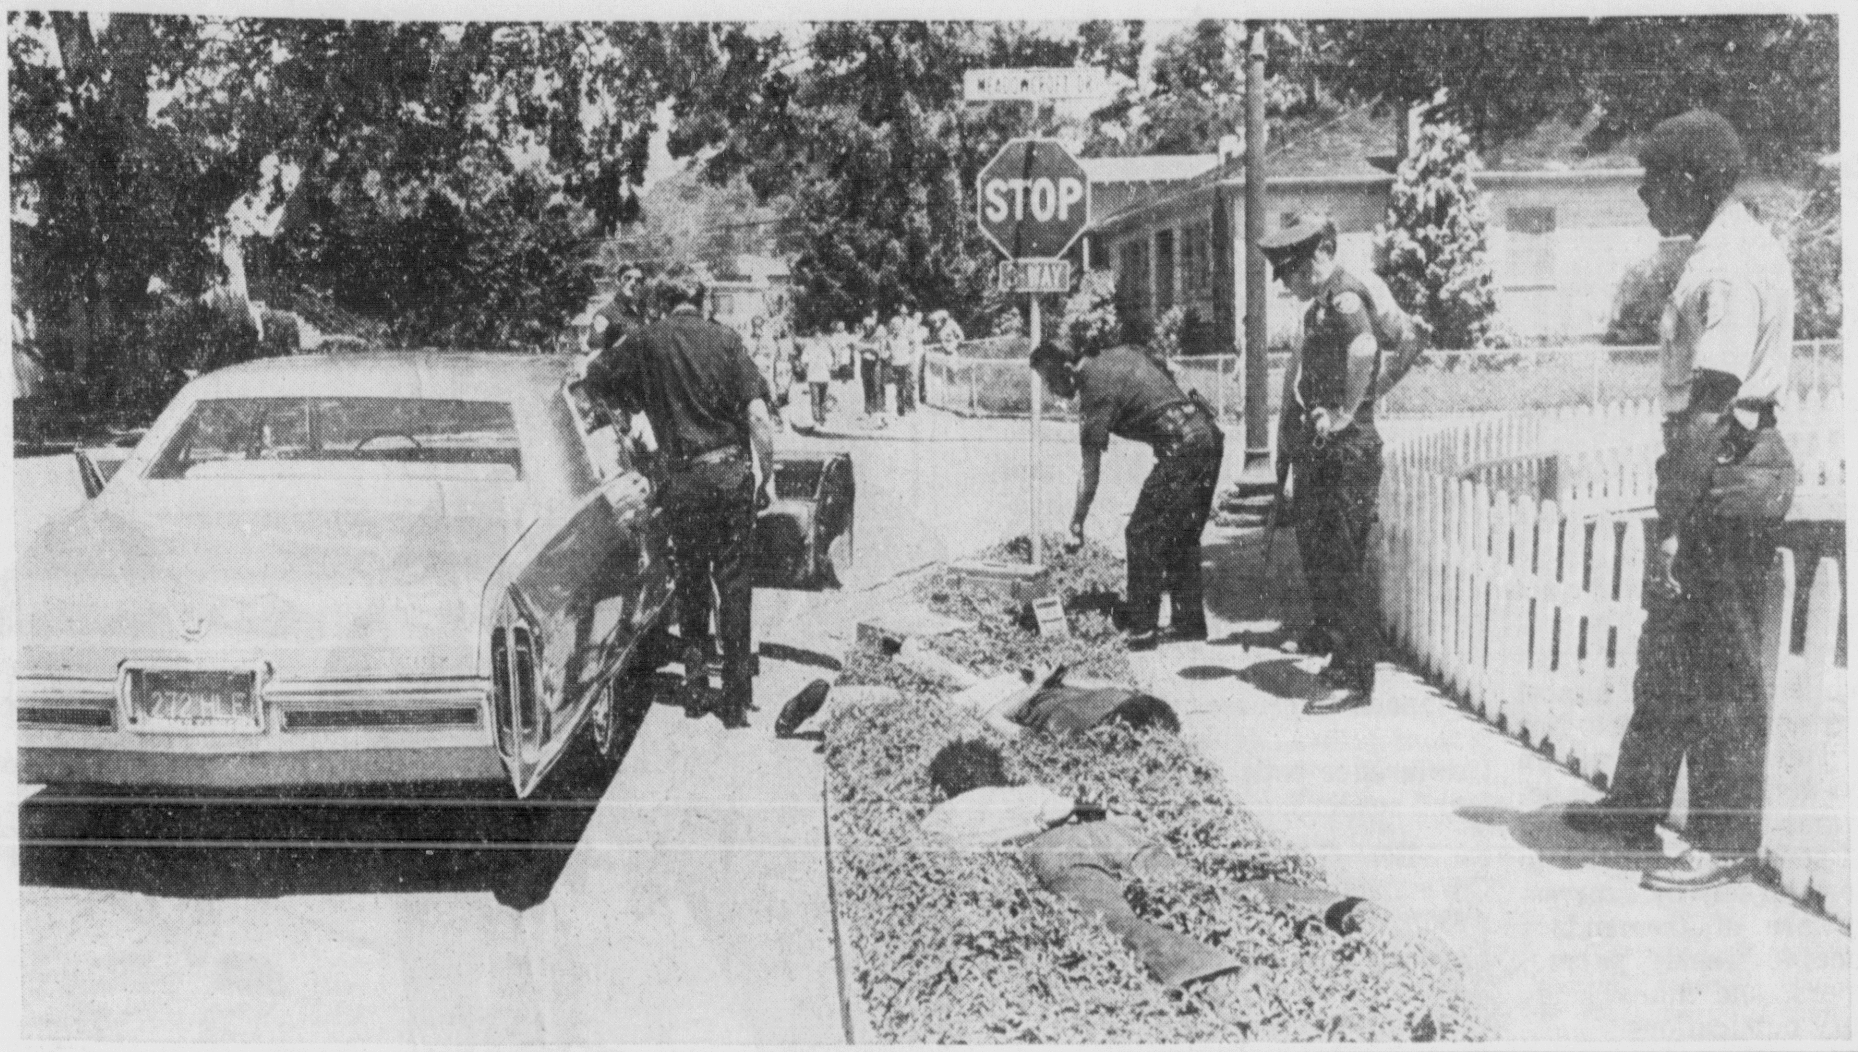
Park said one suspect was locked up in connection with the dining hall incident.

In addition, he said, because of the "tense situation between the black and the Mexicans," the huge east block and D section were locked up today.

Only about half of San Quentin's 2,200 inmates were allowed to go to prison jobs or assignments, and the men were fed in small groups.

"It's ridiculous when a person squabble leads to this serious trouble," Park said, but he said the lock-up situation will remain "until things cool off."

Yesterday's stabbings brought to 24 the number of such attacks on inmates at the prison this year.



LOOT RECOVERED BY POLICE

Captives Johnnie Earl Knight, 32, of 99 Cole Drive, Marin City, and Johnnie Earl Harris, 24, of 327 Drake Avenue, Marin City, lie sprawled in the ivy (above) at Broadmoor Avenue and Meadowcroft Drive in San Anselmo. A Marin County sheriff's deputy and San Anselmo police halted their Cadillac there after the armed robbery of the First Federal Savings Bank in Fairfax at 12:36 p.m. yesterday. Fairfax Police Chief Charles A. Grasso (below) holds aloft bags containing a chrome pistol said to have been used in the robbery and $2,601 in bills police said were taken from the firm. Most of the money was found in the front seat of the car, although $760 was found on one of the men during a search (bottom), according to police. The Marin City men were booked into Marin County Jail and held for federal agents to appear before a federal magistrate today or tomorrow.

Feud Said Cause Of Dance Stabbing

Two stabbings at Sonoma State College last weekend may have been the result of a simmering feud within the Mexican-American community of Sonoma County, according to the sheriff's department.

The men were stabbed during a fight at a dance at the college Saturday. Alfredo Valencia, 23, of 830 Beverly Drive, Rohnert Park, and Carlos Pasillas, 36, of Santa Rosa, were treated at Community Hospital of Sonoma County for superficial wounds of the arms and hands.

Sheriff's deputies detained four persons for questioning at the sheriff's department in Santa Rosa, but said charges have not been brought for lack of evidence.

Lt. John Hes said witnesses questioned at the scene told widely conflicting stories of what had occurred. He said the dispute seemed to stem from a lingering feud within the Chicano community in the northern part of Sonoma County and had no relation to the college or the dance. Neither wounded man was a student there.

Quick Thinker Foils Thieves

A Mill Valley man's quick thinking foiled an attempted armed robbery early today, the Marin City sheriff's substation reported.

Deputies said the man, whom they identified only as Joe Sherman, picked up two hitchhikers shortly after midnight at the southbound Highway 101 ramp in San Rafael.

He drove them to Marin City at their request, but as the pair was leaving the car, one of the men produced a gun and demanded Sherman's wallet.

Sherman quickly jammed the car into reverse and backed away, deputies said. They described the hitchhikers as black, wearing dark clothing and knit caps.

Open Space Land Pact Completed

The Marinwood Community Services District board last night announced it has completed negotiations with two landowners for the purchase of 82 acres of open space for $132,500.

The land, located in the western portion of the community, is the first major purchase to be made with funds from a $600,000 bond issue approved by voters last January, according to Genevieve T. Bolding, district manager.

The land consists of four parcels of about 20 acres each opposite Loganberry Drive and stretches west to the county farm, she said. Landowners Aubrey Holman, who owns three of the parcels, and Paul Scheiner, who owns the other parcel, agreed to sell their land as a package, she said.

The board offered $130,000 for the land, but accepted a counter offer of $132,500, according to Mrs. Bolding.

Postal Service Versus The Weekly Press

Independent-Journal
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
26 SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 9, 1973 EDITORIAL PAGE

The United States Postal Service is not part of the Nixon administration. It is an independent, autonomous government corporation, which replaced the Post Office Department a couple of years ago.

Therefore, it cannot be charged that the USPS is part of what many editors have seen as an administration "war on the press."

NEVERTHELESS, the U.S. Postal Service is out to make things tough for one section of the press — by rate increases.

For nearly a century and a half, periodicals have benefited from a subsidy in the form of cheap postage. As long ago as 1836, the U.S. postal rate structure was set up to carry newspapers and pamphlets for one-half cent while letters cost two cents. In a new rate structure in 1863, weekly newspapers were put on a weight basis, at five cents per quarter pound. In 1879, second-class postage was established for all periodicals, with a still greater advantage in rates.

The intention in these subsidies was to encourage dissemination of news and information through cheap postage. The United States was following a precedent set by Great Britain and other countries in so doing.

THE U.S. POSTAL Service, committed to the idea of making the mail service pay its own way and apparently uninterested in either dissemination of news or improvement of service, hiked second class rates by 33⅓ per cent last year. A second increase of 27 per cent is scheduled for July. More are planned within the next three years.

These rate increases do not mean much to daily papers such as the Independent-Journal, which is distributed almost entirely by newspaperboys. Nor do they have too great an impact on magazines which depend primarily on newsstand sales and send their bundles to distributers largely by express. But they are of tremendous importance to weekly papers, farm papers, and many kinds of specialty publications.

Sen. Alan Cranston, in a speech last week to the National Newspaper Association, declared the second-class rate increases threaten survival of many papers which uncover "the local Watergate scandals" in towns across the United States.

In many communities, he pointed out, "they are the only source of local news — and they are often the only publication devoted exclusively to the betterment of the community in which they publish."

For such small papers, mailing cost is a big item. The planned increases in second-class rates could mean the difference between continuance and suspension.

SEN. GAYLORD Nelson, D-Wis., has introduced a bill (S. 630), of which Cranston is co-sponsor, to roll back second-class rates to those before the July, 1972, one-third raise.

Nelson's bill deserves support from those who believe that preserving a free press is more important than having the postal service deficit-free.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY: Letters To The I-J

Helicopter Complainer Might Welcome One

In answer to Willaim Rothman's helicopter noise complaint (I-J, May 5):

In the event he or his neighbor fell from a boat into Richardson Bay unobserved (many own boats on the west side of Belvedere), there couldn't be enough choppers hovering above, dropping a life raft.

That noise would be sweet music.

All movement has its accompanying noise. Learn to live with it.

Recall Election Cost Must Be Shared By All

We are determined to conduct the recall campaign in Corte Madera on the issues, but rumors have made it difficult to do so. For the record I would like to lay to rest two of the more distracting rumors.

First, persons signing the recall petitins for Councilmen Wagstaff, Norville and Colthurst are not liable for the costs of the special election or for any civil action.

Secondly, a special recall election will not cost $50,000.

When sufficient signatures have been collected, the State Election Code provides for the holding of a special election, which would be paid for by the Town of Corte Madera, or, indirectly, all taxpayers, not just those who signed the petitions. Town Clerk Betty Behel has estimated that the cost of a special election would be $3,000 to $3,500. The last municipal election in Corte Madera cost $1,050.

I invite anyone who is concerned with the truth of these statements to verify them by checking with the County Elections Office and Town Clerk Behel.

Coordinator Citizens for Recall

College Expands While Enrollment Declines

Dr. Martin Griffin is overwhelmingly elected to the Marin Municipal Water District board as a representative of conservation and limited growth forces in Marin.

Yet, paradoxically, three candidates who favor building a second college campus in Novato are elected to the College of Marin Board.

All predictions are for a dminishing number of school children in the county. Some schools have already been phased out; the closing of Hamilton Field will mean even fewer residents of school age. The county and cities are placing moratoriums on new residential building, are zoning to decrease densities, and have under consideration master plans specifically aimed at reducing population growth. However, despite this direction of basic countywide planning, and despite the overwhelming defeat of a bond issue to build the Novato campus, the College of Marin board of trustees are going ahead with their multi-million dollar building program for an ever dwindling number of local high school graduates.

Who, then, will benefit by the building of the Novato campus? Certain commercial interests in Novato, and more and more students from out of state, and even out of the United States, who are attracted by the surplus of classroom seats — not to mention food and housing subsidies — at our "free" (to the students, not to the property owners) community college. . .

Complacency About Watergate Disturbing

The current White House scandal has so many shocking and criminal implications which are, quite literally, world-shaking that all U.S. citizens still capable of moral indignation should by now be vocal with outrage.

Nothing about the "Watergate horror" distresses me so much as the number of my fellow Americans who, although annoyed at the mess, still dismiss it as "just politics" or believe the story was blown-up out of all proportion by the media.

According to one national poll, at least 50 per cent of the Americans who have heard about Watergate believes that the president of our country had guilty knowledge of some of the criminal activities committed in his name: burglary, bugging, obstruction of justice, perjury — to name only four.

If we, as privileged citizens of an almost 200-year-old working republic, became cynically complacent about "those crooks in politics," we deserve to be governed by crooks.

Another Bouquet For Jeremy Dwyer

May we suggest a bouquet for one of our San Rafael citizens, Mr. R. Jeremy Dwyer, the noted poet, artist, and philosopher, who has just been honored by the City of San Rafael for his many years of voluntary service to young people and to his community.

Mr. Dwyer was named Big Brother of the year for 1973 (although he is not a member) and has also received numerous honors and commendations from other groups and organizations.

Mr. Dwyer has retired from his work with young people in order to return to writing poetry and painting. However, we now find Mr. Dwyer tutoring an eager group of young people who want to reach other young people via radio. Mr. Dwyer was asked by KTIM to tutor these young people in a method of gleaning the truth and to give young people the right and chance to speak their minds on various topics of their choosing, in the hope of involving other young people.

We would like to give Mr. Dwyer a bouquet for taking the time (once again) from his creative career in order to give young people a chance to be heard; and we think this would be a pleasant addition to the honors and awards he has received after all the work he has already done.

Ad For Pornographic Movies Protested

I urgently recommend that you devote one of your upcoming editorials to a clarification of your policy regarding the acceptance of motion-picture advertising. The explanation for this somewhat unusual request is my feeling of indignation and revulsion everytime I see the ad for "Deep Throat" and its "co-hit", "Spread for Action" that you are currently running.

Is it possible that you are unaware of the fact that "Deep Throat" has been repeatedly categorized as to steeped in filth and sexual perversion as to be socially degrading and completely irredemable artistically — or that this is one of the very few parts of the country in which legal authorities have not moved in to prevent its showing? I would like to give you the benefit of the doubt — but the working of the ad you are running essentially implies that legal action still remains a good possibility that could curtail its continance.

I can't help wondering if you aren't, therefore, the pecuniary "captive" of the "well-heeled" entrepreneurs that are using advertising media like yours to continue "lining their pockets". Or is it rather that you fail to see that there is any valid distinction between the right to freedom of expression and the abuse thereof? If so, you may find it enlightening to learn that the most profitable pornographic movies shown in the Bay Area last year were those that dealt with child molestation, gang rape, torture and bestiality! Does that tell you anything?. . .

J.W. JOHNSON

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Adult Authority Turns To Tougher Parole Rules

By RUS WALTON

After several years of messing around on the fringes of sociology, the California Adult Authority is becoming tougher and more conservative about paroling prisoners.

Joseph Spangler, the authority's executive director, puts it this way: "We are taking a closer, more careful look at those prison inmates who are legally eligible for parole. If it's a case of reservation — not being certain or convinced — then the decision goes to the safety of the citizen on the street, and not so much to the prisoner, as has been the case in the past."

Spangler confirms that the board is tightening conditions of parole that had been broadened in recent years.

"Some who might have been paroled a few years ago, the board — based on experience and looking at such cases — now find just not safe to let out."

IN THE PAST, he admits, the parole board adopted a less severe posture based on pressures from the Department of Corrections and others to experiment with new programs. Some of these programs have not worked. They are being dropped.

The authority gets pressures from every direction —left, right, soft, hard. Spangler acknowledges, however, that the concerns of such tough law men as Los Angeles Police Chief Ed Davis and Sacramento Sheriff Duane Lowe influenced the board's harder posture.

Some legislators — namely Sen. Bill Richardson, R-Arcadia, and Assemblyman John Briggs, R-Fullerton, have also persistently pressed for tighter parole procedures.

ARE THERE SOME legislators not so concerned about public safety? Even to the point of taking chances when releasing prisoners?

Spangler replies that there are some who do not believe anyone belongs in prison. Some legislators who feel that being locked in prison is damaging and not helpful; that prisons do not rehabilitate.

The first purpose of prison, of course, is to protect the public. Rehabilitation comes second to that.

"The Department of Corrections has some of the finest rehabilitation programs in the world," asserts Spangler. "But the inmate has to take advantage of them. Some do, some don't."

THE PAROLE BOARD is also requiring more precise and stringent reports on prisoners already on parole.

"We had eliminated 'association' as a condition of parole. So, when a parolee associated with another individual for illicit or illegal purposes, that was not a reportable item. Now it is," said Spangler.

One problem the parole board faces is that state prisons now contain a tougher population.

"Ten years ago," recounts Spangler, "16 per cent of the prison population was for armed robbery. Now that's between 35 and 40 per cent. You add to that the homicides and the assaults with a deadly weapon and rape by force and violence and burglary in the first degree —and that gets you up to 60-70 per cent of the total prison population."

AS A RESULT of the Authority's tougher stance, there are between 1,000 and 1,200 more prison inmates than the Department of Corrections had anticipated. Recently, a budget augmentation of $6.5 million was requested.

Several prisons that were being closed or phased back will probably be revitalized. The Conservation Center in Susanville will be used as a special vocational training institution. San Quentin's south block will be reopened and the planned 1975 closure of that facility probably delayed.

So much for one experiment in sociolo gy.

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

To combat the energy crisis you'll have to take your foot off the gas, put your nose to the grindstone, and burn the candle at both ends.

What we lazy Americans need to encourage our use of candlepower is an electric gadget to light the candles and a battery-powered fan to help us blow 'em out.

Some folks will have to learn how to operate hand-power toothbrushes. With the brush held firmly against the teeth, shake your head in a "no no" manner while jumping up and down.

One sure way for a householder to cut off the consumption of gas and electricity is to forget about paying his utility bill.

Clearing Of Air On Watergate Can't Be Accomplished In A Day

WASHINGTON — It is evident that for some time the political weather around 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue will be: cloudy with intermittent storms.

This means that what President Nixon most hoped for will not come about. He had hoped that his "no-whitewash-at-the-White-House" speech would produce an early clearing of the skies and that the long shadow cast by Watergate would soon be lifted.

Restoration of trust cannot be accomplished so rapidly. One reason is that more crimes keep coming to light. It now develops that G. Gordon Liddy and E. Howard Hunt apparently had a practice run at break-in and burglary before the Watergate break-in and burglary. They allegedly stole private papers to see if they could strengthen the government's case against Daniel Ellsberg for stealing private papers.

Thus there is complicity on the part of the White House staff in two crimes, not just one, and there is complicity in impeding justice since presidential aides, after learning that Liddy and Hunt had illegally entered the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist, did not take the initiative to report it.

OBVIOUSLY IT IS going to take the prosecutors, the grand jury and the Senate Watergate committee many months before the whole story unfolds.

Although Mr. Nixon has made substantial progress in showing that he is dealing surgically with the Watergate infection, it is inescapable that the administration must continue to work under a cloud until all is out — and all is cleaned out.

The beginning is encouraging.

The President took the hard and painful decision to make a clean sweep of staff. It had to be done.

There are early signs of a more open and co-operative White House, and both the President and Vice President Agnew are admitting that for too long they have been unwisely feuding with the press.

THERE ARE SOME horrifying ironies in how the top White House staff reacted after Liddy and Hunt disclosed that they had entered and stolen property from the offices of Ellsberg's psychiatrist. They were not fired for committing a crime; they were told "not to do it again."

It is on the record that Liddy and Hunt were assigned by the White House to make a "psychiatric profile" of Ellsberg "to determine his habits, mental attitudes, motives and so forth."

After learning that they had committed burglary, which to them seemed a normal thing to do in behalf of the White House, it almost seems the minimum thing to do would have been to order a "psychiatric profile" of Liddy and Hunt "to determine their habits, mental attitudes, motives and so forth." Instead, as self-confessed burglars, they were assigned to the Committee for the Re-Election of the President to carry on.

Probably then-Atty. Gen. John Mitchell was not informed that he was working with criminals when Liddy et al proposed the Watergate break-in to him on three different occasions. But even after the attorney general had rejected it twice and they came back to urge it a third time, he said later that he believed at the time that his third oral rejection of the proposed crime would be enough to prevent it.

Mighty strange!

Very Thin Cats Contribute Many Millions Unwillingly

WASHINGTON — The disclosure that Mr. Nixon's re-election crew destroyed the records on millions of dollars of contributions from very fat cats has produced outcries and indictments from the general public and the Justice Department. But not from the fat cats themselves.

They were paying in advance for something — perhaps something unstated and nebulous, something the rest of us may never learn about, but nevertheless they had ample precedent to assume that when payoff time came, they would make a handsome return on a sound investment. It did not matter exactly where their cash was laundered and how eventually spent. Like so many people in the news lately, they would rather not know the details.

YET THERE IS another class of Americans that makes contributions that dwarf even the President's re-election fund, and do it not voluntarily but because they have to if they want to live under a roof, stay warm, buy the necessities of life and carry on routine personal business.

Individually, these are very skinny cats indeed — the entire buying, renting, telephone-talking, check-writing population of the United States.

Unlike the anonymous big contributors to the President's campaign, these citizens would like very much to know what happens to the money they must post as "security deposits" and pay into escrow accounts, and the billions they maintain in checking accounts.

They provide the banks and other firms with the principal to earn vast amounts in dividends and interest. The institutions collect those earnings while the individual owners of the money never see a cent of profit on it.

THE VENERABLE Wright Patman, D-Texas, chairman of the House Banking Committee and a man most bankers wish had never left Texarkana, is urging banks to start paying interest not only on checking accounts but also on the escrow accounts they build from monthly payments accompanying mortgage installments. Lending institutions accumulate that money monthly, but pay it out for property taxes and insurance only annually or semiannually.

Nonexperts are more familiar with so-called security deposits required by telephone and utility companies and by landlords. These may not seem important amounts considered individually — from a few dollars here to a month's rent on an expensive apartment there. But multiplied by the number of depositors they become a major, little-discussed investment fund for the firms holding them.

On the early evidence, your radical friends might say "The System" is working to preserve this system. In Washington, a federal district judge just said that three public-interest lawyers could not bring a class-action suit to require local savings and loan associations to pay interest on mortgage escrow accounts.

BUT "THE SYSTEM" also is working in the other direction. Here and there, a competitive bank has decided that it will attract more depositors if it advertises that it pays interest on checking accounts. And while the U.S. Savings and Loan League has completed a study predictably showing the administrative handling of escrow accounts costs lenders more than those accounts earn, some banks, nevertheless, have decided it is good business to start paying interest on them.

In Syracuse, for example, one bank has discovered a "moral obligation to the consumer" to pay its mortgagees 4.5 per cent on their tax and insurance escrow accounts. Its discovery may relate to the fact that the Rockefeller administration was backing a bill to require escrow interest payments.

Up to now, the average borrower whose taxes are collected by the bank as part of his payments, has not realized that by Wright Patman's figures, he loses $800 in unpaid interest over the life of his mortgage. That information comes under the heading of a little learning, and as we were told long ago, a little learning can be a dangerous thing — to bankers, landlords, et al.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Teachers Identify Reason Why Johnny Can't Read

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The California Association of Teachers of English calls attention in its spring newsletter to a seldom-mentioned reason why Johnny can't read.

In an article entitled "Pre-Adolescents Need Reading Choices," the newsletter observes:

"The materials in the state adopted readers and in state texts adopted in the various subject fields . . . are unlikely vehicles for building pleasure in reading."

IN THE ENDLESS debates over the teaching of reading, virtually all the attention has been given to methods: word recognition ("look-say") versus a wide assortment of Phonetic and phonetically oriented approaches. But little has been said about what children are given to read.

Whether or not Dick and Jane and their successors introduce vocabulary scientifically or reinforce word recognition, they are not likely to capture the interest of boys and girls. The child who enters school eager to learn to read may soon wonder whether it is worthwhile bothering, since the books that are given him are not worth reading.

One of the few educators to face up to this is Max Rafferty, former California state superintendent who wrote in "What They Are Doing To Your Children" (1963):

"Did you ever stop to wonder why a child learns to read? Not to please the teacher. Not even to please Mom and Pop. He reads to please himself. He has to be interested enough in what is happening on page one to want to tackle the new words on page two, and so on through the book. I submit that for more than a decade now we have been systematically emasculating the children's books until no child worth his salt could conceivably be fascinated by anything that goes on inside their covers."

In the 10 years since Rafferty wrote that, readers have been revised to include "minority groups" in all the stories, and are now being revised some more to please the women's libbers. But little or no effort has been made to make the stories interesting.

THE CALIFORNIA Association of Teachers of English, aware of this, and aware also that texts are not the products of first-class writers anyhow, proposes to attack the problem through greater use of school and public libraries.

"Teachers and parents must come to an understanding of the role of leisure reading in materials of the child's own choice," its newsletter says. "Leisure reading creates the reader."

A very small curtsey in this direction was made in "Criteria for Evaluating Instructional Materials in Literature, Kindergarten Through Grade Eight," submitted this week to the state Board of Education by a committee of the Curriculum Development and Supplemental Materials Commission.

Under "Nature and Functions of Content," it lists as No. 1: "Provide students with a literature program which will heighten personal interest in reading."

The rest of the five-page criteria is concerned with matters the committee apparently feels require greater emphasis.

At the same meeting, the state board also was presented with criteria for evaluating instructional materials in reading and in "English and related subjects," kindergarten through eighth grade. Neither of these even mentioned providing interesting material to encourage learning to read.

IN THE CLIMAX of a series of storyettes in "Off We Go With Stories," one of the California State Reading Series, two children and their father arrive home from a vacation trip. They hear a noise in a tree, and Mark (the boy) sees a squirrel stick its head out. The "adventure" concludes:

"Mark and Janet laughed. They thought their surprises were all over, but here was another surprise — right in their own backyard."

Recognizing that the Mark and Janet in the classroom may be something less than enraptured with such a sensational denouement (and with the similar vapidity which has gone before it), the California Association of Teachers of English suggests that the libraries step in to fill the void.

It does not suggest that the texts be junked in favor of something worth learning to read.

Pueblo's Skipper To Retire

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Former Pueblo Skipper Lloyd M. Bucher will retire June 1 after 22 years in the Navy, his wife Rose said today.

"We haven't decided on the future," she said. "We'll make some decisions after we return from a trip to Europe."

Mrs. Bucher was interviewed by telephone from Guam, where her Navy commander husband returned Monday after commanding an element of the U.S. minesweeper force clearing mines from North Vietnamese waters.

In the interview with the San Diego Evening Tribune, she expressed "mixed feelings" about Bucher's decision to retire. Bucher, 45, was commander of the Navy spy ship Pueblo when it was captured by a North Korean naval force Jan. 23, 1968.

The crew spent 11 months in captivity before being released. After a three-month court of inquiry, a panel of five admirals recommended that Bucher be tried by general court-martial for surrendering his ship. But Secretary of the Navy John Chafee ruled Bucher and his crew had "suffered enough."

None of the Pueblo crewmen was decorated for bravery despite what they described as barbaric treatment and testimony of heroism in the captivity.

The ordeal was presented accurately by a March 29 television documentary, "Pueblo" by the American Broadcasting Co., Mrs. Bucher said.

But Mrs. Bucher said she was unhappy with the portrayal of her by actress Mary Fickett.

Newsword Adventure

Scandals are probably as old as human society. The word "scandal" has its origins way back with the ancient Greeks. Their term "skandalon" meant "trap," but was used in the figurative sense of a "snare for an enemy" or "cause for moral stumbling." This latter meaning was transferred into the Latin "scandalum," and adopted into the usage of the Catholic Church, which used it to describe the discredit to the Church brought about by misconduct of a religious person. The word has become a part of several modern European languages.

Corte Maderans Favor Open Space

A survey of Corte Maderans shows the town evenly divided on the issue of the Ernest W. Hahn regional shopping center, heavily in favor of an open space bond election, to buy ridgetop and marsh lands, and vigorously opposed to more low and moderate income housing in the town.

The Corte Madera Town Meeting Monday gave the town council results of its community survey. A total of 3,317 questionnaires were completed by residents, said Patricia Rodrigues, chairman of the survey committee. The replies represented abut 69 oer cent of the 5,800 adults eligible to complete the forms, she said.

A total of 1,562 residents felt that the regional shopping center was the best use for the vacant land east of 101, while 1,318 were not in favor. On that subject 192 residents, had no opinion, and 145 didn't answer the question.

Asked how much they would be willing to pay for acquiring open space in Corte Madera, 1,033 persons said they'd pay $40 a year in taxes on a $40,000 home. Agreement was also registered by 576 who said they'd pay $20 a year, and another 589 who said they'd be willing to pay $10 a year for open space — 845 said they wouldn't support an open space bond measure.

In setting land acquisition priorities in the event an open space bond election was approved, the favorite choice was the 107-acre ridgetop between Tiburon and Corte Madera. Second was the triangular marsh of 21 acres near the Independent Learning Schools on Paradise Drive, and the third choice as the 90-acre Northridge dividing Corte Madera from Mill Valley.

Only 886 residents felt there would be additional moderate and low income housing in Corte Madera — 2,027 disagreed.

A majority of respondents felt that new housing in the town should be single-family houses only, and a similar majority favored slow growth, about 1 per cent a year.

Recent public hearings on redevelopment and the Hahn shopping center have indicated that the town is fairly evenly divided on the shopping center issue, and the results of the survey are not particularly surprising.

A feature of the survey — perhaps the most complete one a Marin small community ever attempted — is the picture it paints of a typical Corte Maderan.

Relying on the statistics, it shows him or her to be between 36 and 50 years old, owning a home, married, with some college education, in a household of two to three persons.

The typical Corte Madera family has an income between $15,000 and $30,000, owns two cars, the husband works in San Francisco or the Peninsula, travels to work by car, and the family does most of its shopping in Corte Madera.

The typical Corte Mderan, again according to the survey results, feels there's a need for better public transportation, and would go to work by bus if there were a good bus service.

He or she considers the existing Highway 101 crossover in Corte Madera unsafe for bicycles, pedestrians and children, and thinks there should be a shuttle bus service between East and West Corte Madera.

He or she is satisfied with the town's police and fire services, but favors pooling police, fire, recreation and street and sewer maintenance services with Larkspur.

The citizens were evenly divided on the question of whether the town council is responsive to the needs of its citizens, but only 789 persons felt communications between the town and its residents are adequate — 1,831 felt they weren't.

Communications could best be improved by a community newsletter, answered 2,453 residents.

The largest single response — 2,947 — was from residents who felt that official public hearings of the town council and planning commission should be held in a place large enough to seat everyone. . . in the last year public hearings in the town hall have been marked by overflows into the street, with residents sitting on the floor and jammed against the walls of the tiny council chambers.

Mountain Play Group Plans Hike, Picnic

A hike and picnic sponsored by the Mountain Play Association will be held May 20 from noon to sunset at the Mountain Theater in Mount Tamalpais State Park, according to Alice Hein, picnic coordinator.

The event will be to solicit public support for the continued use of the Mountain Theater with an eye to reviving the mountain play, suspended this year because of financial problems and lack of parking, Mrs. Hein said.

Organized hiking parties are scheduled to leave at 9:30 a.m. from three locations: the Mill Valley bus stop at Throckmorton and Miller avenues; the San Anselmo bus stop on Center Boulevard and the front of the College of Marin gymnasium in Kentfield.

Scheduled speakers are state Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, and county supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste. Volunteer community groups will provide entertainment. Hikers are asked to bring their own lunches.

Red Cross Seeks Disaster Funds

After spending $27 million for disaster relief in the first 10 months of the fiscal year, the American Red Cross has issued an appeal for contributions to its depleted disaster budget, according to Donald L. Johnson, Marin chapter chairman.

Contributions designated for disaster relief may be mailed to the Marin Red Cross Chapter, 712 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael. All contributions will be used solely for disaster relief, Johnson said.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

South Executes A Swindle And Easily Pulls Off A Contract

South can make four spades by straightforward play, but he must be fairly careful about it. Instead, he executed a swindle. This was much easier and also much more satisfactory. Most players would rather steal a trick than earn one.

Opening lead — ♠ 2

West opened the deuce of spades and dummy won with the jack. Declarer promptly led the jack of hearts from dummy and East casually played low on the assumption that South was planning a finesse.

This was, of course, exactly what South was hoping for. He won with the singleton king of hearts, cashed the top clubs, ruffed a club with dummy's low trump and could return to his hand by ruffing a heart in order to ruff his last club with dummy's high trump.

ADDITIONAL ADVANTAGE

As a practical matter, this type of phony finesse will succeed more often when dummy has only three or four cards in the suit. Then the singleton king is not likely to be suspected. An additional advantage of executing the swindle is that your opponent feels so foolish that you may get away with murder on the next few hands also.

Just in case you're wondering about the straightforward play, here it is. Win the first trump in the South hand and lead the king of hearts. East wins and returns a trump to dummy's jack. Ruff a heart, lead to the king of clubs and ruff another heart.

When the queen of hearts drops, take the ace of clubs, ruff a club and lead the jack of hearts to discard your last club. Lead the last heart, forcing East to ruff. The best play now is to card a diamond instead of overruffing. East must lead diamonds, and the rest is very easy.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ - A K Q 10
♥ - K 9
♦ - J 8 5
♣ - A Q 9 7.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one club. With four spades and four clubs, begin with one club. You will have a convenient chance to bid spades later.

Weird Laws On Seattle's Books

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)— Seattle still has a lol of weird ordinances on its books. Like, for instance, one which calls for 90 days in the klink for anyone who lets a thistle grow on his land.

If this statute were enforced, matters could get pretty prickly because a lot of downy-headed carduus, circium and onopordon plants grow on state highway department median strips. Furthermore, the chief of police could get 90 days in his own jail if he failed to publish each day a notice to taxpayers that Seattle thistles must be destroyed.

I, Norma L. IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Seal of the Marin Municipal Water District this day of May 3, 1973.

(SEAL)
NORMA L. SMITH
MARIN MUNICIPAL WATER DISTRICT

MARIN MUNICIPAL WATER DISTRICT
ORDINANCE NO. 120
AN INTERIM ORDINANCE FINDING AND DECLARING THAT A THREATENED WATER SHORTAGE CONDITION EXISTS WITHIN THE DISTRICT AND ESTABLISHING REGULATIONS, PROHIBITIONS AND RESTRICTIONS ON THE DELIVERY AND CONSUMPTION OF WATER

WHEREAS, by two previous Resolutions (No. 4792 and No. 4845), the Board of Directors determined that a threatened water shortage condition exists within the Marin Municipal Water District in that the existing capacity of the system is not sufficient to adequately meet the existing annual consumption; and

WHEREAS, since there has been no significant change in the capacity of the system or in the established annual consumption since the inception of Resolution No. 4845, viz., February 14, 1973, the Board hereby confirms the findings contained in said resolution and, specifically, finding of threatened water shortage; and

WHEREAS, it is necessary to prohibit an increase in the water demand on the District's available water supplies and therefore to adopt an interim ordinance prohibiting all new water service connections which are hereby determined to be non-essential; and

WHEREAS, District will consider at the earliest possible date after receiving the final report of its consultant alternative possibilities for augmenting the water supply and will present one, or more, of said alternatives to the voters of District not later than November, 1973; and

WHEREAS, the District has held a public hearing on the aforesaid declaration.

NOW, THEREFORE, the Board of Directors of Marin Municipal Water District does ordain as follows:

Section 1. It is hereby found and declared that a threatened water shortage condition exists within the District, as set forth aforesaid;

Section 2. Two public hearings have been noticed and held on June 14, 1972, and February 14, 1973, and opportunity to protest the aforesaid declaration has been given.

Section 3. The Board hereby finds that the following regulations, prohibitions and restrictions will conserve the water supply for the greatest public benefit.

Section 4. Section 11.04.030 of the Marin Municipal Water District Code is hereby amended by adding the following at the end of the existing section:

Notwithstanding the provisions of this section, and the other provisions contained in this Title, and because of the existing lack of capacity in the water supply, effective immediately no new service will be granted or installed except as follows:

1. "Turn on" of an existing "Off" service connection (under section 11.08.010 and 11.08.020).
2. Where an application for a new service installation has heretofore been granted under section 11.08.060, or where a main extension agreement has heretofore been executed by District, and where said applications or agreements have not expired by their terms.
3. Service to a public building or public facility (concerned with protection of public health or safety, such as a police or fire department building.)
4. The variance procedure of section 11.12.130 shall be applicable to the foregoing restrictions on service.

Section 5. The General Manager, attorney and staff are hereby directed to take immediate action to cancel and terminate any and all "surplus" water contracts, now held by District, as soon as possible within their terms, limited only by considerations of public health and safety.

Section 6. The severability provisions of section 1.01.110 of this Code are applicable to this Ordinance and each part thereof.

Section 7. This is an urgency ordinance and shall be effective immediately upon adoption. The facts constituting the urgency are as follows: The existing water supply of District is not sufficient to meet the needs of District's consumers, as set forth above. This Ordinance shall remain in effect until repealed or amended by this Board.

14.13.010 PURPOSE. The purpose of these district regulations shall be to promote the safety and convenience of all land use and circulation systems within the City by providing standards and policies for the creation and maintenance of vehicular off-street parking and loading. More specifically, the purposes include: (1) the promotion of more efficient street systems by reducing to a minimum the congestion which may be created by uncontrolled parking; (2) the promotion of the continued health and vitality of all land uses by providing reasonable satisfaction for normal parking demands; and (3) the promotion of compatibility among adjacent land uses and enhancement of the total City-scope by the establishment and implementation of appropriate design and aesthetic standards.

In all zones, in connection with every use, sufficient off-street parking spaces shall be provided to accomplish the principles set forth in this Ordinance and to meet the parking demands generated by residents, visitors, employees, company officials, company vehicles and customers.

14.13.020 SCOPE OF REGULATIONS. The off-street parking and loading provisions of this chapter shall apply as follows:

A. For all buildings and structures erected and all uses of land established after the effective date of this title, accessory parking and loading facilities shall be provided as required by the regulations of the district in which such buildings or uses are located. However, where an application for Environmental and Design Review had been placed on the Planning Commission Preliminary Agenda of March 27, 1973, or where all necessary Planning approvals have been given or where a building permit has been issued prior to the effective date of this title, and provided that construction is begun within six months of such effective date and diligently prosecuted to completion, parking and loading facilities as required hereinafter need not be provided;

B. When the intensity of use of any building, structure or premises is increased through addition of dwelling units, gross floor area, seating capacity or other units of measurement specified herein for required parking or loading facilities, parking and loading facilities as required herein shall be provided for such increase in intensity of use;

C. Whenever the existing use of a building or structure is hereafter changed to a new one, parking or loading facilities shall be provided as required for such new use. However, if the said building or structure was erected prior to the effective date of this title, additional parking or loading facilities are mandatory only in the amount by which the requirements for the new use would exceed those for the existing use if the latter were subject to the parking and loading provisions of this title;

D. At the time of erection or enlargement of any building containing one or more dwelling units, or of the addition of one or more dwelling units to or within an existing building, unless otherwise prohibited in this title, there shall be provided and maintained not less than the parking requirements of Section 14:13.100 A through F.

E. Where a driveway serves three or more permanently maintained automobile garages or parking spaces located side by side and fronting upon a street, the driveway serving said garages or parking spaces shall not exceed twenty feet in width, and there shall be provided an on-site area for turn-around purposes. This area shall:

1. Have a minimum turning diameter of twenty-four feet, and
2. Be located on the same property whereon the garage or parking spaces are located, adjacent to their entrances, and not on any part of the public right-of-way.

14.13.030 FACILITIES - EXISTING. Accessory off-street parking or loading facilities which are located on the same zoning plot as the building or use served, and which were in existence on the effective date of this title, or were provided voluntarily after such effective date, shall not hereafter be reduced below, or if already less than, shall not further be reduced below the requirements of this title for a similar new building or use.

14.13.040 DAMAGE - DESTRUCTION. For any conforming building or use which is in existence on the effective date of this title, which subsequently thereto is totally destroyed by fire, collapse, explosion or other cause, and for any legally nonconforming use which is not lost by reason of such damage, and which is reconstructed, reestablished, or repaired, off-street parking or loading facilities need not be provided, except that parking or loading facilities equivalent to any maintained at the time of such damage or destruction shall be restored or continued in operation. However, in no case shall it be necessary to restore or maintain parking or loading facilities in excess of those required by this title for equivalent new uses or construction.

14.13.050 USE OF PARKING AND GARAGE FACILITIES. Off-street parking and garage facilities accessory to residential use and developed in any residential district in accordance with the requirements of Section 14.13.100A through 14.13.100F shall be used solely for the storage of passenger automobiles owned by occupants of the dwelling structures to which such facilities are accessory or by guests of said occupants. Under no circumstances shall required parking and garage facilities accessory to residential structures be used for the storage of commercial vehicles or for the parking of automobiles belonging to the employees, owners, tenants, visitors or customers of business or manufacturing establishments.

14.13.060 PARKING ASSESSMENT DISTRICT. Where a lot or parcel of real property is located within a motor vehicle off-street parking assessment district, a building or structure may be constructed and maintained on said lot or parcel without provision for, or maintenance of, off-street parking facilities, if the parking assessment district has the ability to construct additional parking facilities in response to the demand created by new construction.

However, if the district in which the lot or parcel is located cannot make such provision, a building or structure not to exceed one story in height may be constructed and maintained on said lot or parcel without provision for, or maintenance of, off-street parking facilities. Off-street parking facilities shall be installed and maintenanced for each story in excess of one story, so that the total number of parking spaces provided for the additional story or stories, shall meet the off-street parking requirements.

14.13.070 PARKING SPACES - IN-LIEU PAYMENTS. Where practical difficulty is involved in meeting the off-street parking requirements for a building hereafter constructed, the requirement may be met wholly or in part by in-lieu payments where the owner of the building site offers (in writing) to make, and the City Council agrees to accept, such payments. When such an offer is made, the Planning Commission shall investigate and report to the City Council its findings as to the reasons which are alleged to make such substitution necessary. The City Council may accept or reject the proposal for substitution, and if it finds the substitution necessary, shall determine the amount of payment to be made. The payment shall equal the fair market value of the land which would otherwise have been devoted to off-street parking, plus the cost of paving and other improvements as determined by the City Engineer. All monies collected by the City as payments in lieu of required parking spaces shall be used for the purchase and improvement of off-street parking facilities. Each of such facilities shall be so located to serve primarily the general area and class of zoning district from which the respective in-lieu payments are derived.

14.13.080 COMPUTATION. When determination of the number of off-street parking spaces required by this title results in a requirement of a fractional space, an additional space shall be provided.

14.13.090 APPLICATION. Provisions of this Chapter shall apply uniformly throughout the City according to specific land usage and shall be without regard to zoning district classification.

14.13.210 MULTIPLE USES - BASIS FOR CALCULATION. Where there is more than one use in a single structure or on a site, or two or more separate instances of the same use, off-street parking requirements shall be the sum of the requirements for the various uses. Off-street parking required for one occupant of a structure shall not be considered as satisfying the required parking facilities for another occupant of the structure, unless otherwise provided in this Ordinance.

14.13.220 VARIATIONS IN PARKING DEMAND. When two or more uses share a common parking area and when a significant and complementing variation in period of daily demands occurs (i.e. exclusive day and night uses), the Planning Director may grant modifications of total parking requirements provided that in no instance shall the total parking required be less than would be required for each of the independent uses.

A. All off-street parking and loading areas required herein shall be located on the same parcel and readily accessible to the specified use, provided that, if the strict application of this requirement creates undue hardship and in the opinion of the Planning Director creates conditions contrary to desirable development practices, but all other areas of intent for this chapter are complied with, remote parking areas which satisfy all or part of specific parking requirements may be approved.

B. Remote parking areas shall be located within five hundred (500) feet of the specified use and shall possess direct and convenient pedestrian access. Remote areas may serve more than one use, provided that the gross number of spaces available shall not be less than the combined requirements of all uses served.

Upon approval of any remote parking area, and prior to occupancy of the proposed use, which parking satisfies the parking requirements, the owner of the parcel (proposed for remote parking site) shall execute and record a Declaration of Restriction, legally binding, to restrict the use of the parcel to public and private parking of vehicles so long as the use conducted by applicant, or his successors in interest, on the original site, shall require the furnishing of parking facilities under the terms of this Ordinance.

14.13.240 JOINT USE OF PARKING SPACE AND INTERIOR BLOCK PARKING.

A. Nothing in this Ordinance shall be construed to prevent collective provisions of off-street parking facilities for two or more parcels of land, buildings, or uses. Where joint facilities are provided, the minimum requirement will be seventy-five per cent (75%) of the sum of the requirements for the various uses computed separately when the individual requirements total fifty (50) or more spaces. The spaces thus provided shall be turn-over or unreserved parking.

B. Joint facilities shall be permitted in the interior of residential blocks. Portions of the rear yard may be incorporated into a common parking area with access from existing alleys or service drives. No part of such facility may be used for parking within fifteen (15) feet of a residential structure.

14.13.250 COMMERCIAL PARKING - RESIDENTIAL AREAS. Parking of vehicles, having a manufacturers' rating up to ¾ ton, is permitted within areas zoned for residential uses. Parking of vehicles over ¾ ton is prohibited in residential areas except for such limited parking period as designated in Section 5.40.140 of the City Code.

14.13.270 OFF-STREET LOADING AND UNLOADING. Every building or structure used for business, trade or industry and normally requiring truck loading or unloading with respect to the use, shall provide space as herein indicated for the loading and unloading of vehicles off the street or public alley. Such space shall have access to a public right-of-way. Off-street loading and unloading space shall be in addition to and not considered as meeting a part of the requirement for off-street parking space. Off-street loading and unloading space shall not be used or designed, intended or constructed to be used in a manner to obstruct or interfere with the free use of any street or adjoining property. The minimum off-street loading and unloading space required for specific uses shall be as follows:

A. Retail business and service establishment: One (1) off-street loading and unloading space at least ten (10) feet in width and thirty-five (35) feet in length with clear and unobstructed height of fourteen (14) feet.

B. Industrial plants: One (1) off-street loading and unloading space for each twenty thousand (20,000) square feet of gross floor area. Each loading space shall be not less than a minimum of twelve (12) feet wide and sixty-five (65) feet long with a fourteen (14) foot height clearance.

14.13.280 EXCEPTION. Whenever in the opinion of the Planning Director and the Planning Commission the application of the Rules and Regulations as set forth herein could result in an inequitable or illogical result, then with the recommendation of the Planning Director and the Planning Commission, these standards and rules may be modified so as to provide that the results therein obtained would be both fair, equitable and logical, and consistent with the intent and meaning of this ordinance.

14.13.290 PARKING DESIGN STANDARDS. Parking design standards shall be developed by the planning staff and adopted by the Planning Commission.

DIVISION 2. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this Ordinance is for any reason held to be invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Ordinance. The Council hereby declares that it would have adopted the Ordinance and each section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared invalid.

DIVISION 3. This Ordinance is an ordinance for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety and one of urgency, and shall take effect immediately. The facts constituting the urgency are that the parking requirements heretofore provided in the Municipal Code of the City of San Rafael are inadequate and that there are applications still under consideration or to be submitted which, if granted, would create traffic hazards and congestion of parking which would be detrimental to good planning and the orderly development of the City of San Rafael, and the public peace, health, safety and general welfare of the citizens of the City of San Rafael will be jeopardized.

Mount Burdell Plan Supported

The Novato Environmental Quality Committee has endorsed the open space plan for Mount Burdell prepared by the Novato Open Space Committee.

Committee members Monday night recommended city council support of the plan, and backed inclusion of the Bowman Ranch in the open space area.

The committee also agreed to seek aid of Scouts in the cataloguing of heritage trees in Novato and the aid of high school students to make a survey of vacant buildings in Novato, according to administrative Asst. Rodney B. Brown.

Guards Removed For Pot Smoking

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Twenty-eight Marines and 18 sailors were removed from security and maintenance jobs at President Nixon's Camp David retreat after some of them admitted using marijuana, according to the Pentagon.

A statement issued yesterday said the men were "transferred to other assignments" after a formal Defense Department investigation.

KTVU (2), 8 p.m. — Burt Lancaster, Peter Falk and Patrick O'Neal star in the World War II movie drama, "Castle Keep."

KQED (9), 8 p.m. — "Freedom of the Press" is the subject on "America '73."

KRON (4), KCRA (3), 10 p.m. — Jo Ann Pflug, Ann Prentiss and Ford Rainey have roles in "Moonrock," an episode in the "Search" series. It is a repeat.

A Reward For Persistence

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The persistence of two detectives who plugged away for 2-½ years on a series of "Jack the Ripper" killings of prostitutes paid off with three murder indictments Tuesday.

Stanley Nelson, 38, an inmate at Vacaville State Medical Facility, was returned to San Francisco to face charges of slaying and sexually mutilating the three prostitutes in 1970.

He was charged after his wife told the detectives she saw Nelson dispose of two of the bodies. Checking her story, they went to two of the murder sites and collected faded blood stains which matched the blood types of two of the victims.

The original Jack the Ripper murdered prostitutes in London in the 1880s. His identity was never known.

Employees Cut In Farm Programs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department has ordered the dismissal of about 3,000 employes of state and county farm programs in a cutback caused mainly by elimination of a popular conservation subsidy program, officials confirmed today.

Rep. John Melcher, D-Mont., said he has wired administration officials to protest the cuts before Congress completes action on a bill to revive the Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP).

A Step Upward For Inter Marin

For a group of young Marin men bent on playing soccer, the days of hunting down opposition are over.

The Inter Marin Soccer Club has been organized as a team for the last five years, but not playing in any league. The team members had to seek other Bay Area teams for practice games. Now things will be different.

Bill Goodell, a College of Marin student who plays on the team, was acting as spokesman along with teammate Kader Dennoun the other day. They announced that Inter Marin has been accepted into the NorCal Soccer League, a semi-pro organization affiliated with the California Soccer Football Association. Starting June 9, and running through Aug. 25, Inter Marin will be playing once a week, usually on Saturdays, in the league. Marin's home games will be played on the San Rafael High School field.

"IT'S A BIG STEP for us," said Goodell, who added that the team had been playing against strictly amateur teams in the past and the competition in the NorCal would be stiffer.

"We aren't going to say we are going to win the championship, but we have some good talent in Marin and we'll hold our own with these other teams," he said.

Dennoun, an Algerian and a student at San Francisco State, said that since many of the team members have been together for five years, it can't be considered a "new" team. The new thing will be playing in this high caliber league, first time a Marin soccer team has entered such a league.

THE PLAYERS ARE still looking for financial help from sponsors since the league fees and insurance costs add up to a $600 bill which must be paid. They have received some pledges, but cash and pledges are two different things.

Although it's a Marin team, the players are presently spread around the state because of school. After college classes let out at College of Marin, University of San Francisco, San Francisco State, San Jose State, Chico State and U.C. Davis the team members will be getting together for a summer of soccer.

Many of the Inter Marin players are products of the Marin County Athletic League. There are 25 players and the roster will have to be pared to 18 by the time the league starts. Coach is Tony Thevenot of Haiti, a former pro succer player.

IN THE WORKS are possible preliminary games by youth teams from Ross and Mill Valley prior to Inter Marin's home games. Goodell, Dennoun and the rest of the team realize the future of soccer rests with the youth programs, an area in which Marin is far ahead of most communities. It all started with the Marin Youth Soccer Association and now various recreation departments in Marin are starting programs of their own.

Inter Marin will be in the league's Northern Division along with Sacramento and Oakland. In the Southern Division will be Redwood City, San Jose and Berkeley. Winners of the two divisions will meet for the championship on the weekend of Aug. 25-26.

All in all, it should be quite an interesting adventure for the local team. It's another big step for soccer in Marin.

Bonds' Nightmares Turn To Dreams

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Nightmares of facing hard throwing Bob Gibson have turned to pleasant dreams for leadoff batter Bobby Bonds of the San Francisco Giants.

Bonds cracked two homers off the St. Louis ace and drove in five runs Tuesday night to power the Giants to a 9-7 victory. Both homers came on the first pitch served up by Gibson.

Gibson climbed the mound to set a major league record by starting his 242nd consecutive game. Bonds stepped up and Gibson fed him a slider as his first offering. The ball ended up 380 away over the rightfield fence.

In the fifth, Gibson walked pitcher Jim Barr and Bonds powered Gibson's next pitch over the leftfield fence.

"Both pitches were sliders," said Bonds. "I actually was expecting him to knock me down on those first pitches or at least brush me back. Anytime you get a couple of hits off Gibson, you're doing great. This guy is the greatest pitcher in baseball. He whiffed me so many times, I began having nightmares."

Willie McCovey and Dave Kingman hit back-to-back homers off Gibson in the fourth with the bases empty. McCovey's blast was a tremendous shot into the upper deck in rightfield, approximately 450 feet from home plate.

"I can't say whether it was the farthest ball I've hit," McCovey said. "I don't think so. The problem with Gibson is that you've got to get to him early or he gets warmed up and is tougher in the late going."

The Cardinals managed to rally against Barr, who hurled four innings Sunday against Chicago. The winning blow turned out to be Bonds' bases-loaded single off reliever Diego Segui in the eighth which scored the Giants' seventh and eighth runs.

Despite the shellacking, and absorbing his fourth defeat in five decisions, Gibson slipped past Red Ruffing of the New York Yankees as the only major league pitcher to start more than 241 straight games. Gibson also notched six strikeouts to move into third place on the alltime strikeout list ahead of Cy Young with 2,824 whiffs.

"What good are the records if you give up four homers and lose?" said Gibson.

Randy Moffitt took over for Barr with two out in the eighth to notch his fifth save. Jose Cruz drilled a two-run homer off Moffitt in the ninth.

In this afternoon's second game of the series, Ron Bryant (3-2) of the Giants was to pitch against Reggie Cleveland (1-3). In the finale Thursday afternoon, Jim Willoughby (3-2) faces the Cards' Rick Wise (3-1).

Racing Officials In Court

ALBANY, Calif. (UPI) — Golden Gate Fields officials went to court to guarantee racing in the Tanforan portion of its season today after a strike by Janitors Union Local 9 caused cancellation of Tuesday's program.

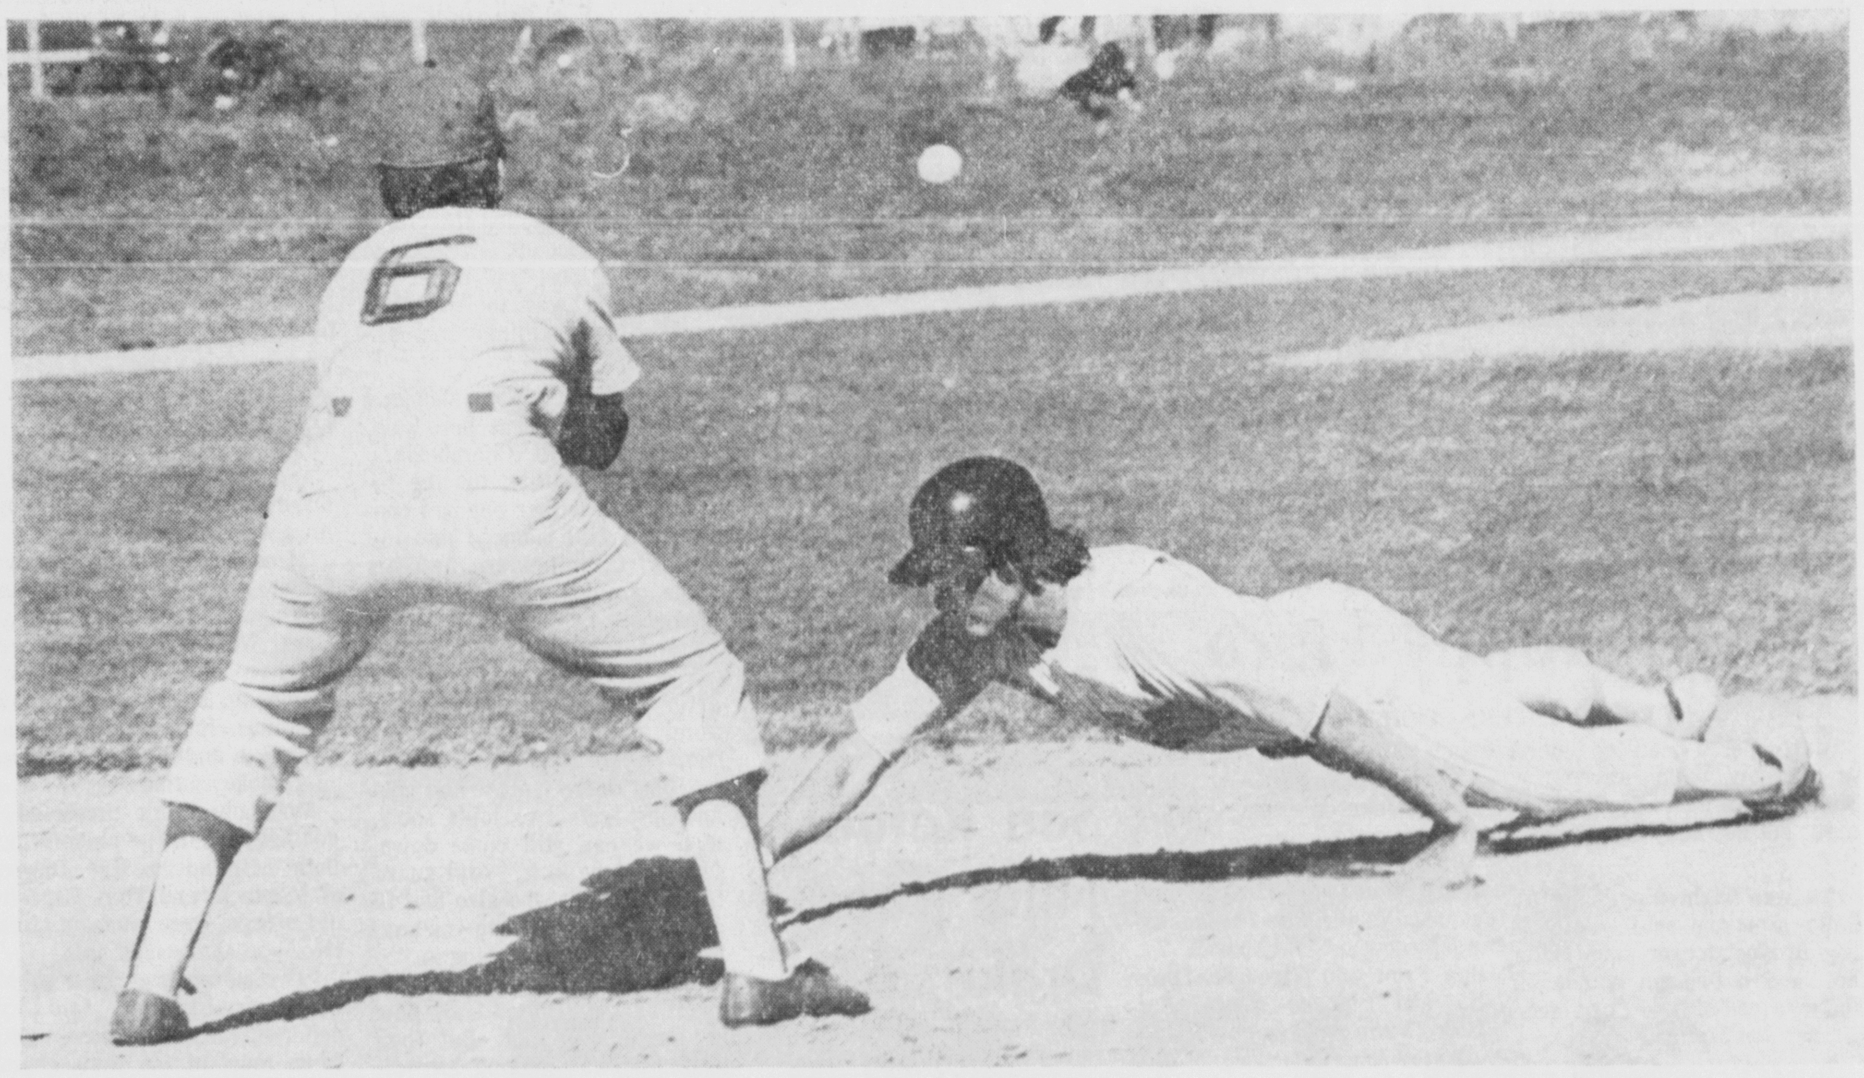
General Manager Richard J. Murphy said a temporary restraining order issued by Judge Lionel Wilson at Alameda County Superior Court blocks further strike action by the track's 81 custodians until a May 18 hearing.

He said the judge's order would allow the Tanforan Racing Association to inaugurate its Sunday competition this weekend.

Theatrical and entertainment janitors union Local 9 called the walkout in a demand for changes in its contract with the association. One issue reportedly was the introduction of Sunday racing. Union employes at the track refused to cross the picket line.

The association told the court that its pact was valid through January of 1976. A management negotiator said the janitors were demanding double-time pay for Sundays.

Ruling Secretary Harold R. Krovitz said Sunday racing was to have started last Sunday but was postponed. He said today's nine races would be filled with entries taken Monday.



BACK HE GOES — Novato High School's Jeff Pond dove headfirst back to first base in the second inning yesterday while Redwood first-sacker Ross Secor awaited the pickoff throw from Giant pitcher Gene Frey. Pond, who had singled to score Joe Robinson, was safe on the play, but died on first, and Redwood went on to take a 9-8 victory in the eight-inning game at Novato and with it at least a tie for the Marin County Athletic League championship.

NOVATO'S LAST STAND

Redwood Wins, 9-8

Novato High School's last stand was a dramatic one, but it was ruined by a spate of errors and by Redwood's refusal to accept defeat yesterday, as the Giants rallied for an eight-inning, 9-8 baseball victory over the hosts Hornets.

The triumph gave Redwood a 10-1 Marin County Athletic League record, three full games ahead of Novato and San Rafael (7-4) with three games left, thus assuring the Giants of a tie for their second straight title.

Novato took a 7-4 lead with a five-run outburst in the fourth inning, but Redwood scored in each succeeding frame, winning the game in the eighth as Gary LaTorre (who had singled) came home from second on a fielding error by Novato's second baseman.

Redwood tied the game in tne seventh on a two-base throwing error by the Hornets' shortstop and a squib single by winning pitcher Ed Andersen, the third Giant hurler.

Andersen, who pitched a perfect game against Drake Saturday night, entered in relief in the fourth and was rudely greeted by a two-run double by Dave Brazell and two-run single by Dan Metzger, but allowed only one hit in 4⅔ innings the rest of the way.

Matt Gondak lined three sharp doubles for Redwood, driving home two runs in the first inning and scoring on Ross Secor's two-bagger as the Giants took a quick 3-0 lead.

Black Hawks Win, 8-7

MONTREAL (UPI) — It was more like a basketball game but it was a real, live hockey game Tuesday night as the Chicago Black Hawks outlasted the Montreal Canadiens 8-7 in the Stanley Cup finals.

The Canadiens lead the series, three games to two. Both teams, which set two National Hockey League playoff records, will return to Chicago for the sixth game Thursday night.

The 15 goals were the most scored in a playoff game while the eight goals picked up in the second period for both teams was another record.

Chicago Coach Billy Reay was astonished at the outcome of the game.

"I'm sure happy with the win. It was just what we needed but I'm really amazed to see an 8-7 score in the playoffs," said the 54-year old coach.

"I was wondering if they would ever let up scoring in that second period but at least we proved that we could come back and we had balance tonight for which I am very pleased," added Reay.

Elder Tops Track-Field Qualifying

Redwood High School's Darrell Elder topped the day's performances in the Marin County Athletic League track and field trials yesterday at Tamalpais High in Mill Valley by breaking the league discus record and dominating both weight events.

The trials were to continue today, featuring the varsity running events. The top eight finishers in each event advance to the MCAL finals Friday at Tamalpais.

Elder's 159-9 in the discus broke the record set three years ago by Novato's Ray Sparling. The Redwood star was the only varsity double winner in the five field events held yesterday. He won the shot put with a heave of 54 feet, 9 inches.

Knicks Don't Take Lakers For Dead

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Knickerbockers have the World Champion Los Angeles Lakers tottering on the brink of elimination but both clubs agree that one last big step won't be too easy.

Dave DeBusschere scored 33 points Tuesday night, including a crucial three-point play with 48 seconds left, as the Knicks beat Los Angeles for the third straight time, 103-98, to take a commanding 3-1 lead in their best-of-seven series for the National Basketball Association title. The fifth game is set for Thursday night in Los Angeles.

But DeBusschere was among the more emphatic who claimed the series is far from over.

"I''m not at all confident," said the rugged 6-foot-6 forward, holding a ice pack to a massive welt on his right kneecap. "I don't like to get overconfident in a situation like this. Anything can happen. That's a great team we're facing with great players. Of course I'd rather be 3-1 than 1-3--so would they—but I won't be happy until we win the fourth one."

Jerry West, who played despite hamstring pulls in both legs and nearly pulled out the game for Los Angeles, echoed DeBusschere's feelings.

"We're certainly not in good shape, that's for sure," said West, who scored 23 points, 11 of them in the final period. "But all the games have been close. We haven't been out of them. We could have won all four of them and so could they. I don't think it's beyond belief that we could win three straight games."

Tuesday's game followed the pattern of the previous three—one club building a big lead and

Marin Tars Lose To Skyline, 9-4

SAN BRUNO — College of Marin should have known better than to go back down to play Skyline College again, but the Tars obeyed the schedule and suffered a 9-4 Camino Norte Conference baseball defeat yesterday.

Marin sustained a 13-5 loss here Saturday, and gave up 22 runs and 29 hits in the two games while striking out just one Trojan. The Tars' conference record fell below .500 for the first time this year at 9-10 as they lost their fourth straight game and 10th in the last 14.

The only consolation was a home run by Bill Sherbert leading off the second inning, a 340-foot shot pulled down the right field line.

Terra Linda Wins On Rally In 7th

Greg Chapman hit a clutch two-run single to tie the game and pinch-runner Jack Crimmins scored the winning run a moment later as Terra Linda High School tallied three times in the bottom of the seventh inning for a 7-6 Marin County Athletic League baseball victory over San Marin yesterday.

With two out, Terra Linda's Jon Loberg (who had homered the previous inning) was intentionally walked to load the bases for Chapman, who had struck out in his other three appearances.

Chapman hit the first pitch for the game-tying single. On the next play Crimmins, running for Loberg, beat the center fielder's throw to the plate after Buck McCusker's grounder was muffed by San Marin's shortstop.

Terra Linda threw out four runners on the base paths, three at home plate and George Hoberg trying for third after Hoberg had hit a bases-loaded double in the first inning.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Braves' Perez Is An Unhappy Hero

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Marty Perez lined the key hit of a game-winning seven run, seventh-inning rally Tuesday night but he really didn't enjoy it

"It was frightening," the Atlanta shortstop said quietly in the Braves' locker room after he lined a two-run double off the forehead of New York Mets' pitcher Jon Matlack.

"I didn't even feel like running," he said, "it was a sorry thing. I hope it never happens to me again. It's a one-in-a-million chance. I know it's part of the game but you never want to hurt somebody."

Fortunately, Matlack, the National League Rookie of the Year last season, didn't appear to be seriously hurt although he was taken to a hospital for overnight observation as a precautionary measure.

Matlack was fortunate to get his glove up and he tipped the ball slightly to lessen the impact of the shot. The ball caromed off his face into the Mets' dugout for a two-run ground rule double.

Phil Hennigan came in to replace Matlack and walked Hank Aaron intentionally to load the bases. Dave Johnson then came up and hit a grand slam homer to give the Braves a 7-3 lead and decide the game. It was Johnson's second homer of the game.

In the other games, Montreal edged Houston 4-3, Cincinnati routed Philadelphia 7-1, Los Angeles downed Pittsburgh 7-4, San Francisco edged St. Louis 9-7 and Chicago nipped San Diego 3-2 in 12 innings.

In the American League, Chicago downed Boston 1-0, Kansas City beat Detroit 7-2, Cleveland blanked California 2- 0, New York routed Minnesota 14-4 and Texas topped Milwaukee 5-3. The Oakland at Baltimore game was rained out.

Los Angeles collected 13 hits including a three-run home by rookie Ron Cey in the five-run fifth inning to beat Pittsburgh. Willie Stargell, the only player to hit a homer out of Dodger Stadium, did it for the second time in the losing cause.

Philadelphia Manager Danny Ozark twice chose to have his pitchers face Pete Rose with first base open and Dave Concepcion, the Reds' hottest hitter this year despite his .209 average last year, coming up. Both times Rose foiled the strategy as he drove in three runs with a pair of singles to help the Reds beat the Phils.

Marin Tips Tam On Bunt

Rich Little beat out a bases-loaded suicide squeeze bunt to cap a three-run rally in the sixth inning and give Marin Catholic High School a 3-2 Marin County Athletic League baseball victory over host Tamalpais yesterday.

After Rich Lopez, Tim Haley and Jeff Knotts singled to load the bases with one out, one run scored when Joe Ducey's fly ball to right field was dropped, another came home on a walk to Russ Knudsen, and Little laid down his bunt for the Wildcats.

Tam had carried a 2-0 lead into the seventh inning, courtesy of the 'Cats' right fielder, who dropped a fly in the third to let both runs across.

San Rafael Nine Tops Drake, 6-2

Joe Giordani drove home four runs while John Sims pitched a two-hitter and banged three hits himself yesterday as San Rafael High School scored all of its runs in the final three innings for a 6-2 Marin County Athletic League baseball victory over Drake.

Giordani hit a two-run double and later scored on a double by Sims as the Bulldogs went ahead with a three-run uprising in the sixth inning. Giordani's two-run single in the seventh clinched the victory.

Sims, a hard-luck left-hander who lost a two-hitter and a three-hitter earlier this year, struck out five and allowed no earned runs.

Knee Surgery For Conigliaro

BALTIMORE (AP) — Rain gave the Oakland Athletics some rest Tuesday, but it was a travel day for two players.

Manager Dick Williams announced that center fielder Billy Conigliaro, who was batting .295 before he injured a knee last month, would undergo surgery Monday and that catcher Tim Hosley was joining the A's.

Hosley, 25, was off to a good start with Tucson of the Pacific Coast League, with four homers and a .263 batting average. He was with the Detroit organization until this year, and hit 24 homers for Toledo of the International League last season.

Conigliaro may be out for the rest of the year. The operation in Boston will determine the extent of his injury.

No makeup date was announced for the Tuesday night Oakland-Baltimore game postponed by rain. Jim "Catfish" Hunter of the A's and Dave McNally of the Orioles were rescheduled as the starting pitchers for tonight.

KNICKS

then fighting off a late rally. With DeBusschere bombing away with near-perfect accuracy in the first half, hitting 11-of15 shots for 22 points, the Knicks surged to a 21-point lead

Willis Reed hit three straight baskets in the final period after the Lakers had drawn to within six points at 88-82 and DeBusschere applied the crusher with 48 seconds left when he grabbed a loose ball under the basket and was fouled while putting in a seemingly impossible layup.

"It was just a hope shot and it went in," DeBusschere said. "Willis and Wilt (Chamberlain) were both battling for the rebound and neither one had control. The ball bounced into my hands. Chamberlain had his arms around me and I just flicked it up, hoping it would go, and it did."

The Lakers sat stunned long after the game, muttering about DeBusschere's "hope shot".

"If he doesn't make the shot and just gets two fouls shots, then we can still come down, score and be in it," said guard Gail Goodrich, who also had 23 points. "But, what can you say, He put the damned thing in."

Chamberlain sat shaking his head, saying "I don't know how he made that shot. But then again, he was making incredible shots all night."

Indiana Takes 3-2 Series Lead In ABA Playoff

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — "Man, if I'd missed that shot, I'd have kept right on running right into our locker room," laughed George McGinnis, Indiana's rugged forward.

McGinnis stole an in-bounds pass by Kentucky's Walt Simon and drove in from midcourt with Wendell Ladner in desperate pursuit to slam home a winning stuff shot as the Pacers nipped the Colonels 89-86 Tuesday night.

The victory lifted the defending champions into a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven American Basketball Association final series, putting them in position to wrap it up Thursday night on their home court at Indianapolis. If needed, the seventh game will be here Saturday afternoon.

CUP

Canadiens Coach Scotty Bowman was gloomy.

"I never thought I would ever see a game like that. It sure was a wide open game for both sides. We both played loose on defense but both offensive teams did not make too many mistakes. It just goes to show you that anything can happen in a hockey game.".

Most observers predicted a goalies duel in the playoffs but both netminders, Ken Dryden of Montreal and Tony Esposito of Chicago, were far from effective.

"I've never been in a shooting gallery like that," said Dryden. "It was one of those nights when most of the shots go in. The game was wide open and it was hard for me to change my style for that type of play," said the former winner of the Conn Smythe Trophy as the best performer in the playoffs two years ago.

Lou Angotti scored Chicago's eighth goal in the third period which proved to be the winner. Jim Pappin and Stan Mikita each chipped in with two goals.

When asked about Thursday's sixth game, Pappin answered," Our chances are not better than they were before tonight's game. We'll just take each shift as it comes up."

Hull did score one of the Chicago goals in the first period while rookies Dave Kryskow and Len Frig got their first career playoff goals and for the latter, it was his first goal ever in the NHL.

Girl Kicked Off Li'l League Team

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

YPSILANTI, Mich. — Carolyn King, a 12-year-old baseball enthusiast, has gone way out in left field in an attempt to officially play baseball with a boys' Little League team.

CAROLYN KING
She can't play

Carolyn, who was described by team official Bob Taylor Tuesday as an "exceptional" center fielder, has been kicked off the Ypsilanti Little League team because of a charter regulation which says, "Girls are not eligible."

"It is the league's intention to fight it legally in the courts," said Taylor, vice president of the eight-team chapter. "We're taking this action, not only so that Carolyn can play, but so that other girls of similar athletic ability can play."

Basketball

NEW YORK — Larry Kenon of Memphis State, once described by UCLA's Bill Walton as one of the two or three best players he has ever faced, has signed a five-year contract with the New York Nets of the American Basketball Association.

BALTIMORE — The United States national basketball team, which already has wrapped up its cross country series with the Soviet Union, will be after victory No. 5 Wednesday night when the two clubs meet for the sixth and final time.

FORT WORTH, Tex. — Lee Trevino, although bothered by a sore shoulder, showed up here Tuesday and said he would try to play in the Colonial National Invitation golf tournament starting Thursday.

DALLAS — Stan Smith, the leading moneywinner on the World Championship of Tennis tour this year, begins play in the WCT finals Wednesday night against Australia's John Alexander.

NEW YORK — One of the most interesting of tennis matches will take place in San Diego Sunday, with Margaret Smith Court, a women's champion of the present, meeting Bobby Riggs, a men's champion of the past.

Baseball

NEW YORK — Along with the enormous pressure he is facing as he climbs toward Babe Ruth's home run record of 714, Atlanta Braves' slugger Hank Aaron has made it known that "a certain few fans" in the right field sector of Atlanta stadium have been abusing him with racial taunts since the season began.

Eddie Robinson, a club vice president, said Tuesday that "the Atlanta club is going to do everything it possibly can to protect Hank Aaron from being disturbed by whatever it is that disturbs him."

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday acquired right-hander Tom Murphy in a trade that sent another right-handed pitcher, Al Santorini, to the Kansas City Royals Omaha Farm club.

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

Some Advice On Outboard Motors

The outboard motor is truly a marvelous, versatile machine. Invented and developed almost entirely on this continent, it's a tribute to American ingenuity. Nothing so portable can deliver so much power for so little weight, with such economy.

Yet so many of its capabilities and functions are misunderstood.

For instance, a boater I know was bewildered because the 10 horsepower outboard motor he used on a small runabout boat wouldn't push his sailing dinghy half as fast, yet the dinghy was smaller and lighter. He used the motor as an auxiliary.

It was hard to explain that the runabout hull had been designed after many years of trial and error strictly for propulsion by an outboard motor, whereas the sailing craft's hull was the product of centuries of the same trial and error for propulsion and stability under sail.

And the two aren't necessarily comptabile.

There was one other factor too. The transom on the sailboat was so high that the outboard's prop was not low enough to be working in undisturbed water.

An outboard motor just can't be as efficient on a sailboat when used as an auxiliary, as it can be on a planing hull designed for it. This question of outboard efficiency is an interesting topic as many of the questions we are asked indicate:

Q. I am buying an outboard mounting bracket to attach an auxiliary to my sailboat (it has a keel) — where should I mount it?

A. Consider mounting the bracket off to one side on the stern, so that the prop has solid undisturbed water to work in. If the motor is mounted directly on the center line of the boat, right behind the keel, it's just churning up water that is already turbulent. It will be more efficient offset. Try it.

Q. When I make a turn my outboard motor sometimes speeds up and runs wild. The boat slows down until I start to run straight again . . .?

A. This is an all too common problem. Racing of the motor is caused by "cavitation." This is the result of the prop being too close to the surface. It sucks air into its slipstream and churns around in a "cavity" of air and foam. Naturally this has less resistance than water, so the motor speeds up. Maybe your motor is too high or tilted too far forward.

Q. My dealer set the tilt on my outboard but it doesn't seem to be right. How do I check it?

A. Dealers develop a lot of know-how and I wouldn't be too quick to change his setting. First try distributing the load in the boat. If the boat is bow heavy it tends to plow. If it is stern heavy (most common) the bow rides high. Then it's hard to see over, and the boat is hard to get on to plane.

Q. I'm thinking of an auxiliary motor for my sailboat. What are the advantages of an inboard as against an outboard?

A. If speed is a consideration in your sailing, remember that the propeller of the inboard engine is constantly in the water acting as a drag — and what a drag! An outboard, properly mounted, can be lifted up out of the water, leaving the clean, efficient line of the sailboat unbroken.

Q. At full throttle my boat skims very well at about 28 mph, but I can't stop the bow from rising and falling . . .?

A. If you've ever seen a porpoise swimming you can understand why this action is called porpoising. It's one of the most common troubles to beset an outboard motorboat. There are a dozen causes. The most common are wrong motor angle, bad weight distribution, or a deformity of the boat's bottom making the planing surface a curve instead of a flat plane.

Q. The auxiliary on my sailboat is a 6 hp outboard in a "well" — a hole cut in the overhang — at the stern. In high waves the prop comes out of the water and races. Anything else I can do?

A. In high performance sailing craft with long overhangs, putting on an outboard is difficult. The well is a compromise, and I'm afraid you are stuck with it. Maybe the motor can be set lower. That's your only hope.

The split left the Cossacks with a 19-19 overall season record, their best ever mark with three games left against San Francisco State College this weekend.

Craig Estes got the offense moving in the first game with a one out single. Two straight Stanislaus errors loaded the bases and Rich Garretson scored Estes with a sacrifice fly to left and Ron Petroni drove in the eventual winning run with a single to center.

Tomales Gains Tie For Title

By PAUL DWORIN

Sam Marsi pitched a one-hitter over visiting St. Vincent High School of Petaluma yesterday to give Tomales a 3-0 victory which clinched a tie for the Braves' first North Central League II baseball championship in six years.

The triumph gives the Braves a 7-2 league mark and a one-game lead over St. Vincent. Regardless of what the Mustangs (6-3) do against Kelseyville Friday, Tomales can win the title outright with a win at Upper Lake.

Marsi gave up his only hit of the game in the fourth inning to Dan Tocchini, who broke up his no-hitter against St. Vincent in Petaluma earlier this year. Marsi never allowed a Mustang past first base, and retired the side in order in the first, third, fifth and seventh innings.

St. Vincent hurler Jim Leoni gave up no hits in his five-inning stint.

A Fast Start For Forry

The Los Angeles Dodgers' pitching experiment with minor leaguer Dewey Forry of San Rafael is paying off.

The Terra Linda High School product, who originally signed with the National League baseball team as an outfielder in June, 1970, is developing into a sterling reliever with Bakersfield in the California League.

According to reports from Player Periscope statistical service in Novato, the 20-year-old right-hander picked up his third win of the young season last week. He pitched six innings in two games, striking out three and walking one while increasing his record to 3-0 and maintaining his 0.00 earned run average. For the season, he has made five appearances and gone 10 innings, striking out seven, walking five and giving up 2 hits.

Forry made the position transition in the winter of 1971; and, judging by his statistics, he has found a home on the mound.

Dewey's father, D. J. Forry, says that his son enjoys "being where the action is the hottest. He tells me that if he is going to make the majors, it will be as a pitcher."

The fire-balling pitcher was a starter last year and had a 3-2 record before going in the Reserve Air National Guard June 1, ending his season with Daytona Beach of the Florida State League.

He returned this year and was moved into the bullpen where he has responded well. Dewey has a good fastball and is working on his curve and changeup, according to his father.

While Forry was pitching to make a hit, three Marin outfielders were hitting to make a pitch toward major league status. The three were Novato's John Dolinsek and Tom Thomas and Marin City's Clifford Hall.

Of this trio, Dolinsek, an outfielder-first baseman with Denver of the American Association, is making the loudest noises with the bat. He batted .500 for the week, hitting singles in five of his 10 at-bats, scoring three runs while driving in one. For the season, the Houston Astro property is hitting .310, based on nine hits in 29 at-bats. He has scored five runs, socked two doubles and driven in a pair of runs.

Thomas was having batting woes last week, but the seven-day batting attrition did not drop his batting average below .300. Although he batted .167 for the period, he has a healthy .317 overall average, based on 60 at-bats.

The Pittsburgh Pirate product has 19 hits, including three home runs and seven runs batted in. He has also scored nine runs for Salem, Va. in the Carolina League. During his off-week, Thomas batted 18 times and had one homer in his three hits. He scored two runs and was credited with one RBI.

Hall, toiling with the Chicago Cubs' Quincy, Ill. team in the Midwest League, batted .153, his first week. He has a triple and a single in his 13 at-bats and has scored three runs while driving in three more.

Cautious Path— Wolfback Ridge

Marin County supervisors shied away yesterday from recommending Wolfback Ridge in Sausalito be included in the Golden Gate National Recreation Area. (Another Marin supervisors story, page 1.)

The board's refusal to act on the recommendation from a citizens' group came at the urging of Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. who said to push for inclusion of the land in the park might jeopardize funding for the entire park.

Arrigoni's comments came shortly before he left for congressional hearings on appropriations for the recreation area which stretches from San Francisco to Olema.

Meanwhile, in Washington, D.C., Arrigoni today told a Senate subcommittee the federal government should proceed with its original plans to purchase the 58,000-park over two years. He urged that $25 million be appropriated immediately.

"If property acquisition is not pursued diligently," he told the Interior Subcommittee of the Senate Appropriations Committee, "our woeful past experience (at Point Reyes National Seashore) indicates the likelihood that land within the proposed park may become the object of speculative manipulation and its value skyrocketed."

At present, only about $6 million is slated this year for land acquisition which is estimated to total $60 million.

Supervisors told Arrigoni yesterday to lobby for inclusion of Wolfback Ridge as well as other lands in Tennessee Valley but not to push if it would threaten funding for the entire park.

Inclusion of Wolfback Ridge will require special legislation because Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nevada, chairman of the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, has declared it a major revision of the originally proposed boundaries and thus beyond the scope of inclusion by administrative action of the Department of the Interior.

State Aid Sought On Juniper Plants

Marin County supervisors agreed yesterday to ask the state to reimburse local property owners for the loss of their juniper plants removed because of hawthorn juniper rust.

During the last six years, some 7,000 plants have been removed by the county agricultural commissioner in an effort to contain the disease found only in Marin County and parts of Europe.

Supervisors had considered imposing a moratorium on the eradication program but yesterday decided instead to ask local lawmakers in Sacramento for legislation to reimburse property owners who lose plants in the future.

The move came after state agricultural officials told supervisors the eradication program, if stopped, could threaten California's nursery industry since other states and countries would probably impose bans on importation of California plants.

The board's action, approved unanimously with Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. absent, also asks the state to reimburse the county for costs of running the eradication program.

"I don't see why Marin County residents should be paying double for something to protect the nursery industry and everyone else," Supervisor Michael Wornum said. "They're paying to have the plants removed (by the county) and the cost of the plants."

Deputy County Counsel George J. Silvestri Jr. said he felt state agricultural officials would fight a move by the county for state reimbursement of property owners.

Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere, saying there are 140,000 juniper plants in Marin, warned that if the state refused the reimbursement, he would push for a moratorium on plant removal.

Supervisors Prepare To Cut Corte Madera Project

With a threat of possible legal action, the Marin County Board of Supervisors prepared last night to trim the size of Corte Madera's proposed redevelopment project.

On a 3-to-0 vote, with Chairman Arnold M. Baptiste abstaining, the board created a two-man committee to negotiate with Corte Madera officials to reduce the scope of their $5 million project to $1.5 million.

Named to the committee were Supervisors Michael Wornum and Gary T. Giacomini who said they would use the county's redevelopment agreement with San Rafael as a model for negotiations with Corte Madera.

The Corte Madera project, bitterly opposed by some residents who have threatened a recall of three councilmen, would provide off site improvements — such as streets and drainage — for a regional shopping center east of Highway 101.

Using the San Rafael agreement, the product of months of negotiations and a complicated formula based on assessed valuation levels, Corte Madera would be permitted a $1.5 million project.

Baptiste abstained from voting, saying the assessed valuation formula used for San Rafael, when applied to all Marin County cities, "allows the rich to get richer and the poor, poorer." He urged that the formula be based on population of cities.

(The formula, in effect, uses the cities' total assessed valuation as a guideline for how much redevelopment will be permitted — dollarwise. Thus cities with high assessed valuation levels (and lower taxes) will be permitted more redevelopment than cities with lower assessed valuation.

"It's incumbent on this board to get other cities to abide by the criteria established for San Rafael," Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere said, adding without such criteria other cities would have "a blank check" for massive redevelopment projects.

As a result, he continued, the county's tax base could be eroded since city redevelopment is financed by the siphoning off of other taxing agencies' future revenues.

Teens Charged With Starting Tenement Fire

NEW YORK (UPI) — Six teen-age members of a Brooklyn street gang were charged Tuesday with starting a tenement fire in which six persons were killed, apparently because of a grudge against one youth who lived in the building.

Police said all six, ranging in age from 12 to 18, are members of a Brownsville street gang, "The War Lords."

The two-alarm fire Tuesday morning took the lives of Jinny Hayes, 47, her two sons, her daughter and two of her grandchildren.

Seven members of another family were injured and saved themselves by throwing a mattress out of their second floor rear apartment window and jumping to safety. The two families were the only persons in the building at the time of the blaze.

Board Delays Action On Paving Suggestion

Marin County supervisors yesterday deferred action for one week on a recommendation they appropriate $300,000 for paving and landscaping of the parking lot at the Veterans Memorial Building.

The board's action came despite pleas from Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella and Public Works Director Ray W. Foreaker Jr. that "this is the last day to act."

Four votes were needed to appropriate the funds for county reserves but Supervisors Gary T. Giacomini and Robert A. Roumiguiere balked, saying they wanted alternative proposals to the $300,000 recommendation.

Campanella and Foreaker urged the board to proceed, saying a delay would stretch the construction period into conflicting dates with auditorium and fairground use.

The chuckholed parking lot was paved two years ago with rock and oil in an economy move to keep the cost of completing the auditorium within budget reach.

Campanella and Foreaker agreed to return next week with alternative proposals, including another temporary treatment of the parking lot for $25,000.

Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

MORATORIUM — Adopted a wait and see position on water moratoriums imposed by Marin Municipal and North Marin County water districts. The board, while noting the moratoriums could erode the county's tax base, said they will ask the water districts to provide service for limited county growth once the countywide general plan is adopted.

TOMALES — Tabled a proposal that the county finance a $10,000 engineering study of sewage problems in the tiny community of Tomales until the area's sewer maintenance district is enlarged to include the entire town. About 15 homes are dumping raw sewage into Keyes Creek and have been ordered to stop by the regional water quality control board.

MASTER PLAN — Approved unanimously, supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. absent, a new Marin City Master Plan for balanced residential-commercial growth of the Southern Marin community. Some residents protested that not enough low and moderate-income family housing is included in the plan.

PAY — Authorized paying human rights commissioners $15 per meeting, not to exceed $30 per month. The rights commission was the last county commission where members volunteered their time.

CONSUMER — Authorized a $2,600 interdepartmental budget transfer in the human rights department for expansion of its consumer affairs pilot program.

COMPUTER — Authorized $5,000 for computer use in the county's balanced transportation study of recreational travel to West Marin and rerouting of intracounty buses for more patronage.

FLOORS — Appropriated about $13,000 for resurfacing the floors at the county jail and the juvenile hall kitchen. The contract was awarded to Malott and Peterson-Grundy of San Francisco.

JUDGE HALEY — Approved a $2,500 change order to the Hall of Justice landscaping contract for purchase of an engraved granite stone in memory of the late Judge Harold Haley, killed in the 1970 Civic Center shootout.

SETTLEMENT — Approved a $1,449 settlement in a suit between Pacific Coast Title Co., Albert Nunes and the county. The county will collect $1,200 of the settlement.

FAIR — Approved a nonbidded contract, not to exceed $11,000, with Cimino Electric Co. for installation of electrical wiring for the Marin County Fair. Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella said contracting with Cimino was cheaper than going to bid. Supervisors criticized the procedure but approved the contract.

MARINE LAB — Informed local legislators in Washington of the county's interest in acquiring the Tiburon Marine Laboratory if closed by the federal government. The board also has asked the government not to close the marine lab.

REPORT — Received but did not discuss a report from County Administrator John F. Barrows on governmental consolidation which will be presented to the governor's council on intergovernmental relations subcommittee.

MANPOWER — Received but took no action on a report for the spending of some $600,000 in federal manpower funds. Most would go to the Neighborhood Youth Corps program. It will be discussed next week.

REDUCTION — Approved reduction in force notices to three county employees — a counselor in the neighborhood youth corps, and the executive director and assistant director of comprehensive health planning. Comprehensive health planning will become a separate, noncounty agency in July.

CLOSED SESSION — Met for about 30 minutes in closed session to instruct the board's team negotiating with sheriff's office employees.

CHECKS — Authorized conversion from tab card payroll checks to paper checks for an estimated annual savings of about $2,200.

HOUSING — Heard a report from the Marin County Housing Authority on its response to recommendations and criticism from the county grand jury. The authority said it would work to comply with the jury's recommendations which said no leased housing unit should be vacant more than 10 days except under special circumstances. Two homes in Santa Venetia were left vacant for seven months, prompting the jury's investigation.

STUDY — Contracted with Baxter, McDonald and Smart economic consultants for a study of the viability of agriculture in Marin as part of the firm's economic impact study of the proposed countywide plan. Total cost of the combined studies is $110,500.

Plumbers Union Negotiates 8 Per Cent Hike

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Plumbers Union Local 38 has negotiated a pay-fringe benefit increase which could boost the hourly salary to $13.29 ½ an hour.

Officials said the increase amounted to 8 per cent and was negotiated with contractor associations in San Francisco, Marin, Sonoma and Mendocino counties.

The hike will be presented to the construction industry Pay Board for consideration. Last year the board cut the local's negotiated raise of 84 cents an hour to 25 cents.

The pay-benefit increase will be from the current $12.32 ½ an hour to $13.29 ½ an hour. The actual pay will be $10.33 ½ an hour with the rest of the money being put in pension, health and other fringe trust funds.

Strawberry Seeks Move Plan Facts

A Strawberry citizens group, in the midst of preparing a master plan for the community, has called for more information on how Strawberry's assignment to Tiburon's "sphere of influence" will affect the plan.

Sandra A. Dorsaneo, secretary of the Strawberry Area Community Council, said directors voted Monday to seek the information from the Marin County Counsel's office and the county planning commission.

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission assigned Strawberry to Tiburon's sphere of influence last week, meaning Tiburon has the inside track over rival Mill Valley in a possible future annexation attempt.

The community council set a meeting for 8 p.m. Tuesday at the community building to review progress on the master plan, which is being prepared by committees of Strawberry residents, and also to learn more about Tiburon's master plan.

"We want to know how our plan agrees with Tiburon's and how it disagrees," said Mrs. Dorsaneo. "Then we'll try to make them alike."

She said the community council also will sponsor a police-community relations meeting May 31.

YMCA Announces A Family Camp

The Young Men's Christian Association of Marin will hold the first family camp of the summer season May 26-28 at Lake Sequoia near Kings Canyon National Park.

Activities will include fishing, boating, sailing and hiking.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Outlook Good For Nabisco

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. For a good many years I have held quite a few shares of Nabisco, Inc. (NYSE). The company appears to be doing quite well and for this reason I am unable to understand why the shares just hang around 50. Since I depend on dividends for my livelihood should I stick with this stock? — V.D.

A. As you have noted, shares of this diversified food packager tend to move in cycles between the mid-sixties and mid-forties. For this reason I would hesitate to suggest a switch now when shares are close to the low end of their cycle. Several factors suggest an upturn in trading levels despite the profit margin squeeze apparent in the March quarter. At that time earnings rose 1 per cent year-to-year on a 14 per cent climb in sales. Although price increases of 3.21 per cent have been granted, not all of this has been taken by Nabisco at this time. Furthermore, wheat and materials costs are also thought to have peaked.

It is from foreign operations that the greatest growth is expected. Expenses incurred in achieving market penetration in 19 foreign countries are now largely behind. Thus, profits from these operations are increasing more rapidly than sales. In 1969, 25 per cent of company sales and 8 per cent of earnings were derived overseas. Last year the proportions had moved to 29 per cent of sales and 17 per cent of income. For the current year some 20 per cent of earnings should come from foreign sales. Tax loss carryforwards from several subsidiaries will also be a factor in earnings gains.

Diversification in recent years into non-food areas, now accounting for 10 per cent of sales, will help offset the cyclical nature of the company's business.

Life Insurance Force Doubles

NEW YORK (UPI) — Except during the Great Depression of the 1930s, total life insurance in force has doubled about every decade since 1920, according to a research report by Hornblower & Weeks-Hemphill, Noyes, Inc.

The brokerage firm said it is estimated that total life insurance in force now is well over $1.5 trillion, compared with $42.3 billion in 1920.

Early Rally On Market Falls To Profit-Taking

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices turned mixed on the New York Stock Exchange today as an early rally gave way to some profittaking. Turnover was moderate.

Brokers said the news offered little to sustain a market rally. Consequently profit taking appeared.

International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. was the most active issue, off ¾ at 37 ¾ on 84,300 shares. Prices on the American Stock Exchange were narrowly ahead in slow trading. W. W. Grainger, Inc. led the actives, off 1 at 31 on 35,200 shares.

On the Big Board, gold stocks were sharply higher with the price of gold up in the overseas markets. American South African added 3 ⅛, Dome Mines 3, Homestake Mines 2 ¼ and Campbell Red Lake 2 ⅛.

Electronics and computer issues were mostly lower led by Texas Instruments, off 4 ⅜. IBM lost 2 ½, Control Data 1 ⅜, and Honeywell 1 ¼.

Glamor stocks were mixed. Polaroid was off 2, Schlumberger 1 ⅛. Corning Glass was up 3 ¼, and Ara Services 2 ¾.

Sewage System Three Years Away

A sewage system for downtown Point Reyes Station and a small portion of the residential area is at least three years away on the most optimistic timetable, members of the Point Reyes Planning Group were told last night.

Michael Hawley, chairman of the group's utilities and transportation committee, reported he had informed officials of the North Marin Water District that 70 per cent of the people living or owning property in the area said in recently circulated questionnaires they want sewers. Hawley said he visited with district officials to inquire about the prospect of a system.

The procedure he said, begins with an election to see if people would approve formation of a sewer district whose boundaries would be "very limited in size" because "that is all NMWD would tackle."

If the district were approved by voters and bonding capacity thus established, plans would be drawn up and another election held in which a two-thirds vote of approval would be necessary for funding. This would be followed by application for federal aid and an environmental impact report and hearings.

Hawley estimated this process would take at least two years, with another year necessary at a minimum for actual construction of the system.

"There can be no new building in downtown Point Reyes Station until we get a sewage system," said Virginia Eschenbach, zoning chairman of the group. Others at the meeting appeared to share this conclusion, but no action was taken.

Members also heard rpeorts on goals approved by committees on zoning, tourism and recreation.

General objectives of zoning, Mrs. Eschenbach said, should include preservation of the rural, semirural and small western town quality of Point Reyes Station.

Carol Friedman, tourism committee chairman, reported that her group believes a basic problem is to find a way to deal with tourism that will retain the character of the town, benefit residents and not destroy "the beauty that brought tourists here."

Restrooms may be placed at White House Pool, a popular fishing spot on Laguniats Creek near Point Reyes Station, the group learned.

The planning group had asked that public restrooms be placed on the edge of the downtown and not at the fishing hole, but its hopes appeared dashed by a letter from Pierre W. Joske, county parks and recreation director.

Restrooms are needed at streamside "for ecological as well as sanitary reasons," Joske wrote.

The county board of supervisors has the final say on installation of the restrooms.

Ten persons attended the meeting, presided over by Louis G. Steinberg.

The Pentagon Tab Defended

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon says it is not in debt but is somewhat like a college kid who has overspent his allowance.

This came out yesterday as spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim defended the Defense Department against charges by Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., that the department has illegally gone into debt $149 million.

"Someone, or perhaps several someones could go to jail over this," Aspin said this week.

"Maybe somebody should go back to school and learn how the defense budget works," Friedheim replied.

Tight Money Is Concern Of Builders

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Tight money siphoning potential construction money into other investments is the building industry's chief concern right now, a spokesman says.

"Inflation is rampant and the classic response is tight money," George C. Martin, president of the National Association of Home Builders, said Tuesday.

When yield for U.S. Treasury bills exceeds 5.5 per cent, builders begin worrying about a flow of money away from normal channels, Martin told the National Mortgage Conference here.

"In the first week of April the bill rate was 6.5 per cent, and it is still higher than anything we have seen since the money crunch of 1969-70," Martin said.

Martin said rising interest rates affect home builders in these ways:

—If mortgage interest rates increase 1 per cent, housing starts decline by 150,000 units.

—A decline in housing production causes a decrease in sales of existing homes in a 2½ or 3 to 1 ratio. That means a decline of 400,000 sales of existing homes.

—A 1 per cent interest rate increase in monthly payments removes an estimated ½ million families from the potential home buying market.

Boy Saved From Pool Drowning

A 12-year-old Petaluma boy was saved from drowning in a swimming pool at a Petaluma apartment complex yesterday at 4:30 p.m. after fast action by alert neighbors.

Leo Bertao, 1200 D Street, was reported in good condition at Hillcrest Hospital.

Police said the boy's mother, Mrs. Agostino Bertao, saw him lying unconscious at the bottom of the pool from her second floor apartment. Since Mrs. Bertao cannot speak English, she rapped loudly on her window until she got the attention of a neighbor and pointed to the pool area.

Officers said Larry Vogersen, 28, immediately dove into the pool and lifted the boy from the bottom. Another neighbor, John Hallenbarter, 24, helped pull the boy from the water and gave artificial respiration until he began breathing on his own and an ambulance crew arrived.

General Plan Questionnaires

The San Anselmo Citizens Committee on the General Plan has mailed to citizens questionnaires covering a wide variety of community issues.

The survey seeks opinions on the general plan and issues of community concern, according to Pieter Toal, committee chairman.

Toal said all questionnaires should be returned to city hall by May 25.

Bunker Honored By South Vietnam

SAIGON (UPI) — President Nguyen Van Thieu has awarded South Vietnam's highest foreign diplomatic decoration to retiring U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth C. Bunker, officials said today.

Bunker, 78, received the National Order, first class, from Thieu today at a ceremony at the presidential palace.

Plain Talk
. . . . ABOUT LUCKY-TRIM MEATS

The way meat is trimmed of excess fat and bone is more important than the price per pound. For example, the chine bone, gristle and excess fat in an ordinary Standing Rib Roast can add up to 14 per cent of its total weight... that's 14 percent of the roast you can't eat!

In plain figures, there can be as much as 70 cents worth of waste in a $5.00 roast . . . waste that Lucky demands be trimmed away BEFORE the cut of meat is weighed and wrapped. And with T-Bone Steaks, the excess fat and tough tail end of the steak can add 4 ounces of weight . . . and a proportinate amount to the price you pay for it. But again . . . NOT at Lucky. These are carefully trimmed away before you buy your steak.
